Mr. Borah Wanders Off.
5 Billions for Prosperity.
Sixty Big Airships.
Control for the Few.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SENATOR BORAH, of Idaho, says he will not attend the Republican National Convention. Senator Borah will have nothing further to do with any conference about a Republican national plank on resubmitting prohibition to the people.

Friends of the administration wonder how far from the reservation Senator Borah will wander. There might be a repetition of the Theodore Roosevelt bull-mooseing that defeated President Taft for re-election, making certain the election of Woodrow Wilson and various things that followed.

MR. MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER writes convincingly on the national prosperity loan of five billions, suggested by W. R. Hearst a year ago. That sum, distributed in wages for useful work, would do more than anything else could do to restore prosperity, in the opinion of many that understand business and economic facts.

Various suggestions have been made in imitation of Mr. Hearst's suggestion, a one billion fund, a two billion fund, etc. It is foolish to make two bites of a cherry.

SOME CRITICS say a five billion dollar fund would make it impossible to balance the budget. It would not, but if it did, what of it? The Pennsylvania Railroad does not balance its budget when it borrows fifty-five million dollars to complete the electrification of its road from New York to Philadelphia at a time when it does not earn fixed charges.

But it does better than balance its budget—it completes work in which millions have already been invested, provides labor for more than fifteen thousand men and shows courage.

THE UNITED STATES didn't balance its budget in the war when it borrowed at the rate of ten billion dollars a year and shipped one lump sum of ten thousand million dollars to Europe, never to come back.

The five billion dollar fund could easily be provided, through the machinery of the Federal Reserve Board, and would be well invested in useful production, besides stimulating prosperity and overcoming unemployment. The billions so gayly raised in war might as well have been thrown in the Atlantic Ocean. There was no talk about budget-balancing then.

BECAUSE OF private initiative and courageous investment, aviation makes progress, although our government does not experiment, as other nations do, with aviation problems, or defray their cost.

The United Aircraft Transport Corporation, which leads in American aviation, thanks to the financial courage and ability of Charles E. Mitchell and his associates, Rentschler, Deeds and Boeing, is building 60 new planes in the Seattle Boeing factory that will cost $2,000,000. Each plane will carry 10 passengers, besides the pilot, and carry 500 pounds of mail and express matter, 155 miles an hour average speed.

They will fly regularly from New York to Chicago in less than seven hours, and from ocean to ocean, with six stops, in 24 hours.

THE HOUSE of Representatives' Ways and Means Committee votes 20 to 4 against legalizing information concerning birth control. Therefore the old system will continue.

The rich, that could afford to have children, can get the birth control information from first class doctors, and will continue NOT to have many children.

The poor, that cannot afford many children, including poor women married to drunkards and morons, will be told that it is wrong to interfere with the plans of Providence. If they ask why Providence doesn't interfere with the special information for the prosperous class, they will be told:

"That is not YOUR business."

EACH DAY supplies its racketeer death. This time, parked in One Hundred and Seventeenth street, New York, one man is found dead at the wheel of a sedan car, and another shot, in the mouth, is sitting on the car's running board. Police say:

"It was a fight about leadership in the Harlem Alcohol racket."

The man shot in the mouth, named Mileto, known as "cheese cake Louie," was alive, and could still talk. He said:

"If I knew who they were, I wouldn't tell you."

WE KNOW that the power of the moon lifts the tides in big oceans, small lakes, or half-filled teacups. A deep German scientist discovers that the moon also creates "a terrestrial tide," raising the solid crust of the earth, and lowering it. Mountains, hills and valleys are all raised and lowered, and we don't even know it.

We should be grateful to our moon, for without its tides the oceans would become stagnant, and the earth, perhaps, uninhabitable.

THE SENATE says you shall pay a tax of 10 per cent on automobile tires. Your Congress, that refuses a very moderate sales tax that would not perceptibly affect merchants or buyers, proceeds to pick out certain industries for a heavy sales tax.

Taxes on your tires, on your theater tickets, a tax planned on automobiles, heavy taxes already on gasoline. A small

John Gilbert To Wed New Leading Lady

MISS VIRGINIA BRUCE

Virginia Bruce, Not Lupe Velez, to Be Bride

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—(INS.)—The reason Jack Gilbert, film star, has found it easy in pictures to make love to Virginia Bruce was explained today.

The handsome film hero and the pretty red-headed actress will be married as soon as Gilbert's divorce from Ina Claire, his second wife, becomes final, August 15.

Their engagement surprised Hollywood, as Gilbert and Lupe Velez, the fiery Mexican film actress, for several months had been reported "that way" about one another.

Miss Bruce is in her early twenties and producers have forecast for her a brilliant film career.

She is Gilbert's leading lady in "Downstairs."

Ten Commandments Not Law for I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—The opinion that the Interstate Commerce Commission has no authority to "enforce the Ten Commandments or any one of them" was advanced today by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

This contention was set forth in answering a petition filed with the commission by Noah W. Cooper, Nashville (Tenn.) attorney, who asked that railroads cease operating on Sunday.

Kline, Aides Hold Budget Conference

A conference which lasted throughout the morning was held in the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline today with virtually every department head present. It was understood that the conference was called to discuss city expenses.

N. Y. MAYOR AND PROBER IN CLASH

Crowds Cheer, Hiss Walker On Stand in Inquiry; Immunity Waiver Signed

International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Mayor James J. Walker today vigorously defended his administration to the accompaniment of cheers and hisses.

With wisecracks and biting sarcasm as his weapons, he engaged in the greatest forensic duel of his career with Samuel Seabury, brilliant chief counsel of the Hofstadter legislative committee.

It brought to a sizzling, dramatic climax an investigation which has been delving into the conduct of his office for many months and involving mysterious safety-deposit boxes, a vanished confidential aide, income taxes, bus franchises and trips to Europe.

ROOM IN BEDLAM

The hearing room, crowded to capacity, was in a bedlam as recriminations were hurled back and forth between Walker and Seabury.

Walker accused Seabury of "distorting" his questions in a manner designed to be "unfair" to the witness who was defending himself against a mass of innuendo and inferential charges Seabury has developed during the months since the inquiry has been in progress.

At one point, waving his finger in Seabury's face, the Mayor shouted:

"Remember, I am still the Mayor of the City of New York."

Seabury retorted:

"I recognize that, but you are also a witness here."

The Mayor shot back:

"That's correct, thanks to you."

Questioned about a contract he

LINDY TO AID STATE PUSH HOAX CASE

International News Service.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will actively co-operate with the New Jersey authorities in prosecuting John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., boat builder, for giving false information during the search for the Lindbergh baby kidnapers, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Hunterdon County, said today.

Tomorrow, he said, he would begin presenting the case of the confessed hoax negotiator to the grand jury and he felt confident indictments against Curtis would be returned, probably this week.

The decision vigorously to prosecute Curtis was reached at a conference late yesterday which Lindbergh, Hauck, Attorney General Stevens, of New Jersey; Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, and other officials attended.

CURTIS STAYS IN JAIL

Curtis remained in the Flemington, N. J., jail, without appearing to make any further move through counsel to be liberated by furnishing the $10,000 bail in which he was held after confessing his negotiations were a fantastic hoax.

Schwarzkopf in a bulletin revealed Curtis did not produce any of the ransom currency, nor did he ever offer Col. Lindberg any portion of the baby's sleeping garment in proof he was dealing with bonafide representatives of the abductors. He added Curtis likewise did not show Lindbergh any photographs of the baby taken by the kidnapers.

All these points directly contradicted statements made by Capt. F. C. Lachman, of the yacht Marcon.

Col. Lindbergh armed himself with a machine gun when he went with Curtis in the Marcon to search for the kidnapers on the sea, Schwarzkopf revealed.

LINK BOSTON BOOTLEGGER

BOSTON, May 25.—(INS.)—The Boston American said this afternoon:

"The theory that the $50,000 ransom payment in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping was engineered by a big Boston bootlegger, aided by rum runners in Vinyard Sound, was partly confirmed today by Dr. John F. Condon, the famous "Jafsie" of the case.

"In a telegram to the Boston Evening American, Dr. Condon declared that the kidnaper with whom he contacted and to whom he paid the money claimed to be from Boston:

"The telegram said:

"'The kidnaper claimed to be from Boston. He then stated he could not be caught because his leader was a high official. He did not state from any place.'"

DR. RYNEARSON, EDUCATOR, DIES

Dr. Edward Rynearson, 65, one of Pittsburgh's best known educators, died at 4 a. m. today in Mercy Hospital. Three weeks ago he collapsed from a heart attack in his office.

Dr. Rynearson was director of vocational guidance in the public schools. Born in Indiana, he taught in Pittsburgh from 1896 until his illness. He had been a teacher at old Central High School and Pittsburgh High School. From 1902 to 1912 he was director of Pittsburgh high schools and from 1912 to 1928 principal of Fifth Avenue High School.

Funeral services will be held Friday in the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Rynearson was a trustee of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church and a member of the Masonic order. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Rosetta Harper Rynearson, and two sons, Dr. Edward H. Rynearson, of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and Sylvester Rynearson.

The Rynearson home is at 5608 Howe street.

How Can Congress Be Rightly Guided?

National Mass Protest Urged by Mr. Colby

NEW YORK, MAY 12.

W. R. Hearst, Los Angeles Examiner:

The following article contributed by Bainbridge Colby is sent you for your consideration.

E. D. Coblentz,
Editor New York American.

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY.

WHAT can the country do about Congress?

There is a saying:

"He who has lost his fortune has lost much; he who has lost his friends has lost more, but he who has lost his energy has lost all."

Congress has lost its capacity to serve the nation's interests. Its energy—moral and patriotic—has shrivelled up. Something has paralyzed its power to do good. It is determined to consult neither the needs nor the will of the country.

And yet Congress is one of the major muscles of our constitutional organization. The nation speaks through Congress. It acts through Congress. It can look to no other agency to perform the functions which the constitution has assigned to Congress.

It is not characteristic of Americans, in times of difficulty, to whine or cry for help. We have always been a self-reliant people—trusting to our own brains and our strong arms. It is our instinct to grapple a danger and to overcome it—to bear down upon a problem and resolve it.

CONFRONTED, as we are, by the need of revenue to maintain our national credit, we naturally look to the means of action we possess, expecting to find them responsive and efficient.

Taxation being imperative and revenue indispensable, we turn to Congress, expecting that it will exercise good will and intelligence in the laying of taxes and in protecting the nation's credit.

But what do we find? A veritable bedlam—a disorderly crowd of secondary politicians, preoccupied to the exclusion of all thought of country, in their little personal fortunes. They incline ready ear to the prompting of every selfish interest in their respective neighborhoods. But they have no heed for the call of America and the large duties of the hour.

Nero fiddling while Rome burned, was neither so cynical nor so callous as the Senate and the House of Representatives playing their contemptible game of politics in utter disregard of the nation's plight and of the irretrievable damage they are doing to their country and their countrymen.

Never has a Congress been so denounced by every respectable organ of public opinion as the present Congress. From one end of the country to the other a storm of criticism is raging—a storm of angry and exasperated popular rebuke.

But it does not seem to reach the La Guardias and the Patmans and the Rankins, not to mention others, who share an evil eminence in the disgraceful melee of the present session.

It seems impossible to bring to bear upon our elected Representatives the sober judgment and good conscience of the nation. Can nothing shake them out of their daft obsession with their petty and demagogic careers?

THE THOUGHT occurs to me that a committee of outstanding citizens, representing every state in the union, and selected upon strictly non-partisan lines, might be called into being—AND QUICKLY. This committee could then call A NATIONAL MASS MEETING IN THE NAME OF AMERICA, TO BE HELD UPON THE STEPS OF THE NATION'S CAPITOL.

An opportunity would thus be afforded

Constructive Aid Called For by Mr. Hearst

Hereuith follows Mr. Hearst's reply commenting on the article by Mr. Colby:

LOS ANGELES, MAY 13.

E. D. Coblentz,
New York American:

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

I AGREE with Mr. Colby in spirit, but not in method.

I think this Congress is no worse than other Congresses, but the situation which confronts them is too extraordinary and too overwhelming for them to deal with without genuine help.

Congress is confused and alarmed—in fact, rattled, and the Senate is just as much rattled as the House. They are eager to do something, but do not know exactly what to do. Consequently they do too many things and many of them are wrong.

There is little difference in the behavior of senators and representatives, Democrats and Republicans.

THEY are all impelled by the same motives, but their motives are not necessarily demagogic. These senators and representatives are incensed at Wall Street and at the disloyal international bankers and the swindling big promoters of worthless securities; and so are the rest of the people of the country. So are our papers and ourselves.

Congress is trying to protect the people who need protection most—the plain people who have been robbed the most.

Congress is trying to penalize the plunderers.

That motive is not demagogic. It is democratic. It only becomes demagogic when the plan is made ineffective through ignorance and when injudicious acts become injurious to the whole country and to the very people whom Congress is trying to help.

Misguided efforts which burden business naturally increase unemployment and aggravate the depression.

Penalizing everybody who has a dollar, diminishing incomes, decreasing purchasing power, destroying capital, hamstringing industry simply is not the intelligent way to reach those Wall Street bankers who have taken advantage of the speculative fever on the part of the public to rob the public.

That is more than cutting off your nose to spite your face. It is cutting off your face to spite your nose.

It is injuring the whole innocent public in the hope of punishing a few guilty public plunderers.

IT is therefore not the purposes of Congress which need rectifying, but the means and methods of accomplishing their objects.

Berating Congress, denouncing Congress, indicting Congress indiscriminatingly will not do any good. Congress is like an audience in a theater which is in a panic. Aimless shouting will only increase the panic.

Congress needs calmness and confidence and the only way to give it these is through competent constructive leadership.

If Congress knew definitely what it ought to do I believe its standards are high enough and its patriotic spirit true enough to make it do these things.

Consequently the duty of those who would have Congress act soundly and constructively is not merely to denounce Congress, but to urge upon Congress forcefully and effectively a definite program which will tend to restore confidence, stimulate business and relieve unemployment.

Congress, as Mr. Colby says, is being denounced now, from one end of the country to the other. What good will it do to add more denunciations, even if it be upon the steps of the capitol.

If denunciation was all the situation needed, Congress would have been put on the right path a long time ago.

OBVIOUSLY then something more is needed, something definite, something concrete, something convincing. If we go to

NEW LEVIES HELD VITAL IN CRISIS

Eager to Call Extra Session, But Demands Assurance Of Aid for State Jobless

The effect of Gov. Pinchot's proposed cut of appropriations on institutions in the Pittsburgh district is outlined in a story on Page 14.

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today said increasing unemployment in Pennsylvania has made necessary a state relief program based on new taxes. He expressed his eagerness to call another extra session of the Legislature for this purpose as soon as a plan can be agreed to which will be supported by a majority of the legislators.

The Governor said he is willing to co-operate with anybody and everybody and announced that he will invite legislative and political leaders, including Gen. Edward Martin, state treasurer and chairman of the Republican State Committee, to confer with him next week.

PLEDGES DEMANDED

He declined to state on what day the conference would be held, adding:

"I am not only willing but eager to call another extra session of the Legislature for unemployment relief.

"But I must be assured that it will provide relief. Otherwise, to call it would be worse than useless.

"I made the mistake of calling the first extra session without securing assurance that it would produce results. I believed that nothing more was needed than a showing of the need, and that politics would play no part. It turned out that I was wrong. It would not help the unem-

SENATE GIVEN JOB AID BILL

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—A $2,300,000,000 Democratic bill for unemployment relief and revival of industry was laid today before the Senate with the approval of the combined Democratic steering and policy committees.

The bill was introduced by Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, on behalf of the five Democratic Senators who drafted it. He took issue with President Hoover's objections to a bond issue for public works, telling the Senate:

"There is no merit in the President's criticism that public works provide but transitory employment. Surely transitory employment is better than none.

"Furthermore, federal public works do not differ in that respect from local toll bridges and tunnels which are agreed to by the President."

AID DRAFTING BILL

Other members of the subcommittee that drafted it were Senators Robinson, of Arkansas; Walsh, of Montana; Pittman, of Nevada, and Bulkley, of Ohio.

Wagner said the bill offered "as conservative a program of legisla-

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 25.—(INS.)—Joe E. Brown, screen and stage comedian, successfully underwent a double operation today. His appendix was removed and at the same time a leg infection was treated. His condition was said to be favorable.

WALKER CHEERED AND HISSED ON STAND IN SEABURY PROBE

MAYOR DEFENDS RECORD IN OFFICE

signed [illegible] Equitable Bus Corporation [illegible] the Mayor, [illegible] head of J. A. Hillman & Son, the company's agent who [illegible] witness had said, before a subpoena, in order to credit the Mayor had to finance a European trip [illegible].

During the heat of [illegible] Walker charged the Seabury several years ago represented the traction interests while pointing his finger he added:

"And you haven't heard the last of that yet. There are still a couple of suits pending.

Seabury ignored the charge. Part of the crowd [illegible].

WALKER AROUSED

As questioning [illegible] the bus contract, the Mayor's [illegible] blue eyes gleamed. His features became stern. He leaned forward and biting off his words replied:

"Mr. Chairman, I don't believe your counsel or you have the right to inquire into the executive's mind or ask the executive why and upon what he made conclusions. You have no more right to ask me that question than to inquire of the Governor of this state what prompts him to make appointments."

The Mayor then paused impressively. The hearing room was very quiet. And then Walker continued:

"But notwithstanding that, let me tell you why—"

A roar of laughter intermingled with some hisses greeted this remark.

Chairman Hofstadter, a round-faced, black-haired man with glasses, stood up and pounded the table with his gavel for order.

A uniformed attendant cried out:

"Anybody who does that again goes out."

A Democratic member of the committee, Senator John J. McNaboe, took the spotlight. He shouted:

"I don't know about this. We had a lot of applause here last week. Why not a little now?"

A committee member charged then that Seabury had admitted "Reds and Communists" to the chamber.

The crowd hissed.

When Seabury commented the Mayor appeared to have "an appreciative audience." Walker announced he didn't have to attend this hearing to get an appreciative audience."

The crowd cheered.

EXPLAINS VOTE

After quiet had been restored Mayor Walker quietly gave his reason for voting for the Equitable bus franchise. He said:

"I voted for it upon the board of transportation's report to the board of estimate that it was the best independent company. It offered a five-cent fare, something that I had always advocated and also I voted that way because they would inject and break the hold of the traction companies in this city."

In some heat Walker denied he had been influenced by any member of the board of estimate. He further declared that never at any time in the past six years has he asked the board of estimate to vote with him.

Mayor Walker then started to tell Seabury he was asking him about a matter six years ago when there were probably 500 other matters up for his consideration. But Seabury interrupted him, saying:

"Never mind about that."

Walker became indignant and exclaimed:

"Don't you dismiss it this way. All you are interested in is one thing. I am interested in the people of this city."

Seabury interjected:

"Oh, I know how philanthropic you are."

The Mayor retorted:

"You bet you know, and you have cidence of that."

MAYOR FROWNS

When Seabury interrupted Mayor Walker's reply to another question, a frown swept the face of the Mayor and in an exasperated tone he inquired:

"Are you afraid of my answers?"

Seabury responded:

"Not at all. Are you afraid to answer?"

The Mayor remarked that he did not expect much courtesy from Seabury. He continued:

"But I do insist upon an opportunity."

Seabury interrupted:

"You have had every courtesy, as you know."

Senator John J. Dunnigan, minority leader of the State Senate and a member of the committee, shouted:

"You wanted the Mayor here. Now, he's here and let him talk for himself."

Chairman Hofstadter pounded his gavel.

When Seabury inferentially indicated Walker was trying to evade his questions, Walker flared up and declared:

"You don't need to worry about whether I am going to meet questions or not. I am not going to meet them in your distorted way."

The Mayor was immaculately dressed in a blue suit, blue shirt with blue collar and had a blue handkerchief showing from his breast pocket.

Walker was tendered a waiver of immunity by Seabury as he took the stand. The Mayor signed it without comment.

Seabury, in tendering the waiver, informed the Mayor that "the mere tendering of it carries no implications."

HANDS OVER PAPERS

Walker, at Seabury's request, then handed over a box of papers to his interrogator. Seabury had them marked for identification.

Seabury handed the Mayor a paper and Walker identified it as a letter which Seabury wrote to him in 1931. The letter called for the names of the banks in which the Mayor had accounts and also the names of the brokerage firms with which he had accounts.

Walker's easy nonchalance changed swiftly when Seabury began propounding his questions in a manner which annoyed Walker, who is himself a lawyer. Walker said:

"I wish counsel wouldn't testify. You are framing your questions so that the questions go into the record as answers."

CROONER ALONG

Mayor Jimmy breakfasted early at his home with Senator Hastings and Morton Downey, the crooner.

Downey's presence was not explained unless he had been called to croon the blues away. He and Mayor Jimmy are great pals and Mayor Jimmy always has time for his pals, even in political fights.

As the Mayor left his home a crowd had gathered. It was a carnival crowd. Walker looked as though he had stepped out of a clothing advertisement as he came out of the door of the exclusive Mayfair. The crowd yelled:

"Hey, there, Jimmy."

An ice man interrupting his morning deliveries bellowed:

"Give 'em hell downtown, Jimmy."

SIX GO ON TRIAL IN VOTE FRAUD

Trial of six First Warders accused of election law violations in November, started in Criminal Court today before Visiting Judge Norman T. Boose, of Somerset County.

Two others, accused of like offenses in September's primary, will face the court later.

A request for a severance, to give the six separate trials, was refused last night at a conference before Presiding Judge Elder W. Marshall.

Chief among those on trial today is Lawrence Walsh, 805 Bluff street, accused of rendering illegal voting assistance to his father, Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh.

The others are Patrolman W. A. Dillon, Judge of Elections William Richardson and Election Inspector E. J. Doyle.

The two who are to face trial later are James Harkins and Patrick Hunter.

HOOVER CALLS PUBLISHERS

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS.)—In furtherance of his program to set all groups actively at work combating unemployment and depression, President Hoover will assemble 37 eastern newspaper publishers at the White House tonight for a discussion of "community co-operation."

It was understood the executive stood ready to submit an elaborate scheme to combat hoarding of money. He and Secretary of Treasury Mills have held several sessions recently with Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, who headed the original drive to bring "scared money" out of hiding, and a plan for community continuation of the effort is believed to have resulted.

Credit Corporation Needs More Money

WASHINGTON, May 15. The Railroad Credit Corporation, through which railroads are being financially assisted with the proceeds of the freight rate increases granted early this year, announced its inability to meet the requests of the various railroads for loans.

E. G. Buckland, president of the Credit Corporation, in a plea to the Interstate Commerce Commission, urged that states which so far have not adjusted their intrastate rates to conform to the increases allowed by the commission, be required to do so.

SON OF WALSH DENIED RETRIAL

Paul Walsh, First Ward constable and son of Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, and Saul Klein, a battalion fire chief, today were refused a new trial on charges of conspiracy to issue tax receipts fraudulent prior to the September primary election.

Visiting Judge Davis W. Henderson, of Fayette County, who refused the trial, ordered the defendants to be ready to appear for sentence at the call of the district attorney's office.

Walsh and Klein were tried in February with George J. Schad, then chairman of the Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes; C. J. McBride, its secretary; Samuel J. Ramsey, a tax office clerk, and Frank Alpert, a subordinate assessor.

McBride and Schad were cleared on directed verdicts, Alpert turned state's evidence, and Ramsey, convicted, has died since.

The petition for a new trial was based upon an attack against evidence given by Alpert.

NEW SALES TAX BILL DRAFTED FOR SENATE

Rubber Interests Win Cut In Tire Levy; Another Vote on Beer Proposed

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A general manufacturers' excise tax of one and three quarters per cent as a substitute for nuisance taxes in the new revenue bill, is proposed by Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts. He estimated the annual yield at $335,000,000.

Walsh declared he will formally introduce the proposal as an amendment to the tax bill within a day or two.

Meanwhile, another fight to modify the Volstead act by legalizing 2.75 per cent beer by weight has been launched in the Senate. Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, offered the beer amendment to the tax bill last night as a substitute for excise taxes. The estimated annual beer revenues are $500,000,000. A vote is expected today.

The Senate last week defeated a 2.75 beer amendment by a vote of 61 to 24. That proposal was coupled with a $1,500,000 bond issue for public works.

Bingham declared the anti-prohibitionists will add several new votes to his amendment.

The Senate Finance Committee today reduced the proposed tax on rubber tires and tubes and voted a 10 per cent sales tax on cosmetics to the tax increase bill.

This was the fourth time the committee has revised the tax on rubber and the second time within 24 hours.

With a swarm of rubber representatives outside the committee room doors, and with the Ohio Senators, Fess and Bulkley, inside pleading their case, the committee voted to reduce the proposed 10 per cent sales tax on rubber to a tax of two and one quarter cents a pound on tires and four cents a pound on tubes.

The committee declined to make any exemptions in the cosmetic and toilet preparation tax. When this tax was previously adopted by the committee, tooth pastes, mouthwashes, dentrifices and soap were exempted.

INDIANA MOVES BONUS VETS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25.—(INS.)—Gov. Harry G. Leslie today ordered Adjt. Gen. Paul Tombaugh to move the "bonus army" in camp at Washington, Ind., to the Ohio state line at Lawrenceburg, Ind., near Cincinnati, O.

At the same time the Governor ordered that a company of the Indiana national guard be mobilized and sent to Lawrenceburg to forestall any attempt of the bonus crusaders to seize the trucks.

Gen. Tombaugh probably will go in person to Lawrenceburg to supervise the passage of the "bonus army" into Ohio.

It will cost the state of Indiana approximately $1,000 to move the "army," the Governor said. The money will come from the Governor's emergency fund. At least 24 trucks and 35 drivers will be required for the move, Gov. Leslie declared:

"It is cheaper for us to ship the 'bonus army' out of the state than to call out the National Guard and have trouble with it. Illinois dumped this army into our lap. Now we'll dump it into Ohio's lap."

tion as the severity of the present emergency will permit," and added:

"We cannot overlook the fact that, according to the Department of Labor there are in 123 cities, holding less than one-third of the nation's population, more than 700,000 families who are living on charity."

The bill proposes:

Allotment of $300,000,000 under the present capitalization of the Reconstruction Corporation for loans to states for direct relief to the jobless.

An increase of $1,500,000,000 in the capitalization of the corporation for loans for self-liquidating construction, both public and private.

A bond issue of $500,000,000 for a public works program.

GARNER BILL READY

Meanwhile in the House, Speaker Garner announced his $2,100,000,000 relief program had been drafted into legislation and would be introduced in the House tomorrow.

Republican tactics in opposing a bond issue such as has been suggested by Speaker Garner were a topic between the President and Representative Snell, the Republican leader.

While not detailing what happened, Snell returned to the Capitol upholding the administration program for relief.

More U. S. Wheat Asked for Red Cross

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP.)—An additional allotment of 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat to be distributed by the Red Cross to the needy was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Longergan (Dem.), of Connecticut.

621 DELEGATES FOR HOOVER

Associated Press.

In definitely pledged votes to be cast three weeks hence at the Republican national convention, President Hoover held today the strength needed for his renomination.

The mark—578—was passed when Texas yesterday instructed its delegation of 49 for him, bringing the assured Hoover votes to 621, and the total claimed for him, but disputed by Joseph I. France, rival candidate, to 1,044. There are only 1,154 votes in the convention.

In the Democratic fold Speaker Garner yesterday drew the 46 convention votes of his home state, Texas, to take rank as third among the presidential candidates with a total of 90. Franklin D. Roosevelt increased his strength to 474 with six from Delaware, while New Jersey's previously named 32 delegates were assigned definitely to Alfred E. Smith, for a total of 126 votes.

UTILITY HEAD UNDER QUIZ

T. B. Gregory, Pittsburgh gas and oil operator and president of the Union Heat and Light Company, spent most of this morning on the witness stand before S. Ray Shelby, of the Public Service Commission, who is hearing complaints from four boroughs against alleged excessive rates charged by the company.

The continued hearing is one of many by the commission to hear residents and officials of Grove City, Sandy Lake, Stoneboro and Volant boroughs, who have asked for a reduction in utility rates. The complaints charge that the rates are excessive and that they exceed the amount authorized by law.

Mr. Gregory testified that the rates charged netted only a fair profit on the investment.

The rate charged is 70 cents per 1,000 feet with 5-cent discount if paid within 10 days. There also is a 60-cent service charge.

Zinc Price Rallies In St. Louis Market

NEW YORK, May 25.—Prime Western zinc has been sold at 2⅞ cents per pound at East St. Louis for nearby months. This is an advance of 27½ points from yesterday afternoon and 32½ points from Tuesday forenoon. The lowest price at which zinc ever sold in the United States was 2.275c early last week.

Horses Get More Than Wife, Court Adds Alimony

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(AP.)—Chaffee Earl lost in court yesterday his argument that it was all right to spend $700 a month on two horses as compared to $125 a month alimony for his wife.

Alice Earl, the wife, sued for $5,000 a month, claiming Earl, whose father is a Los Angeles capitalist, was worth $3,500,000.

Questioned as to his expenses, the husband admitted the $700 a month horse bill. He said he thought $125 about right for his wife's alimony.

The court ended the disagreement by giving Mrs. Earl $650 a month, attorney fees of $5,000, and assessing costs of $1,500 against the husband.

SMITH SCORES HOOVER ON AID BONDS

Dire Employment Need Transcends Technicalities, New Yorker Declares Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Former Gov. Smith took sharp issue with President Hoover last night over the means by which a huge public works program should be inaugurated to provide unemployment relief.

Challenging Hoover's recent statement that a federal bond issue for such a program would unsettle the bond market, and that government money should be used at this time only for projects which will be self-supporting, Smith declared:

1. That the President's distinction between revenue producing and non-revenue producing projects is without validity.

2. That Hoover's argument for using federal credit through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation rather than a federal bond issue does not stand analysis from the point of view of unsettling the bond market.

RAPS HAIR-SPLITTING

The former Democratic presidential nominee added:

"What is more important is the main thing overlooked by the President, and that is the need of finding immediate productive employment for millions of people.

"This problem transcends all technicalities, all hair-splitting and all fine-spun theories of financing."

And after voicing his criticism of the Hoover viewpoint, as expressed in a letter to the president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Smith said:

"In any event I see no reason to quarrel with the President on this subject at this time. Why not give him sufficient latitude to progress public works, both revenue producing and non-revenue producing, federal, state and local, and also semi-public works?

"I would prefer not to see this done through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but if the President insists upon it, let him have his way. If it is to be done through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, let Congress set a maximum sum up to which the President may thereafter issue bonds, and let the President decide on the allocation for different kinds of improvements, and the officers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation take care of the details."

SEES GREATER CRISIS

Recognizing the magnitude of the problem, Smith asserted, he would give the President the means to meet it and "the responsibility which should go with it." He added:

"If we don't tackle this problem now in a big way, we shall be driven to much more drastic measures a few months from now, when the millions of unemployed will not be so patient with quibbling over words."

Smith reiterated his previous proposals that the cost of a large public works program be met by a beer tax, a sales tax or both, explaining:

"No one in his senses doubts that a reasonable beer tax over a period of a few years would take care of as much of a public works bond issue as is needed. This is also true of the general manufacturers' sales tax."

Frank Files Brief In Bowser Probe

Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank today filed a brief in support of his argument that Watson Bowser, Kittanning contractor, should be made to answer all questions concerning his truck-hauling work for the county. For refusing to answer, Bowser was held in contempt by Controller Woodside during investigation of the truck-hiring contracts.

Amsterdam to Offer Big 5 Per Cent Loan

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—A. P. Von Hemert, New York representative of the Twentsche Bank, of Amsterdam, announced today the Netherlands government will offer for subscription on June 2, an internal loan of 250,000,000 guilders carrying 5 per cent at par. Part of the proceeds will be used to refund the 150,000,000 guilder 6 per cent Kingdom of Netherland bonds, series B.

RECTOR LINKED WITH MANY GIRLS TAP DANCES IN COURT

DENIES 'FRIEND' PERFORMED IN NIGHTGOWN

Admits Kissing Her as His 'Invariable Attitude;' Says Young Women Paid Taxis

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service.

LONDON, May 25.—The Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, 60-year old clergyman on trial on charges involving a score of girls, went into a tap dance on the witness stand in consistory court today to demonstrate how one of his young friends once acted in his presence.

The girl in question was described as Mrs. Betty Beach, a dancer. The rector was questioned concerning testimony given by a prosecution witness charging that Mrs. Beach had executed "acrobatic exercises and dances" in her nightgown for the benefit of the clergyman. The Rev. Mr. Davidson declares:

"She did no such thing. She only tapped with her feet."

The rector rose from the witness chair and gave what the amused spectators agreed was a very capable exhibition of tap-dancing. He emphatically denied Mrs. Beach was wearing a nightgown at the time, but he admitted he put his arm about her shoulder and kissed her. He said:

"That's an invariable attitude of mine."

The part the dancer played in the rector's strange life was introduced into the trial by Roland Oliver, attorney for the Bishop of Norfolk, the clergyman's prosecutor.

Oliver asked Davidson about evidence obtained by agents for the Bishop of Norfolk indicating that while the rector was sending begging letters to titled people, telling them his family was starving and without coal, he was riding around in taxicabs with Barbara Harris and other girls and taking them to cafes and theaters.

Dismissing the allegations with a wave of his hand, the rector said:

"They were all business engagements. The girls paid all the bills."

COUNTY OUSTS 33 MORE

The County Commissioners swung the unemployment ax through the Department of Highways again today by removing from the payroll 33 men whose annual salaries totalled $78,880.

Among those furloughed, and their salaries, were: W. H. R. Kreiling, assistant director, $7,500; R. H. Hellick, engineer, $5,700; E. J. Gumbert (brother of the late Commissioner Addison C. Gumbert), superintendent of bridges, $4,000; Norman Abel, engineer, $5,000; W. C. Lyle, assistant engineer, $5,000.

Others furloughed included engineers, draughtsmen, inspectors, chainmen and laborers.

Blonde Tells Of Trapping Kidnap Gang

MRS. GEORGIA GECHT

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Georgia Gecht, an attractive blonde, testified in Criminal Court yesterday how she helped trap Ward Swalwell and Edward Finnen, charged with kidnaping her husband, Dr. Max Gecht, and herself. The doctor told of the kidnapers' actions up to the time when he was released to get the $2,000 ransom.

Following her husband on the stand, Mrs. Gecht said that when the gang seized her husband she insisted on going with them. She offered them all the money she had with her, but the men said "we want more than you've got."

One of the men she later identified as Gus Sanger, who confessed, brought her a meal and told her:

"You don't seem to realize what all this means. Do you know that if we get caught it means the hot seat for us?

"Most women are scared to death, but you are either awfully dumb or awfully smart."

She said Sanger told her he could use her as a "blind" on his trips hauling liquor if she were always as close-mouthed as she was then. Sanger asked, she said, if she would call a policeman if she met him on the street. Mrs. Gecht said she told Sanger she would not, because he had been kind to her and that if they met she would give him some good beer.

Sanger called her after her release and was arrested by state's attorney's police. Capture of the rest of the gang followed his confession.

PRESBYTERIANS DEBATE UNION AT 2 MEETS

Merger Major Issue at U. P. Assembly, U. S. A. Group Would Postpone Action

BEAVER, Pa., May 25.—(AP.)—Union with the Presbyterian Church of the United States is to be a major issue at the general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, opening tonight.

Leaders from all over the country are coming here to enter into the discussions. Some 500 clergymen and laymen already have arrived.

Dr. A. J. Randles, of New Castle, president of the board of administration, presided at the preconvention meeting. Dr. Robert Galbreath, president of Westminster College at New Wilmington, Pa., conducted the devotional services.

SCHEDULED SPEAKERS

The addresses were confined to evangelical and church activities. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, of the Chicago Area, Methodist Episcopal Church, will speak at three meetings. He will share the platform with Dr. J. M. McQuilkin, Dr. Hugh A. Kelsey, Dr. J. M. Blackford, Dr. L. J. Davidson, Dr. C. E. Hawthorne and the Rev. W. R. McIntyre, all prominent leaders.

Dr. James A. McDonald, of Youngstown, O., the retiring moderator, is to preside at the first meeting of the assembly, when officers will be elected.

The sessions will continue until Tuesday.

Pittsburgh is expected to make a strong bid for the 1933 assembly.

DELAY PROPOSED

DENVER, May 25.—(AP.)—Postponement until next year of action on the proposed union of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and the United Presbyterian Church of North America is recommended in a report of a joint committee to the general assembly of the former body which opens here tomorrow.

Several presbyteries have joined in overtures asking delay, or modification of the plan of union.

Efforts to abolish the general counsel of the church, a governing body of 24 members, or change its organization, will be made at the assembly. Overtures on this subject have been offered by the presbyteries of Steubenville (O.), and Philadelphia North, with several others concurring.

A proposal for the withdrawal of the Presbyterian Church from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America also will come before the assembly which will continue in session through June.

Reports of Storms Delay Pacific Flier

SEATTLE, Wash., May 25.—(AP.)—Weather reports of storms in the North Pacific have caused Nathan C. Browne, who plans to fly non-stop from here to Tokio, to decide to remain here until later today.

The New York aviator made final preparations for a take-off soon after dawn before word was received of storms in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands and west of the Kuriles Islands.

BLAST AND FIRE KILL WOMAN

Mrs. Alice Canning, 41, of 620 Hazelwood avenue, was dead today from burns suffered in a gas explosion which blew out the front wall of the house late yesterday.

Mrs. Canning, burned about the body, died in Magee Hospital six hours after the blast. She was sorting laundry on the second floor when the explosion ripped out the front wall and damaged the interior of the dwelling.

A brother and a half-brother of the victim, sitting in the rear of the house, were uninjured.

East End Police Aid Hitch-Hiking Family of Five

A family of five, hitch-hiking from San Antonio, Tex., to Akron, O., today were to resume their trek from the East End Police Station where they found food and shelter.

Clayton Yates, his wife, Della, a daughter, Hilda, 5, and two sons, Albert, 4, and John, 1, were driven to the police station by a Greenfield motorist who gave them a "lift" on the Lincoln highway near Greensburg last night. Yates said his family had been without food or shelter for two days.

Several dollars were raised for the hikers in a collection taken up by Sergt. Daniel Bradley.

EDGE TO BE HOST TO AMELIA

PARIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Ambassador Walter E. Edge today sent an invitation to Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam to be a guest at the American Embassy here when she comes to Paris from London for a few days' visit.

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—Amelia Earhart, in a radiophone conversation, asked that any costly civic demonstrations in her honor be waived and the money diverted to needy unemployed women, her husband, George Palmer Putnam, announced yesterday.

Mr. Putnam said he planned to join his wife, probably in Paris, sailing next week on the Europa and returning to New York with her on the Lafayette, due here on June 16.

Miss Earhart will go to Washington soon after her arrival, to be received at the White House and accept a congressional medal voted her, it was made known.

Company to Build Sea Airport Forms

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 25.—(AP.)—A company, to be called the Irish Transatlantic Corporation, Ltd., was being registered here today for the development of Galway as a trans-Atlantic sea and air port.

The plans called for building an airdrome there with a nominal capital of approximately $100,000, with provisions for increase later to $100,000,000.

TROLLEY PASS TO GO JUNE 26

The weekly street car pass will be discarded, probably beginning June 26, following the permission granted yesterday by the Traction Conference Board, according to Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president and general manager of the railways company.

The elimination of the pass is approved by the Traction Conference Board only as an experimental measure to determine the effect on the falling revenues of the railways company.

The pass has been a benefit chiefly to a certain group of patrons, the Conference Board reports. This discrimination should not be continued, with the railway company in financial difficulty, the Conference Board believes.

Although not mentioned in the report, it is believed that the favored class referred to are commercial interests which have been able to make large savings through the use of the weekly pass.

The letter in which the railways company asked that the pass be discontinued estimated that the street car revenues for this year will be $2,665,000 less than last year.

SEEK LIFE TERM IN KIDNAPING

WARREN, O., May 25.—(AP.)—A "John Doe" indictment charging kidnaping was ready to be served today on Tony Lauri, 37, of Youngstown, one of the three alleged abductors of 11-year-old Jimmie DeJute, of Niles.

Life imprisonment for Lauri will be asked by Prosecutor G. H. Birrell next week.

The other alleged kidnapers already are serving terms in Ohio Penitentiary. Dowell Hargraves, a life sentence, and John Demarko, one to 20 years.

Lauri was identified by Jimmie, son of a Niles contractor, yesterday, as having aided Hargraves in the abduction. He also was pointed out by Mrs. H. L. Woodward, who witnessed the kidnaping.

Lauri was arrested in Weirton, W. Va., by Trumbull County Detective H. H. Hampton after a long search.

Dance Hall Hostess, Society Youth Wed

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—The secret marriage of Robert Schermerhorn Randolph, former Yale University student and socially prominent, to Peggy Price, a dance hall hostess, on September 13 last, was revealed yesterday.

Randolph, 21, the son of Robert J. Randolph and the present Mrs. A. R. Manice, said he and his bride had been living in an upper West Side apartment. The bride's full name, the records showed, is Mayme Cornelius Price, said to come from a well-known southern family.

HOOVER TO HOLD NEW PARLEY ON DRY STAND

Party Leaders Called as Prohibitionists Prepare To Combat Plea for Poll

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—President Hoover will hold another conference soon with party leaders in continuation of efforts to arrive at an understanding between drys and anti-drys on the prohibition plank to be included in next month's convention platform.

This became known today as a high council of organized dry leaders was summoned to meet here next week to consider among other things, how to attack the problem presented by a growing list of prominent prohibitionists in both parties coming out for a change or an opportunity for the people to express themselves again on the Eighteenth Amendment.

HOOVER HOLDS PARLEY

Mr. Hoover discussed prohibition and other convenient matters for nearly three hours at the White House late yesterday with Postmaster General Brown, his preconvention campaign manager; James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican national committee, and Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman for New York.

The conferees said afterward that no decisions had been reached, but that another conference would be held, probably next week.

While Mr. Hoover is expected to remain publicly silent himself on the subject, some of his advisers are representing him as standing firm for enforcement of prohibition but as studying an expression by the party recognizing the referendum principle.

After a regular session next week by the National Prohibition Board of Strategy, the national conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth Amendment will convene to discuss the individual opinions of prominent drys that some proposal for prohibition change may be inevitable this year.

DRYS PLAN STRATEGY

The board will organize strategy for the period from now through the June conclaves in Chicago. Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the board, said today it would go to work "on the theory that both Republicans and Democrats, on sober second thought, will refuse to take a position that would drive away dry support."

Dr. Dinwiddie, who recently turned a cold shoulder to all suggestions for prohibition change shown to him by prominent Republicans, said the problem thus presented to the organized drys naturally will be considered in next week's meetings. He added:

"We recognize that individual opinions of drys of varying degrees of influence and standing may embarrass leaders coming together in groups to represent various constituencies. The individuals speak for themselves; we speak as representatives of masses of people who will insist upon enforcement planks—people who believe the parties will have to stand for enforcement."

COUNTY POLICE FORCE NAMED

Allegheny County's new police force, to begin work tomorrow, was announced today by the County Commissioners. Six members were reappointed. No chief was named. Lieuts. William J. Blackmore, John Eckard and Lawrence P. Keenan were named sergeants and the title of lieutenant dropped. The patrolmen are Guy R. Burford, Michael Cimbara, Frank E. Corwin, W. J. Fennell, Arnold M. Flanagan, Earl K. Gable, Samuel D. Hampton, Edward James, John Mutzko, Elliott McKelvey, Robert P. Lockhart, Roy V. Myers, George Thomas, Martin J. Tanner, William R. Woolrich and Walter Meir.

M. E.'S RELAX DIVORCE RULES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 25.—(AP.)—The Methodist General Conference, nearing adjournment, made its final effort today to clean up the major legislation still awaiting action on its calendar. The task appeared almost impossible of accomplishment in the four hours of the final session.

Last night's session saw the conference approve some of the most important declarations of its entire session. Outstanding were changes in the church stand on divorce and alterations in ritual.

The conference ordered a further liberalization of the church's policy by voting to recognize as valid grounds for divorce not only unfaithfulness, but also any other "vicious conditions which, through mental or physical cruelty or physical peril," invalidate the marriage vow.

The divorce changes were opposed by some delegates who declared they would be interpreted as a weakening on the part of the church in dealing with modern conditions.

Little conference opposition materialized against the ritual alterations, which include the elimination of the words "ashes to ashes, dust to dust" from the burial service, and the dropping from the marriage ceremony the phrase, "with all my worldly goods I thee endow." The ritual revision also made numerous changes in the service for the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Fifth Boy Victim Of Tree Crash Dies

HAWKESBURY, Ontario, May 25.—(AP.)—Marcel St. Amand, 15, died early today, the fifth victim of an accident five miles west of here late yesterday. His brother, Andree, 14, and three others were killed when an elm tree, felled by wind, toppled on to a truck as they sped along the highway.

U. S. Population On Decline, Says Researcher

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Prediction that the United States is approaching an era of declining population was voiced today by P. K. Whelpton, University of Chicago research expert.

Writing in the American Journal of Sociology, Dr. Whelpton said an analysis of the 1930 decennial census indicated the decline. There was a drop from 1920 in children under 5 years of age and an increase in groups of older age.

Dr. Whelpton observed that the drop was the first ever recorded in the United States and said the 1940 census would bear out his prediction.

MINERS PARLEY, TROOPS MASS

COLUMBUS, O., May 25.—(AP.)—With Ohio National Guardsmen camped nearby, striking coal miners of the Hocking and Sunday Creek valleys gathered at Jacksonville, Athens County, for a mass meeting today.

The troops, numbering 240, were sent there by Gov. White at the request of local authorities yesterday, following the stoning of two automobiles carrying workers to the Lick Run mine near Nelsonville.

Several thousand strikers were expected to attend the mass meeting called by officials of the United Mine Workers of America to consider the Governor's plans for ending the strike, which started April 1 when the miners rejected a reduced wage scale.

The operators expressed divers opinions as to the workability of the chief executive's proposals, while the miners withheld a final decision pending today's meeting.

Fliers Approve 3 Routes For Regular Sea Hop

ROME, May 25.—(AP.)—Regular airplane traffic over the North Atlantic already is possible on one route and over the South Atlantic on two, the trans-oceanic fliers of all nations, who are holding a convention here, agreed today.

They set forth their conviction in a formal resolution which declared that the best North Atlantic route was via Greenland and Iceland. The South Atlantic routes considered most favorable are from Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, to Natal, Brazil, and St. Louis, Sinegal, to Natal, with the Cape Verde Islands as a further alternative.

The fliers definitely rejected the direct route from Ireland to Newfoundland as well as the Azores and Bermuda routes. They called upon the governments to co-operate more closely in providing weather reports.

Two commissions were appointed by the conference, one to study North Atlantic flying and the other South Atlantic.

BROWNDROPPED AS CAMPAIGN HEAD CHOICE

Hoover Believed Ready to Name Rich Man to Help Raise G. O. P. 'War Chest'

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Plans of the Hoover high command a few months ago for electing Postmaster General Walter F. Brown chairman of the Republican National Committee as the successor to Senator Simeon Fess, of Ohio, have apparently undergone a last minute change and expectations are now that the White House will shortly make known a new choice for the important campaign post.

Word from an unusually authoritative quarter today had it that Brown was eliminated from the national chairmanship picture at a recent conference of Hoover leaders, who, it was asserted, have tendered the appointment to one of the leading business figures of the country not now identified with the President's official family.

LIKENED TO RASKOB

The identity of the man reported to have been tendered the post has not yet been made known, but he is said to represent a close parallel to John J. Raskob at the time he was selected Democratic national chairman by the then Democratic nominee, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, four years ago. That is to say, the prospective new Republican chairman, according to the reports, will be some one with a financial background sufficient to raise all necessary funds for conducting the coming campaign.

Plausibility is given the reported set-up by the obstacles Republicans have met so far in raising a campaign chest. It is no secret in Washington that the party organization has been hard pressed to raise sufficient funds for meeting its current headquarters obligations. Moreover, the outlook for providing a fund to cover the considerable outlays of the later campaign has not been at all bright.

SECOND CHOICE SEEN

In the event the person now agreed upon for the post does not find the task to his liking, it is understood that the President will then draft Ray Benjamin, of California, an old friend of Mr. Hoover's and now generally referred to as the "Col. House" of the Hoover administration. Benjamin was brought to Washington some months ago by the President to act as his personal representative in certain unofficial and political matters.

Pope Praises Vets At Large Audience

VATICAN CITY, May 25.—(AP.)—Pope Pius gave one of his largest audiences yesterday to 6,000 veteran grenadiers who knelt uncovered before a throne erected in the courtyard of San Damaso.

Before pronouncing his benediction, the Pope told the grenadiers their corps was famous for "discipline, valor and fidelity, three virtues to be practiced especially in these difficult times."

Notables to Assist Church Dedication

SHARON, Pa., May 25.—The Rev. Thomas Plasman, president of St. Bonaventure College, will deliver the address at the dedication of Sacred Heart Church on June 1. James J. Farrell, former head of the United States Steel Corporation, and United States Senator James J. Davis are scheduled as speakers. John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, is expected to be a guest.

Marines Lighten Recruiting Rules

Maj. Arthur Kingston, in charge of the local Marine Corps recruiting station, said today former marines may now re-enlist regardless of the length of time they have been separated from the corps. Heretofore, only those out of service less than three months were being re-enlisted.

LITERARY GROUP GIVES LUNCHEON

Dormont New Century Department Presents Usual Original and Informal Program

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Surely never were there so many different kinds of food served at one meal as were placed before the 81 members and guests of the Dormont New Century Club's literary department yesterday. They called it a covered dish luncheon, each woman bringing her favorite dish, but it was more like a feast. And nothing was wasted either, for what remained was carried home for family dinners.

These annual luncheons of the literary department have become traditional by reason of the quality of their entertainment, both gastronomic and mental, and invitations to them are eagerly sought. Those who came yesterday were not disappointed. The same delightful formality and the same originality that have characterized the luncheons of former years marked that of yesterday.

Mrs. F. E. Houghtelin presented it with the assistance of anyone who cared to make a remark from the floor. There were titles of books in charade style some of them screamingly funny; there were some original songs sung in assembly, and Mrs. Houghtelin read one or two of her own verses between book titles and visitors were introduced, including Mrs. William McGolphin, of Toronto, who sang. But the prize bits of the afternoon were two sketches, one a clever, odd and decidedly well done bit by Mrs. R. B. Perry, Mrs. Petri Abbott, Mrs. H. F. Brenholts and Mrs. Joseph Orbin.

The other was a ludicrous and most original burlesque in outlandish costumes, in which opening and closing umbrellas played an important and surprising part. This was presented by Mrs. C. S. Taylor and Mrs. C. W. Scheck and was called "Help by the Day."

Present Sketch

Mrs. G. D. Francisco, the retiring chairman, was presented with a handsome silver cake tray.

In place of its usual closing luncheon Dormont New Century will have a tea with a program on Friday, June 3. On the day previous it will be hostess to the Chartiers Women's Clubs Association. Incidentally, it is interesting to learn that the house committee has earned for the club $569 and $892.50 in rentals to outside organizations. This, with the $600 architect fee which it saved the club by using the plans of its chairman, Mrs. John H. Bricker, has made it a distinct economic force in the club's scheme of things.

Mrs. McCauley Speaks At Auxiliary Luncheon

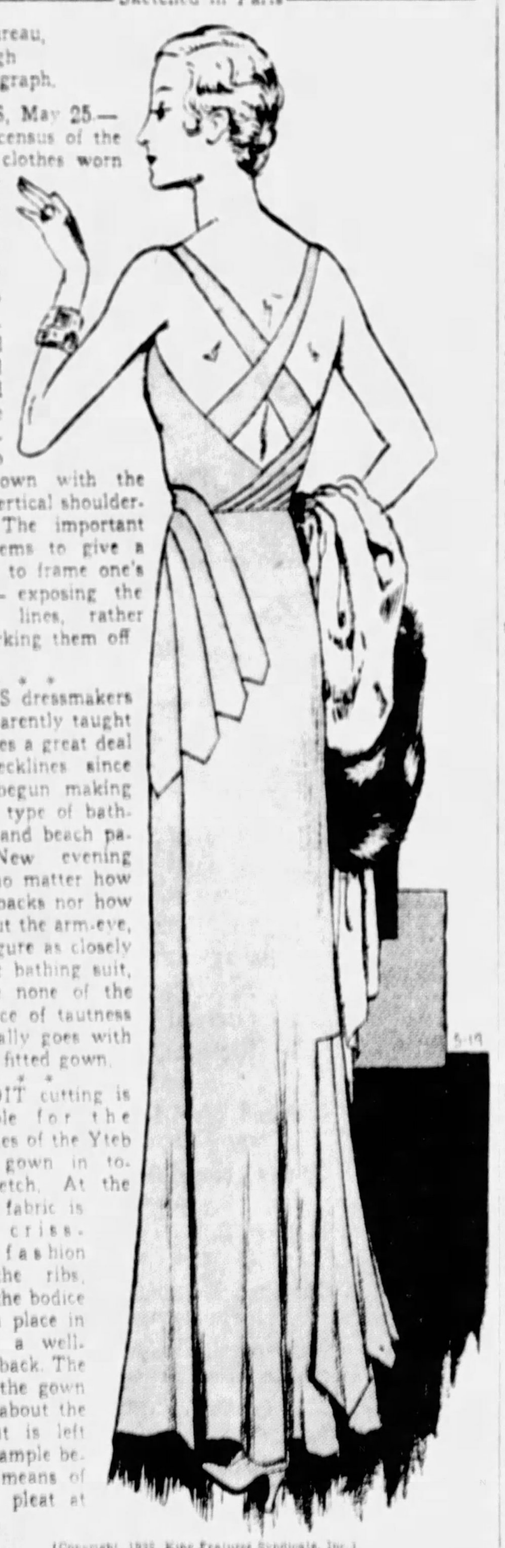
In the cutting of appropriations, if such must be done, appropriations for the care and health of children should be the last to be cut, Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, former state Secretary of Welfare, said in her address to the Allegheny County Medical Society Auxiliary yesterday. One hundred members of the organization attended the closing luncheon in the Pittsburgh Country Club, heard Mrs. McCauley's talk and a musical program by Irene De Milio, soprano; Paul Fleeger, accompanist, and Alice Conti Gray, piano.

Guests were present from Indiana, Washington, Beaver and Butler counties. During the morning session the nominating committee's ticket, headed by Mrs. Charles G. Eicher, was elected. Reports showed that the auxiliary has $2,835 out in scholarship loans to medical students at the University of Pittsburgh.

CONTINENT ADOPTS NEW STYLE FOIBLE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh
Sun-Telegraph.



PARIS, May 25.—Take a census of the evening clothes worn in any theater or night club in Paris nowadays and you'll find three harness-backs to every gown with the classic vertical shoulder-straps. The important thing seems to give a new line to frame one's back — exposing the shoulder lines, rather than marking them off severely.

* * *

PARIS dressmakers have apparently taught themselves a great deal about necklines since they've begun making the new type of bathing suit and beach pajama. New evening gowns, no matter how low the backs nor how deeply cut the arm-eye, fit the figure as closely as a knit bathing suit, yet have none of the appearance of tautness that usually goes with a tightly fitted gown.

* * *

ADROIT cutting is responsible for the smart lines of the Yteb evening gown in today's sketch. At the top, the fabric is wrapped criss-cross fashion about the ribs, holding the bodice firmly in place in spite of a well-exposed back. The skirt of the gown is tight about the hips, but is left full and ample below by means of an open pleat at one side.

BLACKMER STILL FACES ARREST

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—The difficulties Harry M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Naval oil trials, has had with the government over income taxes have been settled.

The Internal Revenue Bureau said today the Denver oil man, who has been living in Paris, had paid the government part of his deficiency tax and compromised other portions. The total was understood to be approximately $4,000,000.

Assistant Secretary Douglas of the Treasury said today, however, this payment would not relieve Blackmer of criminal charges filed against him in the Colorado Federal Court. The indictment alleges attempts to evade income taxes.

The oil man, sought as a witness for the government in the trials of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, twice refused to return from Europe to testify. He was fined $30,000 on each count and $100,000 of his Liberty Loan bonds were seized by the United States Marshal.

It was said at the Treasury that if found within the jurisdiction of the United States, Blackmer will be prosecuted under the Colorado indictment.

CUBA ON GUARD AGAINST PLOTS

HAVANA, May 25.—(AP.)—Extreme precautions were taken by government officials today to guard against reprisals by opponents of the regime of President Machado, following the killing of four political prisoners by their military guard yesterday.

It was officially explained that the four prisoners, two of whom were well known attorneys, were shot down because they were trying to get away.

But anti-Machadoists declared that the "law of flight," which provides immunity for persons involved in killings of this sort, had been used by the government as a shield whenever it was necessary to eliminate opposition leaders.

The four men had been arrested in connection with the bomb murder last week of Lieut. Diego Diaz. This crime, according to government officials, was one of a series of terroristic acts committed for political purposes by members of a revolutionary movement.

Authorities, claiming to have ferreted out a gigantic terrorist plot, increased its defensive strength arresting some 250, and rustled Col. Carlos Mendieta and Col. Carlos Penate, two of the leaders of last August's abortive revolt, together with some of their followers, to the Isle of Pines prison for safety.

HUMES DEFENDS BAR ETHICS

Maj. E. Lowry Humes, a former United States attorney, who was the speaker yesterday at the luncheon of the Maj. Baird-Atwood Post No. 285, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in an address on "The Legal Profession of the New Age," placed the blame of "ambulance-chasing" to a large extent on the shoulders of insurance companies and corporations. He said, in part:

"I hold no brief for the so-called 'ambulance-chasing,' but it is a fact well known to the members of the bar and to many laymen that the most flagrantly unethical practices are resorted to by many of the insurance companies and corporations in personal injury cases—unethical under the code prescribed by the Ten Commandments, rather than by the man-made code which these interests would apply to the members of the bar."

PRUSSIA NAMES HITLER AIDE

BERLIN, May 25.—(AP.)—Hans Kerrl, a member of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, was elected president of the Prussian Diet at a stormy session today.

The election of Herr Kerrl was in accordance with precedent, as the strongest party in the legislature ordinarily is allowed to name the president.

For about an hour before the balloting the Diet was in uproar, as numerous members interrupted the proceedings by shouting personal recriminations at other members.

Indications were that Ernst Wittmaack, president of the last Diet and a member of the Social Democratic party, would be named first vice president.

$300,000 Fire Razes W. Va. Glass Plants

WESTON, W. Va., May 25.—(AP.)—Fire, which caused loss of $300,000 and threatened for a time to explode gasoline storage tanks nearby, early today wrecked the Weston Glass Company's factory and the C. A. Borchert glass decorating plant. The flames spread to the highways and burned out all communication wires.

The Original California WHITE Swagger Coats

$16.50

Complete with Silk Scarf

Thank Los Angeles (inspired by its neighboring movie city), for starting the vogue of the Swagger Coat, which everyone is going in for, and which is causing a fashion furore everywhere. And thank Horne's Summer Shops for this opportunity to have the real, original Swagger Coat, direct from the California maker who originated the fashion.

We present them tomorrow in the Sportswear Shop, the Misses' Gadabout Coat Shop and the Junior-Misses' Section; and when you've seen their silhouettes, their shoulder lines, their collar and sleeve styles, you'll get an entirely new meaning of the word "swagger!"

White being preferred, most of the coats are in white fleeces and diagonals, some in nude and eggshell.

We All Can't be Satisfied It Isn't Human Nature

This reminds us of the fact that lots of folks are not satisfied with their present living quarters. Some want to move into new houses, some want to move into a different apartment, and still others want to eat somebody else's cooking for awhile. While these folks are thinking about moving, others are thinking of buying or selling something, trading this or that and lots of other wants too numerous to mention.

How can you reach these people? There is only one answer. Through the classified columns of The Sun-Telegraph, which takes your message into more homes than any other daily paper published in Pittsburgh.

Call Grant 5400 and ask for an ad taker. These young ladies, trained in the art of writing result-producing copy, will assist you in the preparation of your ad.

50 MEN BUILD FARM HOMES

"Coxtown" is being built. The Kittanning pike site for Father Cox's new farming community is more and more a reality every day. There are now 50 men on the ground working like beavers on the 2-room bungalows that are to house their families, and before the end of the week they will be moving in the families and starting the plowing for the gardens. For the time being, a large circus tent has been put up for the shelter of the workers and a former Pullman dining car chef is preparing the food for the workers.

Father Cox

Arrangements are being whipped into shape for the flag raising at "Coxtown" next Sunday afternoon. There will be addresses by Father Cox, Henry Ellenberger and Austin Staley, music by the "Blue Shirts" Band, the singing of the national anthem and the oath of allegience to the flag. It will be a colorful, patriotic ceremony and it is expected that the attendance will run into the thousands.

If you want to help the "father of the jobless" at a time when he most needs help, at a time when the problem of feeding thousands of hungry men, women and children is more serious than ever, clip the Sun-Telegraph home delivery order blank on this page and send it in today. You'll not only get a GOOD newspaper, but you'll have the personal satisfaction of giving your personal aid to a worthy cause. Send the subscription blank to Father Cox if you wish.

If you are living in a city or town where there is no home delivery of the Sun-Telegraph, write to the subscription department, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., for mail subscription rates and state in your letter you are interested in the Father Cox fund.

Circus to Be Pay Of Safety Patrol

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 25.—(AP.)—Two hundred and seventy unsung heroes are to be rewarded in Johnstown tomorrow.

They are members of the schoolboy patrol—an organization of youngsters who guard their school mates at dangerous street intersections.

Not one child has been injured in motor accidents during school hours since the organization was formed in October.

The reward?—they're going to the circus as the guests of Mayor Eddie McCloskey.

Deny Prince George Will Be Made Duke

LONDON, May 25.—(AP.)—It was officially denied today that Prince George, fourth son of the King, would be created Duke of Edinburgh on his thirtieth birthday, December 20, as published in the Daily Express.

OFFICER ADMITS PART IN HOLDUP

OTTAWA, Ill., May 25.—(AP.)—Assistant Chief of Police Clarence Goss, of Streator, signed a statement today in which he admitted that with Policeman George Kmetz and four other men under arrest here he had plotted the $52,000 holdup of the Union National Bank of Streator, eight days ago.

State's Attorney R. O. Hansen said Goss made the admission after extended questioning concerning the robbery, for which two men arrested in Chicago are held as actual participants and two others beside Goss and Kmetz, as co-conspirators.

Four other men, who were members of the band that held the bank's assistant cashier and his family captive in his home before compelling him to open the bank's vaults, were being sought today and the authorities sought to determine what happened to the loot. Only $1,500 has been recovered.

Formal statement of their parts in the robbery already have been made by Kmetz, Al Brown, alias Abe Kotskoff, and Abe Katzowitz, Joe Cusmano and Frank Cingrani, two in custody.

Uniontown to Ask School Head Resign

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 25.—Members of the Uniontown School Board have voted five to two to ask Dr. Milton D. Proctor, for three years head of the local schools, to resign. Dr. Procter has been in New York City for two months conducting a survey for the schools of that city.

His contract calling for $6,000 a year has a year to run but due to the move to economize he will be asked to abrogate that arrangement.

How Can Congress Be Rightly Guided?

National Mass Protest Urged by Mr. Colby

for a sober expression of the intense disappointment and disgust which the country feels in its betrayal by Congress.

Nothing destructive or destructive, nothing inflammatory or violent need be decreed. The times are not ripe for anything but responsible speech.

Perhaps IN THIS WAY there could be brought home to our trifling and unworthy Representatives some glimmering sense of the duties they owe the country.

Perhaps IN NO OTHER WAY can a sense of patriotic responsibility be awakened in the members of the present Congress.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

The power in America cannot be suffered to sleep in a period so critical as this. If once this power is stirred to display and expression, even Congress, which surveys with composure and insensibility the ruin of the country, WILL NOT HAVE THE COURAGE TO FACE ITS ANGER.

Congress it should not be to denounce the Senate and the House, but to appeal to these bodies and to submit to them a sound program supported by sound and sincere representative citizens from all walks of life and from all parts of the country.

The only reason that I can see for not proposing such a definite program is that we ourselves cannot agree on one and if we cannot agree on one, how can we blame Congress for not agreeing on one?

There is not the shadow of a doubt that if a sufficient number of representative people of this country will agree on a sound constructive program, that Congress, whose basic object is to help the people of this country, will agree on practically the same program and the situation will be solved.

There are a lot of competent and conscientious men in Congress.

Especially is the leadership in the House and the leadership in the Senate sound and constructive. The confusion in Congress has been caused by an insurgent stampede away from their party leadership.

THIS defiance of party loyalty and repudiation of proper party leadership is due to the fact that the administration has entirely discredited its leadership by employing it only in the interest of foreign nations and of international bankers and of public exploiters generally.

If the administration had done its duty to its own country and its own people its leadership would not now be repudiated by the House, by the Senate and by the public at large.

Therefore if anything is to be denounced and indicted, it should be the administration and not the Senators and Congressmen, who are earnestly, even though somewhat misguidedly, trying to do their duty to the nation they represent.

I am not in accord with any movement merely to denounce Congress. I am in favor of submitting to the calm consideration of Congress a definite program which will convince Congress and promote constructive action.

AUTO ACCIDENTS INJURE SIX

Freda Knapf, 18, of 5205 Kenneth square, Rose Korenstein, 20, of 3107 Kenneth square, and Max Steinberg, of 2209 Shady avenue, were injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another driven by Tony De..., of 3811 Bigelow boulevard, at Craft avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies. Miss Knapf was in Magee Hospital. Miss Korenstein and Steinberg, the latter the driver, were treated at the hospital and were able to go home. Dell was uninjured.

Ruth Hall, 4, of Tolwell street was in Presbyterian Hospital with lacerations and bruises suffered when she was struck by an automobile at Lang and Hamilton avenues.

Theodore Bardeour, 5, of 7346 Fleury was suffered head and body bruises when he was struck by an automobile driven, police said, by John Shields, of 7349 Kelly street, near his home. The boy was taken to West Penn Hospital.

Anna Pretel, 38, of 630 College avenue, suffered body bruises when she was struck by an automobile at Highland and Center avenues. She was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

INITIATION TOPS SHRINE REVEL

A class of 109 candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine at Syria Temple last night.

The ceremonial climaxed a day of activities by the Shriners. At noon they entertained Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Houston at the Shrine Luncheon Club. After the luncheon, working units in their colorful uniforms and to the weird music of their Oriental Band, escorted the imperial potentate and other high officials on a parade through the business section.

Syria Mosque opened its doors at 2 o'clock and from then until midnight the revellers of Shrinedom buried themselves, showing the imperial potentate how Pittsburgh "Smiles with Syria."

Witness Arrested On Perjury Charge

Frank Komorowski, 30, of New Kensington was arrested on a perjury charge at the direction of Judge William H. McNaugher yesterday immediately after he had testified in a forgery case.

Komorowski was a witness in the trial of V. J. Michalski, 5300 Butler street, previously convicted of forging a check for $183 and granted a new trial. Momorowski was alleged to have given testimony differing from his story in the first trial.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Wife's Fame Cause Husband to Feel Hurt?

Is a man's life wrecked if he becomes a "background" for his brilliant lady?

And is he then justified in leaving her and seeking laurels for himself?

Ann Harding's husband thought the answer was "yes," so, as the whole world knows, they agreed to be divorced.

And Carla wants to know how come. "Sounds crazy to me," snorts she.

Does it sound crazy to you, stranger?

Dear Miss Martin:

"What do you think of our latest movie divorce? I mean the one where Ann Harding and her husband have decided to part because he was just getting to be a 'background' for her?

"The whole thing sounds stupid and sappy to me. Why shouldn't a wife be more famous than her husband? Why should that be considered, by either of them, to destroy his place in the world?

"In the first place, why shouldn't her husband have pep enough to go out and dig up some prestige of his own? If he had any spunk at all, it seems to me that would be just what he would do. It sounds to me like just another case of one of these men getting his egotism hurt and sulking about it, instead of getting busy.

WOMEN MORE SUCCESSFUL

"But I wonder! Is that really a measure of how strong men are? And are most men like that? If they are, and it is, then I say that their so-called strength is just a big bluff. I wonder how far a man would get in business, if he sulked and refused to play ball because he was associated with someone bigger than he? I know what the other men would say about him! They'd say he was a sorehead and a prima donna.

"It is going to go hard with the big boys, I'll say, if they're going in generally for this sort of thing; because there are more and more women who are making their mark these days; and if men aren't strong enough and big enough to be teammates instead of the world show, well—let your imagination tell you the rest!

"As a matter of fact, I think it really is a scream. Just think of all the gifted women who have lived, without complaining, in the shadow of some husband who was in the limelight in a big way! They'd have been laughed off the earth if they had backed out for a reason like that!

QUESTIONS FAIRNESS

"Yet here are two people who claim they love each other. But they can't stay married because the little lady gets more public notice than the big hombre!

"Can a man who 'breaks' like that claim that he is being fair, or even intelligent, when he is so childish?

"Personally, it seems to me that a man who can't bear to have his wife have a little fame isn't such a much himself. What do you think? And I wonder what the rest of the gang thinks.

"Let's hear from some of the other women who have managed to make a place for themselves, and some of the men who are married to them? Are they all like this couple, I wonder? Or are there men who can stand it not to be the whole show?

"CARLA."

All right, folks, step right up and let's have your idea! Tell Carla what you think!

Is a man who is a regular guy going to have the heebie jeebies because his wife is famous?

Should he refuse to be a husband if he can't be the whole show?

Some Men Figure Marrying Money Is Easiest Way to Get It, Says Fay King

OLDER WOMEN MUST TOO OFTEN DEPEND UPON DISPLAY OR PRETENSE OF MEANS TO ATTRACT ADMIRERS
RICH OR POOR YOUTH CAN RELY ON ITS OWN CHARM
SO, THIS DUMP IS THE SWELL "ESTATE" YOU RAVED ABOUT, AND THIS PALTRY SAVINGS ACCOUNT IS YOUR FORTUNE, GEE!
BUT— YOU DIDN'T MARRY ME FOR THAT, DID YOU?
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Only when a girl is young with the magnetic power of youth can she be sure she is loved for herself alone.

Older women may be attractive, and may inspire real love, too, but they must be more cautious and make certain of this.

Many older women, aware that it will take more than their mellowed charms to attract suitors, use as added bait money and property they may actually have, or just pretend to have.

This is dangerous. True, it often leads to marriage, but often to heartbreak, or even tragedy.

Many men figure that marrying money is the easiest way to acquire it.

And a good actor can always be more convincing in love scenes than an earnest lover.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Paralysis Not a Disease, but a Symptom

Most persons misunderstand the word paralysis and are alarmed by it. It is really a symptom and not a disease. It is one of the signs of a large number of different conditions.

Dr. Copeland

Paralysis is a medical term describing a partial or complete loss of the working of some part of the body. Though usually applied to muscles, it may also indicate a loss of sensation, such as deafness or blindness, due to paralysis of the nerves of hearing or seeing.

The layman is familiar with the form of paralysis that is found in brain hemorrhage or "stroke." In this condition the paralysis is due to a hemorrhage, or plugging up of one or more of the blood vessels of the brain; or it may be due to a tumor, abscess, or other change in the brain.

When this disorder occurs on the right side of the brain, there is a paralysis of the left side of the body. If the hemorrhage is on the left side of the brain, the paralysis occurs on the right side of the body. This is due to the crossing of nerve fibers at the base of the brain.

When the paralysis includes half of the body, as one side of the face, arm and leg, it is called "hemiplegia." Paraplegia is a paralysis of the legs and lower trunk. "Monoplegia" is a paralysis involving only a single extremity, as an arm or leg.

Contrary to the common belief, not all cases of paralysis are hopeless. Since most cases are due to some disease or disturbance of the blood vessels of the brain, it is important that a careful examination of the heart and blood vessels be made. In this examination certain tests are made to determine the strength of the different muscles. This enables the physician to learn the location of the central disturbance, the extent of the paralysis and the treatment necessary for recovery.

In the treatment, it is important that all sources of focal infection, such as diseased tonsils, teeth or sinuses be removed. Attention should be given to the stomach and intestines and in some cases it is essential that an X-ray examination be made. Lack of elimination should be corrected by diet.

Paralysis can only be treated under the supervision of a physician. This treatment includes various methods of therapy, such as baths, the use of electricity, massage, rest when necessary, and in other cases special forms of exercise. The skin should be kept clean and active by daily baths. If the blood pressure is high, treatment must be given to reduce it.

When paralysis is neglected there is great danger, for the disease is progressive and increases in severity if proper precautions are not taken. In certain cases complete cure and recovery are made possible by the present knowledge of medical science.

Answers to Health Queries

R. F. B. Q.—What should a girl of 19, 4 feet 10½ inches tall, weight? What should a girl of 16, 5 feet 2 inches tall, weigh?

A.—They should weigh respectively 111 and 114 pounds. This would be about average for their ages and heights as determined by examination of a large number of persons.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

'Silence Is Wisdom'

Dear Miss Beeckman:

My husband's brother passed away and at the funeral I wasn't allowed to be with the family. They said I didn't belong to the family and was only an outsider in this respect. I was told to go to church and to the cemetery with friends, and to sit with friends in church. We were sisters-in-law so therefore I felt I was one of the family and should be with them. My husband's sister was with them.

Please tell me who is right, my in-laws or am I?

PERPLEXED READER.

Your point of view is absolutely right, and you should have been seated, with your husband at the funeral, and later should have been assigned a seat in the car with him to go to the cemetery services.

But (may I suggest?) I wouldn't, if I were you, make an issue of this or mention it to either your husband or your in-laws, for all the world realizes that in differences of opinion with in-laws, "silence is the better part of wisdom."

Hints for the Household

Newspapers are always a protection against moths and if you are doubtful about the carpet or rug you are laying, spread newspapers over the boards before you put the carpet down.

Nice airtight tins can now be bought, so that cakes and biscuits will keep longer, but if a crust of bread is placed in the tin it absorbs the moisture and the biscuits keep crisp longer.

If you have too much salt in the soup or vegetables, place a cloth over the top of the kettle and let it remain on the stove. The cloth will draw out much of the salt.

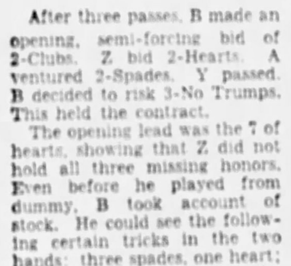
Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Game Required Careful Play

The following hand required carefully planned play to win game:



After three passes, B made an opening, semi-forcing bid of 2-Clubs. Z bid 2-Hearts. A ventured 2-Spades. Y passed. B decided to risk 3-No Trumps. This held the contract.

The opening lead was the 7 of hearts, showing that Z did not hold all three missing honors. Even before he played from dummy, B took account of stock. He could see the following certain tricks in the two hands: three spades, one heart; one club (without taking the risk of losing on a finesse to Z); four diamonds; nine tricks certain, without risking letting Z in to run off hearts.

Having made up his mind concerning the prudent method of playing the hand, dummy's lowest heart was played upon the opening lead. Y put up his Q, and B played low. Y led back his 8 of hearts, B covered with the 10, and Z's J won the trick. Z led back his 9, and B won the trick. The declarer was certain that Y could not hold another heart; Z must have held five hearts to have bid so poor a suit. All B had to watch was that he went game before letting Z have the lead. B was careful to discard A's lowest club upon the third lead of hearts. Taking a finesse in clubs was the only danger spot in the whole field.

Having gained entry, B's first lead was his Q of Spades; it held the trick, and so did the J, giving the declarer his third straight trick. To gain entry to dummy, B had to play off his diamonds. Having won two tricks with the Ace and K of that suit, B led his J, overtook with dummy's Q, and led the 10 for his seventh trick. The eighth trick was won with the Ace of Spades. Upon the seventh trick Y and B let go small clubs; Z discarded a low spade. On the Ace of spades, Y followed suit, B discarded another small club, Z let go his lowest heart, leaving him with only one heart and his guarded K of clubs.

Having counted Z's hand carefully, and knowing that even in case Z held the missing K of clubs, that Z would be able to win only two tricks if clubs were finessed up to him, B took the only possible chance of winning an extra trick by leading a low club from dummy, and finessing his own J. Z's K won the trick, but having taken his one good heart, Z had to lead back his last club, so that B went game, which he could not have done had he taken a club finesse before Z had to discard one heart.

Z played the above hand at hearts. The opening lead was the 4 of clubs. How many tricks can he win against the best play of A-B? The answer will appear tomorrow.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Snail curls are getting the center of the coiffure stage. They march around the nape of the neck or are arranged in groups of eight or ten on either side of the head. Moisten short ends, arrange in a flat ringlet, hold flat with hairpins or paper and when the hair is dry, there you are. Very elegant.

They're still varnishing finger nails with all the colors of the rainbow and the glittering metals of the earth. An exotic idea, suitable only for the sophisticated beauty who can get away with almost anything she may attempt in the way of cosmetic decoration. The average, sweet, old-shoe girl still polishes her nails in the natural shade.

There comes a time when the drugstore blonde who has wrestled with the peroxide bottle is all wrestled out. Birthdays are piling up, something has happened to the texture of the skin, and the bleached effect is a bitter disappointment. No need of bawling, no need of enduring a period of transition, when hair at the roots is dark and hair at the ends is the color of glittering gold. There are blonde dyes designed to meet this emergency. Best to consult a hair dyer who will do a test lock so the reformed peroxide addict will see what sort of a head she is going to have when the dyeing rite is finished.

CHARGES BONUS PROFITEERING

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—Henry L. Stevens, national commander of the American Legion, last night charged the government with profiteering at the expense of the World War veterans.

Expressing himself before a mass meeting of legionnaires here, the young Wilton, N. C., lawyer asserted the government should charge veterans no more than 2 per cent for bonus certificate loans.

By charging 4 per cent, and borrowing money at 2 per cent interest, the profiteering Treasury is making a gain of about 2 per cent, he explained to a veteran.

"Profiteering by the government at the expense of the veterans must stop and this period of depression is the time to stop it."

He urged that Congress pass a bill in the present session to give the veterans of all wars five years to convert their war risk insurance [illegible] sort of then lose the insurance [illegible] unable to pay the higher premium effective July 2.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Representative Hancock (Rep.) of New [illegible] has been directed by the House Ways and Means Committee to draft a bill fixing the interest charge on veterans' adjusted compensation loans at 4 per cent. The bill would be designed to [illegible] the present government interest rate of one-half per cent and prevent charges on loans to veterans which now run as high as 6 per cent.

PENNA. KNIGHTS ELECTING

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(AP)—Election and installation of officers remained as the principal feature as the Knights Templar Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania advanced toward the close of its seventy-ninth annual conclave today.

In accordance with custom the lodge's five elective officers were to be advanced to new offices. They were slated for the following posts: Maurice F. White, Norristown, grand commander; Charles D. Zimmerman, Reading, deputy grand commander; William F. Tipton, Pittsburgh, grand generalissimo; George W. Sitgreaves, Easton, grand captain general; Harry F. Fabel, Meadville, grand senior warden.

The single contest was between William O. Thompson, York, and Frank M. Haas, Sunbury, for grand junior warden.

Officers whose re-election was expected are: Boyd A. Musser, Scranton, grand treasurer; A. Howard Thomas, Philadelphia, grand recorder; John E. Cheeseman, Philadelphia; Theodore A. Motheral, Pittsburgh, and Louis G. Groh, Philadelphia, trustees.

HOUSING GROUP URGES JOBS

In addition to the pressing need for relief, emphasis should be put on constructive work that will ultimately make relief less necessary, the board of the Pittsburgh Housing Association declared at its annual meeting yesterday. Conclusions of the board were as follows:

"Increasing emphasis should be put on employment on constructive work of economic and social value. Credit facilities without a use for those facilities are of little value. What made our wartime prosperity was an insistent demand for products.

"The use for our credit facilities may be through both private enterprise and public works. Obviously a continued program on an adequate scale must be based primarily upon private enterprise. A large-scale public-works program would be of greatest value as a supplement, not as a substitute for private enterprise. A public-works program may help to put the business revival on a scale large enough to be effective."

70 Burma Rebels Sentenced to Die

RANGOON, Burma, May 25.—(AP)—Seventy rebels were sentenced to death today at Thayetmyo and 230 others were ordered deported for life. The sentences followed a drive by the government to clean up districts in which there have been political disturbances.

Police See Plot In Masontown Blast

MASONTOWN, Pa., May 25.—(AP)—An explosion and fire today destroyed the dry cleaning plant of Orlando Girard, causing $2,000 loss.

Police said a large hole found in the center of a concrete floor indicated dynamite had caused the blast. Windows in many homes were broken.

Monessen Bank Pays Dividend

MONESSEN, Pa., May 25.—Dividend checks amounting to $244,259.16, or 12½ per cent of approved claims, are being distributed today by J. S. Odland, receiver of the First National Bank and Trust Company here, closed October 12, last. The payment affects 5,905 persons having accounts at the bank.

BERNIE LAUDS WALTER-JOKE

Ben Bernie, the good old maestro of the radio, departed from Pittsburgh today after announcing a reconciliation with his enemy of the air, Walter Winchell—good old Walter. Said good old Bernie:

Ben Bernie

"Please put this in the paper. That Ben Bernie, the old maestro, thinks that Walter Winchell is the world's greatest columnist—that he is to the newspaper business what the old maestro is to music.

"Good old Walter and I have made up. No more good old spats. I just had a wire from him wishing me a happy birthday. My birthday's in December—good old December.

"I understand that his vacation is over and he is soon coming back to work. I wish him success.

"Have you got that all straight now, Mister Reporter" . . . Well, tear it up, then. I was just joking."

LINKS PLANNED GAS FAKE DRIVE TO TABLELANDS BEGINS HERE

Joseph T. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the Pennsylvania Water Company, was elected chairman of the Allegheny Tablelands Council of the Chamber of Commerce, formed yesterday to develop and carry out a program of regional planning to link Pittsburgh socially and economically with the 125,000 residents of the Tablelands area extending from Pennsylvania into Maryland and West Virginia.

Thomas M. Liggett, of the Izaak Walton League, was elected vice chairman and Harry W. Correll of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, secretary.

Four men alleged to have been implicated in selling inferior gasoline as a first-class product were held for court under $500 bail each before Squire James A. Herron in Sharpsburg last night.

They were Joseph Dean, J. M. Trusall and William O'Shell, owners of the Tire and Battery Service Company, Homestead, and Henry Weiss, manager of the Avenue Service Station, Braddock.

The arrests were made by Lieut. C. J. McCrae and Sergt. William F. Hallinan, of the state highway patrol.

Four men operating the Peoples Oil Company, Washington boulevard, charged with having furnished the stations with the gasoline, will be given hearings tonight. They are E. E. Houston, L. W. McLaughlin, E. W. Houston and E. M. Houston.

$33,000 ESTATE GIVEN U. P.'S

Organizations of the United Presbyterian Church, in which she was long a leader, receive virtually the entire $33,820 estate of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Campbell, 87, of 340 South Highland avenue, by her will filed for probate today.

The United Presbyterian Women's Association is given three houses in Perrysville avenue, in trust respectively for the U. P. Home for the Aged, Columbia Hospital and the U. P. Orphans' Home; other North Side property goes to the Women's General Missionary Society, the proceeds to be used in foreign missions.

Each member of the board of directors of the women's association and of the general missionary society receives $25, "as a remembrance from one who loved them well."

Eight hundred shares of Westinghouse Airbrake stock are bequeathed to five nephews, eight nieces and a brother-in-law, the residue going to the church organizations. The Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company and Attorney W. A. Wilson are executors.

N. C. MOB FLOGS EVANGELIST

GASTONIA, N. C., May 25.—(AP.)—The Rev. A. A. Haggard, 55, former Baptist minister here and now a free lance evangelist, reported to police today that he was kidnaped by a band of masked men last night and taken into the country and flogged.

Haggard walked into town today to make his complaint. He said he knew of no reason why he should be beaten. Police are pushing an inquiry.

The evangelist began a meeting here Sunday. He said he was taken from his rooming house shortly after the evening service last night at the Free Will Baptist Church and placed in an automobile with six men. This car was accompanied by another.

Six miles from Gastonia the party stopped, he said, and the flogging began. Haggard then was released and told to leave town.

Since leaving this section several years ago, following several disagreements with his congregation, Haggard is said to have been conducting revivals in Tennessee.

GASOLINE LEAK AT AIRPORT

A leak in the gasoline line at the Municipal Airport was added to the worries of the County Commissioners today.

Hal R. Bazley, director of the field, informed the Commissioners yesterday that the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport, Inc., recently awarded the contract as gasoline concessionaire, had found a leak between the railroad siding and the tank distribution system on the port, 3,000 feet away, which cost them 2,000 gallons of their first 10,000.

Bazley also informed them that he was withholding $4,800 of the $26,000 which the Ortale Construction Company was to be paid for the gasoline system installation until it was determined if the company was to blame. The construction company is still under bond for the satisfactory completion of the work.

Suit Against Vallee In N. Y. High Court

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS.)—A breach of contract suit against Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader and crooner, was pending today in Supreme Court.

It was brought by an orchestra corporation, which ran a night club. Vallee asserted he was automatically unable to abide by a contract because the club moved and there was no place where he could play and sing.

India Fire Destroys 1,000 Homes, Shops

PESHAWAR, India, May 25.—(AP.)—A thousand houses and shops in Charsadda were destroyed by fire today. Soldiers and firemen labored many hours before conquering the flames. In addition to the great heat they had to combat a violent dust storm which came up while the fire was in progress.

LOWEST RAILING BID REFUSED

Although the Pressed Steel Car Company was not low bidder on guard rail curbs on the West End-North Side Bridge, it won the award of the contract by the County Commissioners yesterday.

Representatives of the low bidder, the Goldberg Company, told the commissioners they had been informed by the county engineers that their substitute for the patented railing bid upon by the Pressed Steel Car Company and the Hunter Steel Company would be satisfactory.

Commissioner William D. Mansfield moved that the bids be readvertised, because the county engineers confused the bidders.

Commissioner C. M. Barr offered a motion that the contract be awarded the second highest bidder because the low bidder failed to comply with the specifications. Commissioner C. C. McGovern said:

"We've had a lot of trouble with bridge railings. I saved the county $20,000 on one of these contracts by stoping the award."

But he voted with Barr to award the contract, Mansfield opposing.

BENEFIT DRIVER CHARGES PLOT

Chester A. (Happy) Waddle, former Pittsburgh cab driver, trying for the "automobile driving endurance record," "shimmied" up to North Side police early today and said two attempts had been made to wreck his machine. One attempt was made on the South Side and the other at Galveston avenue and Reedsdale street, North Side. In both the driver drove through a red light in his effort to disable Waddle's machine.

Waddle, handcuffed to his motor, is attempting the feat for the benefit of Father Cox's relief fund. One of the stipulations is that the car must be kept in motion—hence the "shimmying" stop at the North Side Police Station. He has been driving since May 18.

'WET' FINLAND ARRESTS DROP

HELSINGFORS, May 25.—(INS.)—In the six weeks since Finland abolished prohibition, arrests for drunkenness have fallen 50 per cent, Helsingfors police announced today.

Smuggling of alcoholic liquor into the country has ceased. The Minister of Finance expects to obtain from 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 kronen additional revenue from liquor tax in the next nine months.

The almost complete disappearance of night clubs, which were extremely popular when the country was dry, is one of the phenomena accompanying the return of liquor.

Damaging Practice For Police Job Jails Amateur

Robert A. B. Kennedy, 20, of 8 Buffington avenue, Beltzhoover, an applicant for a county police job, today was serving a 10-day sentence in county jail because of the practice he took for the job at the Liberty Tubes last night.

Kennedy, according to County Patrolman Jack Eckard, began directing traffic at the south entrance of the tubes and then tried out and damaged a county motorcycle.

Eckard arrested Kennedy on a disorderly conduct charge and took him to the office of Alderman Edward Haas, of 1711 West Liberty avenue, who sentenced the would-be patrolman.

BANDIT LOOTS GAS STATION

A lone gunman early today held up Charles Silk, 60-year-old night attendant of the Gulf gasoline station at Fifth and Sixth avenues, and escaped with $3.

It was Silk's second experience with robbers in two months and the station's fifth this year. The station is within the shadow of the Allegheny County Jail.

Silk told police the robber commanded him to open the cash register. He told him:

"I believe it's locked."

Tightening his grip on his revolver, Silk said, the bandit threatened:

"Come on; open up or I'll shoot."

Silk complied.

DEDUCT TALBOT FUNDS

Ten million dollars which the last special session of the Legislature appropriated for direct unemployment relief under the Talbot act will be deducted from commitments previously made to the state-supported educational and charitable institutions.

The situation which drew loud protests today from those affected is the result of a ruling by Attorney General William A. Schnader who found that the Talbot commitments had a preferred status and that funds in the state treasury with which to pay non-preferred appropriations of $40,237,973 amounted to only $30,617,608.

According to the Constitution, he declared, the non-preferred budget therefore must be reduced 24.16 per cent. The reduction will apply to the four biennium from June 1, 1931, to May 31, 1933. It will take effect as of December 28, 1931, when the Talbot act took effect. The deductions which should have applied to portions of appropriations paid before this date will be taken out of the remainder of those appropriations.

JOBLESS INCREASE

The brunt of this curtailment will be borne by the universities and hospitals. The appropriations to be cut include $9,646,016 for welfare, education and military buildings, $3,000,000 for the new Eastern State Penitentiary, $225,000 to the Greater Pennsylvania Council and items for state-aided hospitals and colleges, mothers assistance funds and poor-homes.

Meanwhile the State Department of Labor and Industry issued its third bi-monthly report on which the Talbot payments are based. It showed 1,056,949 persons unemployed in March, 55,855 more than in January. The final payments of $2,000,000 for April and $1,000,000 for May will be allocated among the counties according to this report.

Crisis in Charitable Work Seen Here as Leaders Fight State Aid Cut

Pittsburgh hospitals receiving state aid prepared today to join a statewide battle against the slash of 24.16 per cent in state appropriations for hospitals, homes and educational and welfare institutions.

Announcement of the cut, which resulted from the emergency appropriation of $10,000,000 under the Talbot bill for relief of the destitute, came in an official statement by Attorney General William A. Schnader in Harrisburg.

Miss Jessie Turnbull, superintendent of the Magee Hospital and president-elect of the Pennsylvania Hospital Association, was to meet late today with a committee of three other hospital heads, Dr. G. Walter Zuloff of Allegheny General, M. H. Eichenlaub, West Penn, and Abraham Cseroff, Montefiore, to map out a program of action.

CRISIS HERE CITED

It was expected that the Pittsburgh delegation of welfare and unemployment experts who will confer with Gov. Pinchot in Harrisburg tomorrow would be urged to present to the Governor the crisis that impends if the reduction goes through.

An appeal to the Legislature to provide additional revenue funds that would spare the hospitals and other groups also was contemplated.

Dr. Zuloff declared that the reduction of one-fourth in the two-year appropriation of $181,200 for the Allegheny General Hospital would necessitate limiting of free service to emergency cases only, would close several free wards and otherwise cripple the institution's work. Work on the new hospital was halted last fall by lack of funds and a big deficit looms, he declared, for the current year.

PITT PAY CUTS SEEN

At the University of Pittsburgh authorities said all faculty contracts contained a 10 per cent reduction clause which undoubtedly would be made effective, and that office personnel and payroll would be affected. Three university gets $1,320,000 for the two-year period.

The Mothers' Assistance Board, which receives $585,408 with which to care for needy mothers in Allegheny County is now aiding 1,186 mothers with 600 more on the waiting list, it was said.

From Chester, Pa., came this criticism of Gov. Pinchot's order for the slash from Grover C. Talbot, father of the Talbot relief bill:

"Had Pinchot practiced economy, the money for poor relief would be easily available. When he took office there was a surplus of $35,000,000 remaining from the Fisher administration. In fact, I believe it is available despite this hospital 'smoke screen.'"

De Luxe Night Clubs Raided by N. Y. Drys

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS.)—Prohibition agents today invaded the "fashionable fifties" and raided two exclusive night clubs.

Furnishings valued at $100,000 in both places will be confiscated because the agents declared they were served drinks in each resort. One of them, a white stone building with a balcony, a fancy wrought iron grill and shrubbery is opposite the rear entrance of the John D. Rockefeller home.

VICTORY OVER STATIC SHOWN

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Radio reception virtually without interference was exhibited yesterday at the Radio Manufacturers' Association trade show.

No longer, radio engineers declared, need the radio listener be annoyed by cracking, sizzling or sputtering noises. Static is being eliminated.

On display were radios which operated smoothly, although wired to the same electric socket as were attached vacuum sweepers, electric washing machines and X-ray devices.

The improvement has been brought about, scientists said, through perfection of tubes and experiments in wiring receiving sets. But there still is room for betterment in eliminating static caused by atmospheric conditions, they said.

A movement for an organized attempt to reduce governmental expenses was started after 15,000 manufacturers attending the show heard an address by Merle Thorpe, Washington magazine editor, on government expense.

New York Attorney Kills Self in Paris

PARIS, May 25.—(INS.)—Sidney Nordlinger, New York attorney, shot himself to death in his room in a fashionable hotel here last night, police announced today.

Nordlinger arrived here with his wife recently en route to Vichy, where he intended going to cure a nervous ailment.

SUES EMPLOYER OF WIFE

P. W. Yonkers, of Duquesne, charged Frank Dorman, Duquesne music store owner, alienated the affections of his wife, Mary Yonkers, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court asking $25,000 damages.

The Yonkerses were married in February, 1928, and lived together until in 1929, the suit alleges, Dorman employed Mrs. Yonkers in his music store and began to pay attentions to her, taking her to theaters and on automobile rides. Dorman, a married man, induced Mrs. Yonkers to leave her husband and continued to associate with her, Yonkers charged.

PROBE OF PARK AIDES SECRET

The lawyers committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association has begun its investigation of allegations of "favoritism" in District Attorney Andrew T. Park's office. The probe of the charge that criminal cases had been referred to law partners or associates of aides in Park's office, was held behind closed doors and no information beyond the fact that the investigation had started was forthcoming when the inquisitors adjourned yesterday.

Similar secrecy also surrounds the activities of bar committees drawing up disbarment proceedings against several lawyers because of allegation of "ambulance chasing."

Kane Again Leader Of Dormont G. O. P.

I. F. Kane was re-elected chairman of the Dormont section of the Republican County Committee at a meeting last night in the Dormont municipal building. Mrs. Charles L. Urban was re-elected vice president and Mrs. William Neel, secretary. The only newly elected officer was Benjamin Poole, treasurer.

Germany to Fete DO-X Officers, Men

BERLIN, May 25.—(INS.)—While a full round of festive receptions was planned for the officers and crew of the DO-X today, the great flying boat remained moored on Muegge! Lake, near here, as the center of attraction for thousands of sightseers. President Von Hindenburg will receive the crew. The DO-X is to remain in Berlin for several weeks.

The great ship arrived yesterday from Southampton, England, completing one of the final laps of its trip from New York to its home port on Lake Constance, Switzerland.

BRITTEN CITES PROGRESS ON HAWAII BILL

House Naval Committee Head to Push Fight for Island Military Control

International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The right to give American military authorities supreme power in Hawaii as a part of the nation's defense scheme will be pushed by Representative Britten (Rep.), of Illinois, he said today.

Before the progress was made it headed the committee's Territories Committee yesterday Britten is marshaling additional witnesses for further presentation of the case.

Declaring he is not wedded to his own bill, which retains the civilian government but gives the army veto power, Britten said he believed legislation could be worked out to accomplish his purpose.

GIBBONS TESTIFIES

Testimony on the Hawaiian situation was given the committee yesterday by Floyd Gibbons, noted war correspondent. Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Britten said.

"I will ask further hearings if not my bill on some other. After listening to all of the testimony I am more convinced than ever there should be legislation giving broader power to the national government.

"The President might be permitted to appoint any citizen of this country to office in Hawaii, including the Governor, which is not possible under present law. The President could appoint a retired Army or Navy man or someone with military experience, a Leonard Wood or a Theodore Roosevelt."

PRATT PLEA HEEDED

Members of the committee apparently were giving deep thought to the suggestion of Admiral Pratt that the Army have the right to take over Hawaii in time of war. This was considered an alternative to general control by the military.

The proposal of Gibbons that Hawaii be treated as any other fort and subjected to military jurisdiction as well as Maj. Gen. MacArthur's indirect request for larger Army forces in the islands also were being studied by the committee.

Treasure Trove Hinted in Old Pianos

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP).—From the piano tuners' convention here comes word that is likely appropriately enough to start a general movement of hands toward the familiar instrument.

It is that a goodly sum in cold cash could be gathered if the keyboards of old instruments were searched. The tuners figure each piano in time collects about six coins. The estimate is that there are about 15,000,000 pianos of sufficient age to have the deposit.

Five Men Sentenced For Hi-Jacking 'Drys'

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP).—Five men who selected the worst possible time to hi-jack a liquor still were sentenced yesterday to two-year terms in Leavenworth Penitentiary.

The still was on a farm near Joliet, Ill., but the defendants didn't know it had been seized by federal prohibition agents on March 13. They were holding up several federal agents, believing them to be still operators, when a second detachment of agents surprised them.

MOTHER GIVEN CUSTODY OF BOY

Mrs. Grace Casablanca, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was given custody of her 3-year-old son, Richard, by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today after she had made this argument:

"Any mother can bring up a child better than a man. I want my baby."

She made a flying trip to Pittsburgh overnight after her husband, Juan, 46, at her request, had been arrested with the child in an automobile here yesterday.

The husband told Magistrate Rothenberg he couldn't live with his wife and took the child so he could bring it up "his own way." He finally consented to turn the child over to its mother and was discharged.

Phone Girls Wear Bathing Suits in English Flood

DERBY, England, May 25 (AP).—Two telephone operators wearing bathing suits sat waist-deep in water to keep the telephone service at Duffield going yesterday.

They volunteered for amphibious service because that was the only way service could be maintained since the flood waters that have spread over the Midland plain were still deep. Some other towns are completely isolated, so far as communications go.

ALTONA, Germany, May 25.—(AP).—Admiral Franz von Hipper, 68, leader of the German scouting squadron in the battle of Jutland, died today of apoplexy.

MAITS DEMANDS MILK PURITY

Owing to cases here of malta or undulant fever, sale of raw milk will not be permitted in Pittsburgh after January 1, 1933, unless it is the product of cattle certified by proper live stock sanitary officials, Director C. B. Maits, of the Department of Health, ruled today, Dr. Maits said.

"This particular type of ailment is also known as bang disease. Cattle failing to pass a negative blood test will be deemed as infected with bang disease, and no cattle so infected shall be brought into Pennsylvania except upon the written permit from the Director of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Animal Industry and subject to quarantine upon entry."

WHITEMAN SUED OVER 'PARTIES'

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(INS.)—"It must have been cider, and anyway it happened three years before I was married."

This was the comment today of Paul Whiteman, weight-reduced orchestra leader, on a suit for $403 filed against him by Robert C. Kerr, who alleged cocktail parties had damaged furniture in a home he had leased Whiteman.

Kerr alleged that Whiteman had "installed a miniature bar and alcohol and other intoxicating liquor frequently was spilled." Cigaret stubs burned holes in rugs and marred the piano. Kerr averred, asking $142 for damages to the instrument.

4 Held in Robbery; One Admits Shooting

MERCER, Pa., May 25.—Four Youngstown men confessed to state police that they robbed the Boal general store and the Pennsylvania depot at West Middlesex, and one of them admitted firing the shots which wounded Policeman James Morford, who surprised them while they were in the store, police said today.

The men, all held for Mercer County Court, are James Greco, Clifford Patton, Michael Dominick, who also confessed the shooting, and David Prosser.

Vice President Story May Be Different

By MARK SHIELDS

National political conventions usually consider the nomination of a vice president a by-product of their weighty endeavors and deliberations — and trading. All the trimming and negotiating revolves around the head of the ticket, and the second man is ordinarily chosen by worn-out delegates eager to get Home.

Mr. Shields

This year the story may be different, according to the opinion of Pennsylvania Republicans and Democrats, particularly the Democrats.

Precedent would call for the renomination of Vice President Curtis by the Republicans, though this precedent is by no means unbroken. Pennsylvania Republicans who have talked to other Republicans in the nation realize that the Vice President will be the Hoover running mate if he wishes to be, though it is no secret that some party leaders would be willing to supplant him.

So far, however, Mr. Curtis has evinced no intention of being supplanted, and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, has burgeoned forth as one of the party's leading campaigners, a function she would not perform were the skids already greased for Brother Charlie. Curtis appears the nominee, though even yet something may happen. His capacity for harm should he be shoved aside would not be great.

The diverting thing about the Democrats is the unanimity with which Pennsylvania Smith supporters and Pennsylvania Roosevelt boosters offer their assistance to make Speaker Garner, of Texas, the vice presidential candidate. The followers here of Newton D. Baker also aver a desire to have Garner as the second man on the ticket.

There is no expectation on their part that Garner would accept such a position. His post as Speaker of the House is more powerful than that of Vice President, the only lure of the latter place being the possibility that death may open the way to the White House. This possibility, however, is not attractive to men of established place in national public life, evidenced twice in 1924, when Senator Borah refused to run with Coolidge and Senator Walsh, of Montana, refused to run with John W. Davis.

* * *

Overtures to Garner Show Him Real Threat

The real revelation of the overtures to Garner is not as it touches the vice presidency, but the realization of the Democratic backers of other candidates that he is a real threat for first place. Pennsylvanians, Ohioans and West Virginians who talk frankly admit this angle of strategy.

They would achieve two purposes. First, they would eliminate a man who enters the convention with 90 delegates, and who stands to benefit as the balloting progresses and rival forces become embroiled. Second, they would bring to a man with whom Garner would run this substantial bloc of 90 votes.

Analyzed, this friendliness to Garner by both the Roosevelt and Smith adherents—the latter in Pennsylvania really for Baker—is admission that they are not as assured to the point of conviction. That is borne out by expressions from Smith supporters that they would not find it difficult to vote for Garner for the presidential nomination.

The Roosevelt people at this time make no such concession, of course, manfully maintaining that the delegate preponderance their man will have in the convention eventually will mount to two-thirds. But, so long as Smith can hold his forces, and so long as he continues as bitter toward his former friend, and so long as Garner continues in the field with his nucleus of 90, they see danger. That is why they offer a second place, though knowing it will not be accepted.

* * *

Pennsylvanians' Action Of Extreme Importance

Pennsylvania's Republican delegates will reach Chicago Monday morning, June 13. They will meet the evening of the same day to consider action on the prohibition resolution of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, the state's resolutions committee planning to have a recommendation ready by that time.

Senator David A. Reed, chairman of this committee, and Pennsylvania's member of the national resolutions committee, probably will call the state committee together Saturday or Sunday preceding the arrival of the bulk of the delegates. That will permit time for discussion of this controversial question, and also will allow consultation with leaders from other states.

The action of the Pennsylvanians is of extreme importance, due to the prediction that the attitude of the Keystoners will set the pace for the national platform. A man high in party councils in this state said last week that he believed the prohibition recommendation finally adopted by Pennsylvania would be incorporated almost bodily in the Hoover platform.

That leads to the prediction that the declaration will not go the complete length to repeal, as demanded by Mackrell. It is more likely an effort will be made to confine the pronouncement to a demand for resubmission of the question to the states, with no related suggestion that prohibition should be rescinded. Each state will be left to make up its own mind, the Republicans merely promising to open the way for such an expression.

VETS' LEADER APPEALS FOR JOB LOAN

Electrical Contractors Join Prosperity Bond Backers, M'Govern Asks Voters Aid

Unemployment today is forcing World War veterans to apply for compensation they would not seek if work was available, according to Allegheny County Commander Al Yahres, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who stressed the necessity for the proposed $5,000,000,000 federal prosperity bond issue to be used for necessary construction projects to create employment.

AID FOR MOTHERS

Mothers Assistance Fund aid is being sought because of unemployment of older children, Miss Mary J. R. Condon, director of training of the Family Welfare Association of Allegheny County, declared in a radio address today from Station WCAE. Some counties have discontinued the assistance because of inability to meet the state grant, she added. The serious condition confronting Allegheny County next winter unless federal aid is given was outlined by Miss Condon.

The importance of simultaneous creation of work throughout the nation continues to be stressed by trade groups. The Allegheny County Electrical Contractors' Association today was forwarding resolutions to local members of Congress urging fullest support for federal aid. President W. C. Hemmerle and Manager R. C. Carmack point out the loan would be a "healthy stimulant."

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern will join governmental, business and civic leaders in urging voters to write members of Congress demanding support of the proposed prosperity loan when he broadcasts at 6:30 o'clock tonight from station WCAE.

NATIONAL CRISIS

Commander Yahres, referring to the national unemployment crisis as another national emergency as serious as the war, declared in a radio address last night from the same station:

"The war was recognized as a national emergency and the financial problems were met by funds supplied through federal bond issues. What would have been said of the government in those days if it had suddenly withdrawn food and shelter from its 4,000,000 soldiers and sailors, or if it had announced that it was a local problem to be met by private donations?

"It is all too apparent to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, At our Plaza Building service bureau, requests for relief are mounting steadily; many veterans are applying for compensation, which we know they would not seek if they could find work.

MAYORS TO MEET

DETROIT, May 25.—(INS.)—Invitations today were in the mails to mayors of all cities in the country with a population of more than 100,000 to attend a national conference here June 1 on the proposed $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan. The invitations were sent by Mayor Frank Murphy, who initiated a recent meeting of Michigan mayors to discuss federal unemployment aid.

Salvation Army's Appeal Being Met

City and county employes are making a generous response to the appeal of the Salvation Army for its $112,500 fund, Col. C. B. Campbell, divisional commander said today. The drive is scheduled to close June 11.

Boy Hit by Trolley Suffers Arm Injury

KERR REVEALS STEADY DROP IN INCOME

Delinquent Tax Percentage Grows from 7.77 in 1928 To 13.48 for Last Year

A steady increase in the percentage of delinquent city taxes at the end of each year is shown by a financial report prepared by Controller James P. Kerr.

At the end of last year there remained $3,093,017 uncollected from the year's levy, or 13.48 per cent of the total. At the end of 1930, the percentage uncollected was 9.19 per cent; at the end of 1929, 8.51 per cent, and at the end of 1928 only 7.77 per cent.

SHARPER DECLINE

The declining rate of collections has been accentuated in the first four and one-half months of the present year. Although estimates of collections were reduced substantially because of the depression, the percentage of the estimate collected fell 4 per cent below the same four and one-half months last year, according to Controller Kerr.

The decrease in city revenues has been considered sufficiently important that a group of the leading civic and business organizations has been called together tomorrow afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce to consider a remedy.

FIGURE QUESTIONED

One of the organizations which will be represented, the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, has questioned the figure of 4 per cent cited by Dr. Kerr as expressing the full extent of the decline in revenues.

A report by the real estate board points out that if the final adjusted levy for 1931 is used in figuring the percentages, the reduction in current collections would be 6.84 per cent and amount to $1,411,914, instead of $825,681.

The realty men also call upon city officials for economies, declaring that expenditures in the first four months of this year have been 2 per cent higher than last year.

Jury Holds Autoist In Brother's Death

A coroner's jury today held Herman J. Von Briel, 44, of 7146 Meade street, for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his brother, Fred, 46, of the same address, in an auto accident which occurred May 17.

Jelke's Widow, 74, Dies at Chicago

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Louanna Frazier Jelke, 74, widow of John F. Jelke, Sr., founder of the oleomargarine company bearing his name, died yesterday after a month's illness.

The Circus in a Special Show: Children Only

SELLS-FLOTO CLOWN AMUSING BED-RIDDEN DOROTHY RIGHTNOOR, 13, AT INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTS 21

Twenty-one girls and boys were initiated into the Alpha chapter of the National Honor Society at Fifth Avenue High School this morning.

The society, of which Alpha is the original chapter, was organized 15 years ago. The late Dr. Edward Rynearson, for many years principal of Fifth Avenue High School, and who died today, was one of the originators. There are now 400 chapters from Hawaii to Portland, Me., with a total membership of nearly 40,000.

Eligibility requirements are scholarship, character, leadership and service. Students initiated this morning included Bernice Aronson, William Bernstein, Caesar Brusco, Celio Capelli, Gordon Codner, New Gee Lee, Rose Payne, Leonard Wish, Morris Whitman, Anna Civill, Ivory Cobb, Marian Kasden, Frances Mandel, Isadore Ruben, Frank Samolovitch, Furn Yee, Dorothy Davidson, Gertrude Frishman, Matilda Marshall, Nicholas Terlecki and Helen Kazlauskas.

CIRCUS STAGED FOR CHILDREN

The Sells Floto Circus was taken to the Industrial Home for Crippled Children, Denniston avenue, yesterday.

There were 35 clowns, acrobats, tumblers, cowboys and cowgirls. And did the children enjoy it?

The special show, which was arranged by the Sun-Telegraph lasted for two hours. Seventy-five crippled boys and girls of the home were seated on the lawn, with others lying in their beds, and had as their guests 23 children from the Salvation Army Day Nursery, 25 Fernando street. The nursery children made the trip to the institution by bus which was furnished by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company through an arrangement made by Attorney Cyrus A. Davis.

The circus atmosphere was in evidence. Each child was given a red balloon. The clown band furnished the music. The acrobats tumbled, the clowns mumbled, the jugglers juggled and the children chuckled. It was a day the children will never forget.

The circus winds up its three-day Pittsburgh engagement with performances this afternoon and tonight.

Youth Being Sought As Hit-Run Cyclist

A bicycle rider who failed to stop after running down David Bissett, 62, of 722 North Euclid avenue, in North Highland avenue, near Stanton avenue, late yesterday, was being sought by East End police today. Bissett, suffering a fractured leg, is in Pittsburgh Hospital. Witnesses told police the youth failed to stop.

Two-Bottle Dry Joins Foes of Prohibition

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Among other essential commodities overtaxed by Congress is patience.

Like the ostrich that hid from the man for five days, the boys are going to get their tail feathers sunburned.

What we need now are political nudists. Legislators who think in the open, argue in the open and vote in the open.

Prohibition right now is like Charley's Aunt. We saw that show 20 years ago and it was the best farce ever written.

But the wets are gaining ground with every caucus. We met Senator Glibb yesterday after the latest poll. He said:

"We're stepping out great. We just stole another two-bottle man away from the drys."

That's fine, senator. But it's the one-bottle prohibitionists who are the toughest.

BOYS GIVE CLUE TO BANDIT CAR

State police of the Butler barracks today are investigating the story of two 13-year-old Mifflin Township school boys, who reported seeing a machine being painted at an isolated spot while on their way to school yesterday morning.

The machine answers the description of the car in which bandits fled from New Castle Tuesday morning, when Patrolman Clarence Campbell was killed and $23,000 stolen from messengers of the Mahoning Trust Company, Mifflin police said.

Lloyd Strang, 13, and Edward Toth, 13, told Sergt. A. M. Oliver, of the Mifflin Township police, one of the men had a blackjack in his pocket. They said:

"We were on our way to the Homeville Public School, and when passing near the Hungarian Cemetery we saw two men painting a machine a dark maroon color. A blackjack was sticking out of one of the men's pocket. Two other men were sleeping in the car."

Police reported finding paddles which were used to mix paint.

Pittsburghers Win State K. of C. Posts

SCRANTON, Pa., May 25.—(AP.)—John R. P. Magill, Philadelphia, was re-elected state deputy of the Knights of Columbus at the closing business session of the thirty-fifth annual convention here yesterday. It is his fourth consecutive term.

Other officers named include Bernard Hanlon, New Castle, secretary; Edward A. McCann, Pittsburgh, state warden; delegates to supreme convention, Gus M. Gleason, Johnstown, and Alfred V. Merriman, Pittsburgh. Decision as to the scene of next year's convention was left to the ways and means committee.

CHARGE PUBLIC LABOR USED ON PRIVATE JOBS

Official Report Awaited On Gasoline Handling; Grand Jury Action Seen

Official investigation of the alleged practice of diverting county materials and labor to the construction of private roads was in the offing today.

Meanwhile the County Commissioners awaited the formal report of Main & Co., auditors, relative to the use of county gasoline by employes and others for their private cars.

The auditors already have recommended to the Commissioners that the District Attorney be given their report in the gasoline investigation as the basis for a grand jury probe.

Another audit report, that of affairs in the office of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, also was expected to be in the hands of the Commissioners this week.

At yesterday's board meeting the private roadway business was brought up by Commissioner C. C. McGovern, when $170,300 worth of materials was sought. McGovern asked L. F. Bechtel, superintendent of maintenance:

"What's to be done to keep them from stealing this material and building private roads this summer?"

Bechtel answered:

"With everybody notified, it can be stopped."

There were rumors yesterday that one individual in the road maintenance department had made a statement giving details of the extent of the practice of diverting county materials and labor to private use. Capt. C. C. Benz, chief clerk in the Department of Property and Supplies, made a similar statement Saturday to the probers concerning the gasoline business.

Hearing Scheduled On Wharf Project

A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce was to be given a hearing in City Council this afternoon on the proposed improvement of the downtown riverfronts. John Casey is chairman of the chamber's special committee on river front development. The chamber has gone on record as favoring the project.

The chamber's action, taken by its board of directors, which urged that the work be started "at the earliest date possible," was to be voiced by Charles K. Robinson, first vice president of the chamber, and member of the committee.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 25.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

The whole country, including Nicholas Murray Butler, has been knocking the Senate so much lately, till they just had a session yesterday and held a clinic over their own body. And do you know they couldn't find a thing wrong with themselves. Both parties just spent the session scratching each other's back, and us paying for the manicure. But give the devil his due — they have had their troubles. Every time they went to tax something, a voter would rise up and say "Yeah?" It's been a tough year to be a senator — it's been a tough year to be anything. Even Capone had a tough year. So what can you expect from other industries?

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

Immigrant Girl Learns English, Leads Class

Five years ago a Hungarian girl arrived in the United States unable to speak a word of English. Last night she was graduated from Wilkinsburg High School with second highest honors in her class of 271.

Born in Budapest 18 years ago, Katherine Monori came to Wilkinsburg with her mother in 1927. Her father, Emil Monori, of 321 West street, was employed as an electrical engineer at Westinghouse.

She entered the eighth grade school in Wilkinsburg, able only to speak the English words "yes" and "no." Last night she delivered a commencement address on "Law Enforcement in America."

Her reward is a four-year scholarship to Westminster College, where she hopes to study social service.

Miss Monori gives credit for her accomplishments to the American school system and the teachers who helped her master English. During the first year, she said, one of the teachers, Sarah E. Reagle, of 446 Ross street, aided her after school hours.

Another member of the graduating class to receive scholastic honors was William Schneider, 17, of 1015 Glenn avenue, who came from Germany two years ago, also unable to speak English.

GIRL SLUGGED IN STRIKE OF DYERS

Auto Damaged and Man Routed in Ellsworth Ave. Attack; Parley Sought

Five men went to the Dutch Cleaning plant of the Paulson Dyeing and Cleaning Company, at 5753 Ellsworth avenue, one of the shops being picketed by union workers on strike, at noon today, disabled a truck and struck a girl, according to Police Lieut. [illegible] Jones.

Norman Sauer, 275 Lombard street, the truck driver, was preparing to leave when the men drove up. After entering the store one of the men disabled the machine. Others who followed Singer into the shop fled when one of them struck Mollie Stewart, clerk, at 815 N. Braddock avenue, on the face, police said.

The attack was made after a meeting of striking dyers and dyers with leaders and heads of cleaning and dyeing establishments was suggested today as the means of adjusting conditions in the industry.

The Wholesale Cleaners and Dyers Association and the Allegheny County Cleaners and Dyers Association, a rival group, represented at a meeting last night, called for a discussion of the strike, which was a surprise to most of the company officials according to M. A. Marcus, spokesman for the group.

Marcus said the union asked only six of the 65 firms in the county to sign their wage proposals and recognize the union and that only eight hours notice of the strike was given.

FIRE ROUTS MAN IN BARBER CHAIR

Ten men hurriedly left the barber shop and pool room in the front of a one-story building at 400 McCartney street, West End, today when fire broke out in the garage and confectionery store at the rear.

Gus Paul, of 9 McKnight street, was forced to vacate a chair with the lather on his face.

Firemen said the blaze started in a small truck, damaging it and another. Damage was estimated at $300.

Pulling Wrong Tooth Brings $1 Verdict

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—If a dentist yanks the wrong tooth, what's it worth to the patient? Mrs. Vera Annunziata estimated the figure at $10,000, but a jury in Judge Marcus Kavanaugh's court yesterday said that $1 would be enough. Dr. Joseph Pfister was the defendant.

Blood Poison Kills Man Cut by Wire

Joseph Mocvan, 60, died of blood poisoning today in St. John's Hospital, according to the morgue report. A laborer for the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mocvan was working in the Woods Run yards a week ago when his hand was cut on a rusty wire.

NURSES ATTEND SIX CLINICS

The third day of the Pennsylvania League of Nursing Education Institute began this morning with clinics at six city hospitals. Visiting nurses from many sections of the state attended lectures and demonstrations on orthopedic nursing at the Children's Hospital, on nursing care of post-operative thorocotomy at Presbyterian Hospital, venous therapy at the Mercy, the principals and practice at West Penn, orthopedics at Allegheny General and on dietetics at the Homeopathic hospitals. A luncheon at Heinz plant and dinner at Treesdale Farms completed today's program.

After a busy day at various hospital clinics and lectures, the nurses were entertained at tea on the lawn of Magee Hospital yesterday.

WINS DIVORCE FROM NURSE

Christine L. Bosau, a trained nurse, now in Hollywood, Cal., after a year of married life, developed a weakness for drinking parties and late hours, Robert G. Bosau, shoe store owner, of 207 Shiloh street, testified in Common Pleas Court. Judge Harry Rowand granted him a divorce for indignities. They were married in August, 1912, and parted in 1927.

Royal Neighbors Convention Ended

A two-day convention of the Royal Neighbors of America closed in the Fort Pitt Hotel last night. Guests of honor at the sessions were Supreme Oracle Mary Arnholt, of Illinois, and State Deputy Chamberlain, of Ridgway. The delegates paraded yesterday.

TAX OFFICIAL UNDER FIRE

That H. C. Workmaster, member of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, used the "color of his office" for political purposes was charged yesterday with discovery of letter heads of the board which were used to promote the candidacy of an aspirant to Republican chairmanship of Mt. Lebanon.

The letter, said to be one of many was written on county stationery and mailed through the postage meter in the county postoffice. Workmaster was Commissioner C. M. Barr's campaign chairman.

George E. Meyers, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, today said he knew nothing of any such letters being sent out. The board had nothing to do with it, he said.

Workmaster was not in his office today and was reported ill.

PAYMENTS WAIT LEGAL STUDY

An interpretation of the difference between a resolution and an ordinance is being prepared by the city law department at the request of a councilmanic committee.

Controller James P. Kerr, owing to a ruling of Judge Thomas D. Finletter at the trial of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Bertram L. Succop at Butler on misdemeanor charges, has refused to countersign warrants authorizing payment of city purchases by resolution. Judge Finletter held the authorization should be by ordinance.

Controller Kerr said yesterday he would sign warrants authorized by resolution provided they were advertised the same as an ordinance. Councilman W. Y. English asked for a legal opinion and also on the use of the automatic check signing machine.

COUNTY TO CURB SIGN POSTING NUISANCE

'Ads' for Physicians Bring Action by Commissioners; Campaign Names to Go

Hereafter when there are any signs to be posted on bridges, tunnels or other county property the Commissioners must be notified before the bill posters or sign painters do their work.

This ruling was made at the Commissioners' meeting yesterday after Director of Highways F. J. Chester explained the posting of a notice specifying 33 doctors and 10 hospitals that employes injured in the discharge of their duties must call.

The notice read:

"Important Notice: The following doctors or hospitals must be used in all compensation cases, first aid to be given by the nearest doctor, further treatment to be given by doctors nearest to where injured lives."

Chester, in a letter, explained that Harry Leving, chief investigator under Leo Riordan, head of the Investigations and Claims Department, had sent the list of doctors and hospitals furnished by the Standard Accident Company to division heads for posting.

Commissioner C. M. Barr, after this matter was disposed of, offered a resolution that all signs painted on county property during the recent political campaign be removed by Chester's department. Barr said:

"The county is smeared from one end to the other with painted names."

Commissioner C. C. McGovern suggested:

"Why not notify the people whose names are on county property to remove them."

But Barr's resolution was adopted.

Coroner to Probe 8-Year-Old Shooting

A gunshot wound in the spine, inflicted eight and a half years ago, was given as a contributory cause in the death of Calvin Thompson, 23, of Floreffe, Jefferson Township, in the coroner's report. Thompson's assailant served a sentence for the shooting, the coroner was informed.

An investigation of the circumstances will be made by Chief Deputy Coroner John S. Aldisert.

Park Concession Bids Considered

Bids for the privilege of selling hot dogs and cold drinks in the county parks were being tabulated today by the County Controller. The applicants offered to give the county from 10 to 35 per cent of their earnings.

The highest bid was by J. P. Kaercher, former alderman of the Seventeenth Ward, who offered 35 per cent to the county. W. S. Prosser and Theodore Partridge offered only a 10 per cent commission.

De Mille Becomes Grandfather of Boy

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—(AP.)—Cecil B. De Mille is a grandfather today. An eight-pound son was born yesterday to the noted motion picture director's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edgar Calvin.

GAS FAILS, GIRL POWDERS NOSE

Hazel Beck, 21, powdered her nose and inquired:

"Can't a person commit suicide if she wants to."

Police were waiting to take her to Presbyterian Hospital today, after she had been found in her room at 905 Arch street, suffering from gas. Another roomer wanting a cigaret, had gone to Miss Beck's room and found her. Police who were summoned said three gas jets had been opened.

Police insisted the young woman go to the hospital for observation and lodged a charge of disorderly conduct against her at North Side Police Station.

Miss Beck told police she was out of work and had no relatives to aid her.

SIMPLE WAY ALL ENGLAND FOLLOWS TO GROW THIN

Spreading Like Wildfire Here

Recently Brought to This Country from England It Enables the Average Fat Person to Lose 6 or 7 More Pounds Weekly Without Starvation or One Extra Step of Exercise

It seems that the British have found a way to rip off excess fat that's the dream of every too-fat person. That is, to rip it off without starving, without tiring exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen discovered there, the average fat person loses as much as six to ten pounds weekly, yet suffers no pangs of hunger, no aching muscles, no weakness or depression. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it, that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it, so if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink and Grow Thin, Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and tone the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast: Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water to which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people: accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals: Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantity of lean meats and ADD a double-supply of green vegetables...spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat of these the better. They're super-nourishing vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and supper. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

That's all you do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week...usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds, and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salt tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and thus fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

Dated Bread

FARM BOY TWIN LOAF SLICED

YOUR GUARANTEE OF FRESHNESS

Dated Bread is here.

Your grocer now has Farm Boy Twin Loaf, fresh from the Hankey Farm Bakeries, with a dated certificate of freshness sealed around the wrapper of each loaf.

Each morning, before dawn, a large fleet of trucks deliver thousands of loaves of Farm Boy Twin Bread, fresh from the ovens, to 4,000 grocers in the Pittsburgh district.

Farm Boy Twin Bread is never permitted to become stale on your grocer's counters. Printed on the certificate of freshness is the date on which the bread must be withdrawn from sale. Early each morning Hankey salesmen deliver fresh supplies to grocers and take back the bread that is stamped for withdrawal that day.

What becomes of Hankey's stale bread? The largest amount is given to Charity. The balance is used on our own farm as food for our flocks of thoroughbred white leghorns, who supply fresh eggs for our bakeries, assuring you that not a loaf will ever get back to your neighborhood grocer for sale as fresh.

Large scale, machine production makes it possible to sell this big double Farm Boy Twin Loaf, for ten cents. It is rich in double milk from our own herd of pedigreed Ayreshire cows. It is untouched by hands all through the baking and packing processes and comes to you with the flavor and freshness sealed in by waxed wrappers.

The loaf is so much bigger than others that it is baked in twin loaves, each just the right size for serving at the table or for making sandwiches.

For your convenience Farm Boy Twin Loaf is SLICED.

CODE BELIEVED USED IN NOTES TO WANDLESS

Police Hunt Added Motive In Alleged Blackmailing Of Accused B.-L. Man

The motive which for 10 years forced Howard E. Wandless, secretary of the Modern Building and Loan Association, to send large sums of money to C. C. Donkin, of New York, is being sought by authorities.

Wandless' bail has been raised to $35,000 at the request of the officers of the building and loan association. Donkin is in the county jail in default of $35,000 bail on charges of conspiracy to defraud and extortion.

The first explanation that Donkin blackmailed Wandless after learning of some of his transactions, is not satisfactory to authorities, who are looking for a deeper reason.

The extent of the loss to the building and loan association may be larger than at first suspected, according to George F. Taylor, Jr., deputy state secretary of banking. A shortage of $90,000 has been uncovered. It will be a week before the audit is completed.

Some of the threatening letters and telegrams alleged to have been sent by Donkin to Wandless lead authorities to believe a code was used. In several instances washing machines and "springs" were mentioned, evidently referring to some patented device.

An attempt to connect others with the payment of money to Donkin has not yet been successful.

MUSIC

Aiello Trio

Y. M. & W. H. A.

Program:
Trio Elegiaque, Op. 9 ..... Rachmaninoff
Trio D Minor, Op. 49 ..... Mendelssohn
Trio G Minor, Op. 3 ... Chausson

The Young Men and Women's Musical Society wound up its season last night with a concert of the Aiello Trio, Rose Aiello, violin, Evelina Palmieri, piano, and Alyce Martin, 'cello a very talented ensemble.

Mr. Lissfelt

The program was dull until the bright music of Chausson cheered the atmosphere. Rachmaninoff's Trio is an excellent example of how a genius can sometimes slumber. His music here is overladen with a somber tone of unrelieved grief, and his sorrow is never quite as convincing as when his great fellow countryman, Tschaikowsky, wrote the same moods into his music.

The patterns were trivial, although the workmanship is skillful. But inspiration is lacking and these players had not yet found their richest tone to cover over the frailties of the composer.

During the Mendelssohn the pianist especially recovered her vigor and outlined her phrases more distinctly to the benefit of the trio. Chausson's early chamber music shows almost none of the modern tendencies, is brimful of ideas and fluent writing, so that it gives players scope for all their abilities. It was again true last night for here the Aiello Trio was at its best.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Retired N. Y. Banker Suicide in Bathtub

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—Edward S. Steinam, 67, retired banker, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the left chest as he lay in a bathtub of his large Park avenue apartment. Police were told that he had been in ill health.

Steinam for more than 30 years held an important confidential position with the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Canal Route Awaits Allegheny Hearing

OIL CITY, Pa., May 25.—Decision of the Rivers and Harbors Division of United States Army Engineers regarding selection of a route for the proposed canal from the Ohio River to Lake Erie will be withheld until residents of the upper Allegheny River and French Creek route are ready to ask for a hearing, according to word from Washington today.

4 Reserve Officers Here Promoted

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP.)—The following Pittsburgh applicants have accepted promotion in the Reserve Officers' Corps: S. C. Farrarr, captain, quartermasters' corps; Landon Fuller, first lieutenant, infantry; J. F. Galbraith, Wilkinsburg, first lieutenant, field artillery; Harry Larson, captain, engineers.

Autoists Held Lax At Rail Crossings

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 25.—Twenty-six percent of motorists are careless in approaching and driving over grade crossings, New York Central officials indicated today, following a check on one Liberty street crossing. In a given period, 1,986 used reasonable care and 698 apparently paid no attention to the warning sign.

GOLF PERMITS DELAY SCORED

County Commissioner William D. Mansfield is still trying to simplify the procedure for obtaining golf permits in the county parks.

Although it had been decided that a duplicate of the tax assessment affidavit would be sufficient, Special Counsel Mortimer B. Lesher questioned legality of the plan, before the Commissioners yesterday. Mansfield said:

"It should not take 15 days to investigate a 48-cent tax receipt. Because the assessor missed a man he should not have to wait 15 days to get something he is entitled to. Some people have to make two trips in from away out in the county for something that they should get right away."

So the other two Commissioners appointed Mansfield a committee with power to make a final legal arrangement that will not delay issuance of golf permits. Many applications are waiting for assessment and issuance of tax receipts.

Hotel Must Pay For Lost Baggage

CHERBOURG.—(INS.)—Tourists need no longer worry about their baggage here. If it is lost on the way from the ship to the hotel the hotelkeeper is responsible and must pay for it.

The precedent was established by a local court decision awarding 500 francs ($20) damages to two tourists whose bags were left aboard the Majestic.

Texas Baby Boy Born In Racing Ambulance

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS.)—Should Baby Christie ever become president, he cannot point with pride to his birthplace—it won't be there. Baby Christie made his debut in the world in an ambulance, traveling about 50 miles an hour across a viaduct that spans Trinity River.

31 DEPORTEES LEAVE CITY

Thirty-one aliens were placed aboard a train last night at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station and today will be delivered to immigration authorities at Ellis Island, New York, to await deportation to their native countries. They were conducted east by inspectors under W. H. Marshall, director of immigration in the Pittsburgh district.

Five of the party are voluntary deportees who asked to be returned to their native countries because they were unable to make a living here. Among the latter was Jose Espinoza, 27, a Mexican, who took with him his 4-year-old American-born child. His wife and two other children will join him later.

Six of the deportees are Arabians, who deserted steamships at American ports and worked in steel mills in this district until apprehended by immigration officials because of illegal entries.

Among the others are four being returned to Italy, 13 to Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, and three to Mexico.

Suit Holds Death Of Saxton Accident

The death of Clarence L. Saxton, of the William Penn Hotel, a real estate operator, January 24, 1931, was caused by an overdose of morphine administered under the direction and supervision of his attending physician, and constituted an accidental death under an insurance policy in force at the time, it is claimed in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court by the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, executor of the estate of Eleanor S. Saxton, deceased widow, and by Kathleen Saxton Montague, of Abington, Montgomery County, daughter of Saxton.

The suit claimed $45,000 insurance from the Union Indemnity Company, declaring payment had been refused by the company.

Choir Music, Grace Hayes On WCAE; Dry Repeal Plea Made by Beck

Presenting one of a series of concerts preliminary to a choral festival featuring choirs of 50 churches of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio at the Pitt Stadium Sunday, June 5, the Homestead Combined Church Choir, directed by Dr. Walter Jones, is heard on WCAE tonight at 6:15. More than 1,000 voices will be heard during the festival June 5 with Dr. Finley Williamson, organizer and director of the famous Westminster Choir, of Ohio, as guest conductor.

Dr. Robert [illegible], former pastor of the Brighton Presbyterian Church and at the present time president of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., speaks on "Youth's Problems for Today" during a program from KDKA today at 4:45. Dr. Galbreath, an alumnus of Westminster, is the eighth president of the institution since it was founded 80 years ago. He assumed office in February and will be formally inaugurated next October.

Dr. Galbreath

Speaking in favor of the repeal of prohibition, Congressman James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, gives the fourth of a series of talks on the subject, "Prohibition Plainly Put," over WJAS today at 5:45.

New Singin' Sam knows that the way of the Good Samaritan is hard. Recently a sentimental mother asked him to dedicate a certain song to her baby girl. He gladly acceded to the request, and at the conclusion of the program was called to the telephone. It was the child's irate grandmother complaining that Sam had mispronounced the baby's name.

Lanny Ross was a Shakespearean actor at the age of 6. He was called on the stage by his father in "As You Like It," and nightly ate the apple which Jacques dropped.

As soon as the Gloom Chasers returned to New York, Stoopnagle retired to his laboratory to take up work on his amazing inventions. He emerged from research long enough for a broadcast during which he announced the perfection of a cellophane handkerchief.

Program Pointers

That popular comedy pair, George Burns and Gracie Allen, and Guy Lombardo and his orchestra go on the air under a new schedule beginning tonight and will be heard weekly hereafter on Wednesday nights at 9 over WJAS. The program, which originates tonight in Buffalo, where the caravan is appearing in vaudeville, has been a Monday night feature for two years. Subsequent broadcasts will be presented from Detroit, Indianapolis and St. Louis. The Girls' Glee Club of the East Pike Run Township School presents a program of popular and semi-classical songs from KDKA today at 5:05.

Miss Allen

"Should Opposites Marry?" is the topic of a discussion between Dr. Grace Adams, well-known psychologist, and Charles B. Driscoll, author of "Doubloons" and "Treasure Aboard," on WCAE at 5:45.

Grace Hayes, musical comedy and motion picture star, makes her second appearance as guest artist with Victor Young's orchestra on WCAE at 9.

Ida Bailey Allen, lecturer and writer, and president of the National Home Makers' Club, is interviewed by Grantland Rice on WCAE at 10.

Lloyd Huntley and his Isle o Blues Orchestra present half-hour programs of dance music on WWSW at 8:30 and at 11.

Presenting an all-Anglo-Saxon program tonight—a departure from her usual custom of giving recitals of compositions in foreign tongues—Mme. Koshetz, Russian operatic and concert star, is heard on WCAE at 10:30.

Cost Her $4.25 To Reduce 65 Pounds

"Worth It," Miss Bates Says.

"It requires strong and fat-proof will to say 'no' when one knows that Miss Bates of Beech Creek has to say about Kruschen Salts: 'I am now age 22 and, knowing how to lose fat the SAFE way:

"I took one bottle of kruschen salts a month for five months. It amounted to $4.25 and I reduced 65 lbs. but it was worth it. Imagine, just 22 years old and weighing what I did. I could not enjoy myself as other girls did. I could not get the clothes I wanted. I think it is wonderful the results Kruschen Salts give."

To lose fat the safe, sane way—take one half teaspoonful of kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—eat less fatty meals, potatoes and sweets—a jar that costs but a small sum lasts 4 weeks. Get it at any drug store in the world—but be sure for your health's sake to ask for and get kruschen salts, the little daily dose that does it.

Seals' Sports Frolic On WCAE

Attorney Ben B. Giffen, chairman of the Department of Pennsylvania Committee of the American Legion, and Dr. William D. McClelland, state boxing commissioner, are guest speakers on WCAE tonight at 6:50 during the Trained Seals broadcast. Mr. Giffen speaks on the Legion's annual National Junior Baseball Tournament, and Dr. McClelland is interviewed by Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph.

Mark Shields, political editor of the Sun-Telegraph, reviews and comments on the political situation throughout the country during his weekly talk on WCAE tonight at 6.

An unusual and interesting program for the kiddies is presented during the Sun-Telegraph Family broadcast from the studios of WCAE today at 4:45.

The latest flashes on the news of the world are given four times daily by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of The Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News. He is on the air at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

Headliners on the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11 are the harmonizing Lawson Sisters and Paul Gannon, tenor, featured with David Levin's orchestra. Herb McGee is master of ceremonies.

Madelon gives a delightful and entertaining chat of interest to women during her "Reflections of Madelon's Mirror" broadcast on WCAE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

ENDS STOMACH PAIN NEW WAY

"Your wonderful medicine, ACIDINE, has helped me very much. I used to get pains in my stomach about one hour after eating. After trying several other remedies none of which helped me, I tried ACIDINE and it gave me prompt relief," says Oscar Kratz, Arlington.

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Make your next meal enjoyable. Acidine ends stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

SHADOWLAND -:- Gossip About Those Who Dwell In Photoplay Capital -:- AMUSEMENTS

Ayres May Do Columnist Role

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.

Left with a columnist story and no columnist to play it (Winchell turned it down), Universal probably will draft Lew Ayres to take over the starring role.

This young actor who, not so long ago was a banjo player in a local orchestra, is now the hub of his company's production plans. Before they pick any actor to play the lead in a major picture they first examine the part to see if Lew can play it. Half a dozen stories are waiting for him now.

Lew Ayres

The present case comes under the head of an emergency. Felix Young and William Anthony McGuire have finished the first draft of the script and Universal is eager to get the story to the screen before the other companies. RKO with "Is My Face Red" and Warner's with "Blessed Event," can skim the box-office cream.

Even so, with both the Laemmles away, it may be the end of June before the picture can go into production. In this case Lew Ayres probably will make several weeks of personal appearances in the East.

Universal's present intent is to call the columnist story "Okay U. S. A."

Helen Twelvetrees adds another instance to the fabled quick-wittedness of Gene Fowler.

It seems Gene was called to look at one of Helen's pictures in the projection room and wasn't aware that she was sitting up there in the darkness ahead of him.

Presently he exclaimed:

"If I had my way, she wouldn't wear those bangs in that scene!"

Amused, Helen turned and hissed:

"You rat!"

For a second, Fowler was stopped, then he flipped right back.

"And you needn't say mister."

AND SO TO GOSSIP

The long-legged bird is due in a few months at the home of Sue Carol and Nick Stuart. . . . Rod La Rocque calls to confirm that Vilma Banky will be leaving for Budapest in about 10 days. Every two years she visits her parents. Rod expects to join her over there, and the two of them will be away for six weeks. . . . Sol Lesser (Principal Productions) is negotiating with Corey Ford to write the African adventure satire in which Roscoe Ates will appear. The producer has taken an option on 500,000 feet of wild animal stuff. . . . That well-known early bird sees George O'Brien and Marguerite Churchill taking long horseback rides together these mornings. . . . And a yawning night-clubber reports the birthday party James Dunn gave to Maureen O'Sullivan was quite a jamboree. . . .

Over at Levy's Tavern, they were discussing the starring possibilities of a certain unpopular actor.

"If you ask me," cracked Murray Roth, "He's got as much chance as a pickpocket in a nudists' colony."

CLARA, CRACK SHOT

Visitors to Clara Bow's ranch insist that the famous red-head can hit a dime with a rifle bullet. . . . If you know a 10-year-old Jewish boy with pop-eyes and a nervous manner, get in touch with Eddie Cantor. He's got a part in "The Kid From Spain" for the right youngster. . . . The people you least suspect harbor a proficiency at card tricks. May Robson is one. . . . After many months of absence from the screen, Jack Gilbert is scheduled to start work on "Downstairs."

Some wag reports they are starting shoulder-to-the-wheel exercises at a certain studio.

Before he left for the East, Carl Laemmle, Jr. assigned Slim Summerville to repeat the part of Tjaden in "The Road Back." This character (the soldier who was homesick for the farm) was one of the few who escaped death in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

There is still no definite choice of a director for the Remarque sequel. R. C. Sheriff, whom Universal brought over from England to do the adaptation, is now in Santa Barbara completing the script.

Court

Anita Page comes to the Sheridan Square screen Saturday in "Night Court."

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

The Players Club of New York is preparing to present Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" the week of June 6, and rehearsals are now being held by a cast that is crowded with stars. Edith Barrett, granddaughter of Lawrence Barrett, will play the role of Cressida. Others in leading roles will be Otis Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coburn, Jerome Lawlor, Eugene Powers, Elliot Cabot and George Gaul. Besides the players of secondary parts, there will be Augustin Duncan to deliver the prologue. Only the Players Club can command such casts, which would be too expensive, and probably too temperamental, for regular production.

* * *

"Bridal Wise," a new play that was directed by Frank Craven, playwright and actor, has established itself as a hit in Philadelphia and will move into New York in time for Memorial Day business. It is the new Madge Kennedy starring vehicle and the cast includes James Rennie and Blythe Daly.

* * *

George Sharp is understood to be negotiating for a lease of the Pitt for another season of stock production. If present plans are carried out, the project will be operative for an opening on Labor Day.

* * *

Beginning Friday, June 17, the Penn and Stanley Theaters will present screen attractions only, dropping the stage shows. The change is announced as a summer policy only, but it may be made permanent if it proves satisfactory to patrons, many of whom prefer their pictures straight, with no admixture of vaudeville.

* * *

Another change in local theaters that will be in effect shortly is one that will give Warner Brothers control of the Sheridan Square, which has been an RKO house for several years.

* * *

Johnny Weissmuller will do three more Tarzan stories for the screen under the banner of M-G-M. . . . The full title of that Douglas Fairbanks picture, partly filmed at Papeete, Tahiti, is "Robinson Crusoe in the South Seas." . . . Fatty Arbuckle may return to the screen in a series of two-reel comedies, the kind of film that first made him popular with the fans.

Hearst News Features Amelia

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Highlights in the career of Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic and first person to fly twice across the ocean, are contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. The pictures show her in characteristic close-ups and also show her reception in Southampton on the completion of her first trans-oceanic hop four years ago. She is also shown in London getting her first glimpse of the city, and there are many scenes depicting her amazing career. A diagramatic map shows the course of her latest flight and illustrates how she broke all records for time with a graphic description of her great achievement by the Globe Trotter. The current Hearst Metrotone News is on the screen of the Penn, Fulton and other theaters.

DOUMER FUNERAL

Impressive pictures show the funeral cortege of France's martyred President, Paul Doumer. More than 2,000,000 persons crowd the streets to pay their last respects to their beloved executive. Behind the hearse walks the King of Belgium, the Prince of Wales and other foreign dignitaries from foreign lands, as well as most of the famous personages of France. There are also intimate views of the new President, Albert Lebrun, his wife, son and daughter and grandchildren.

A most thrilling picture shows how King Carol of Rumania narrowly escapes serious consequences when, while reviewing his troops on Independence Day in Bucharest, his horse became frightened by the noise made by military airplanes and tried to bolt. Disdaining any help from his guards, the King managed to quiet his mount. Through it all the young Crown Prince Michael, now 11 years old and for three years King himself, sits quietly on his charger, confident that his father is able to take care of himself.

Spectacular pictures from Akron, O., show an army of workmen laying the first covering over the framework of the mighty new dirigible Macon, sister ship of the Akron, which is rapidly approaching completion. These pictures are followed by others of the Akron at San Francisco where for the first time the world's biggest airship ties up to the mooring mast of the Patoka.

MOTORCYCLE CLIMB

Members of the Chicago Motorcycle Club are shown trying to negotiate a terrifically steep hill during their annual meet at Cary, Ill.

Herr Hagstotz, of Munich, is shown with the new craft he invented which he calls the H2 boat because of its two pontoons with a supporting strip between them made to present the letter. The inventor claims it will ride any rapids, and to prove it he gives a demonstration on the River Isar.

For the second time in two years the historic city of Lyons, France, is visited by a landslide that smashes two apartment houses, killing 21 persons. To prevent further landslides, artillerymen fire shells into the weakened embankment, releasing other thousands of tons of earth.

BITS OF LIFE — All in a Day — By MARK HELLINGER

SOME OF the most amusing gags in show business are those that are based on the conceit of the average actor. There isn't a chorus boy in a musical who doesn't think he's better than the leading juvenile; there isn't a chorus girl who isn't certain that she could outshine the leading lady if given half a chance. And there are very few stars—comedians especially—who will give their rival stars credit for much ability.

Come to think of it, I suppose I'm stretching a point when I confine those remarks to the theatrical business. I guess it's the same the world over, regardless of the trade. I never met a doctor who raved about a rival and I never shook hands with a columnist who wasn't secretly certain that he was far in advance of the field. Yes, my friends, Supply your own business and I imagine the answer will be the same.

Exactly why I went into that second paragraph, I can't tell you. I must have had an idea in the back of my dome or I wouldn't have gone into the lead in the first place. What was it? Oh, yes. The conceit of the actor. I remember now.

In last year's Follies there was a minor comedian who was earning $100 a week. The star comedian of that show was drawing $3,000 a week. And as I stood in the wings one night and watched the star go through his routine, the minor comic stepped beside me.

"Tell me, Mr. Hellinger," he asked. "What has that man got?"

I looked at him in surprise.

"Plenty," I assured him. "Don't you hear the audience howl? What do you mean—what has he got?"

He semed a trifle nervous.

"Well," he replied, "it's a little hard to explain. You see, I make them laugh, too. But he gets $3,000 a week and I get only $100."

I smiled.

"Well, I observed brilliantly, "that's the way the world goes. After all, maybe he's a little better than you are."

He clapped his hands.

"That's just it," he cried excitedly. "I know he's better. But is he thirty times better?"

There are thousands of stories along similar lines, but the one I like best concerns Feodor Chaliapin, the famous Russian opera star. Feodor was giving a concert in Brussels, Belgium, some years back. And shortly before the artist was scheduled to go on, the King of Belgium entered the theater.

The national anthem was played by the orchestra and the crowd stood up respectively. There was one bird, however, who refused to get to his feet. He later proved to be a Socialist minister, but that didn't matter at the moment. There was an outburst of excitement that lasted for several minutes.

In order to quiet the disturbance Chaliapin was brought upon the stage at once. The moment he commenced to sing the noise died out. He offered several selections and was received with hearty and genuine applause.

As soon as he stepped from the stage and retired to his dressing room, the excitement broke out anew. The entire audience was on its feet, stamping and hurling verbal abuse in the direction of the disrespectful Socialist.

Hearing the noise in his dressing room, Chaliapin slipped on a robe and ran to the wings. The minutes went on and on and still the crowd kept howling. Then Chaliapin turned to his manager.

"That," he exclaimed proudly, "is the most splendid reception I ever received!" . . .

A REPORTER on a morning sheet, reports L. D., was assigned by his managing editor to a special investigation feature. The title of the feature was to be, "Is Liquor Being Sold on the American Side of the Canadian Border?" Seems a little silly, but there it was.

After being away for eight days, the reporter walked unsteadily into the managing editor's office. He was unshaven, bleary-eyed and beautifully plastered.

"Well," cried the editor, "what's the answer to the feature you set out to get?"

The reporter swayed and winked at his editor.

"Yes," was his abrupt retort. And he toppled over . . .

SPEAKING of newspaper offices and such reminds me that plenty of the office boys around the paper joints these days are much too clever to be office boys. Most of them are college youths who are studying their lessons whenever you want them. One kid is already in his third year of medicine. I sent him out for an Evening Journal the other day and he came back with a bottle of aspirin. It's a great system.

As an example of their shrewdness, however, you may be interested in an episode that came to pass in our office the night before last. A hard-boiled reporter looked up from his typewriter and howled for a boy.

"Here, boy," he screeched sourly, "go out and grab me some Chesterfields."

"Cigarets, sir?" inquired the collegiate youth politely.

"Certainly, you sap," growled the reporter. "Even a dope like you should know there's nothing else by the name of Chesterfield."

"You're slightly wrong sir," murmured the office boy as he moved discreetly away. "There was once a gentleman by that name who knew something about manners!"

"DEAR MARK," writes Frank Burgess, of Omaha, Neb. "I don't know whether you've heard about this pathetic case, but—if you haven't—I'd like to bring it to your attention. It's rather fantastic, but you do go in for that type of stuff, don't you?

"A young fellow who lived out this way was injured in an accident and rushed to the hospital pronto. When he came to he asked what had happened to him.

"The nurse was very cold-blooded about it.

"'Nothing much,' she told him. 'All they did was to remove your brain.'

"The young man leaped from the bed.

"'What!' he shrieked. 'Did you say that my brain is gone?'

"The nurse nodded. And then, before she could stop him, the chap grabbed his hat and coat and dashed from the hospital.

"For seven long years they were unable to locate him. They searched here, there and everywhere. His family hired private detectives to find him and the police of the nation began a long-winded search for the man without a brain. And in the beginning of the eighth year, they found him in New York.

"And, Mark, what do you suppose that poor fellow was doing? You'll never guess it, so I'll tell you. He was teaching in a school for columnists!" . . .

Lowe, Cummings Team In Four Films

Columbia's "Attorney for the Defense" is the fourth production in which Edmund Lowe and Irving Cummings have been teamed together as star and director. The first was "Dressed to Kill." Then Cummings directed him "In Old Arizona," followed by "Cisco Kid."

"That's My Boy" Rights Are Purchased

Rights to "That's My Boy," football novel by Francis Wallace, sportswriter, novelist and short story writer, has been acquired by Columbia Pictures for early filming.

White Popular Color In Hollywood

It looks like a white summer in Hollywood among the younger set with all the picture ingenues blossoming out in all-white costumes. Anita Page, ingenue lead in Marie Dressler's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture "Prosperity," starting the fashion by appearing in a white sports coat with matching accessories. Virginia Bruce, the leading lady in John Gilbert's latest picture "Downstairs," and Maureen O'Sullivan are two others who have adopted this summer shade.

Anna May Wong Signs For New Picture

Anna May Wong, the outstanding Chinese actress in America, has been signed by Columbia Pictures for one of the leading feminine roles, that of the Chinese girl in "The Bitter Tea of General Yen."

Alice Day to Play In "Two-Fisted Law"

Alice Day, one of the more popular picture ingenues, returns to the screen after an absence of several months to play the feminine lead in Columbia's next Tim McCoy feature, "Two Fisted Law."

Colleen Moore Signs For Pictures

Colleen Moore has been placed under contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and will return to pictures after an absence of more than two years in a vehicle not yet announced. Miss Moore, whose outstanding pictures include "Orchids and Ermine," "Lilac Time" and "Smiling Irish Eyes," has been appearing on the stage in "A Church Mouse." Her work in this west coast production of an earlier Broadway success resulted in the present contract.

Father Cox To Present Minstrel Show

The Rev. James R. Cox will present a minstrel revue in the Nixon next Wednesday and Thursday, June 1 and 2. Money realized will be applied to Father Cox's relief fund for the assistance of needy persons. There will be a parade each day. The company will include 130 persons, 40 of them girls. Boyle Brothers, in a dancing, acrobatic and balancing act; Cantner Sisters, singers; John Broaderich, baritone; Gertrude Rawlins, as "Aunt Dinah," in plantation songs; John Fitzpatrick and George Preston, in an oldtime minstrel skit, and others will be seen in the entertainment.

Catcher's Return Helps. Added Hope in Spencer. Bench Stirs Two Yanks.

Venzke Only Tuning Up. Race Tracks Hard Hit. Idleness Hurts Heavies.

GRACE BIG FACTOR IN PIRATE RALLY

NOT TAKING ANYTHING away from the other Pirates who have contributed to the club's improved showing, it is evident that one of the chief factors in the change for the better has been the return of Earl Grace to duty behind the bat. The importance of good catching has never been more clearly demonstrated than in this instance. After Grace was injured and put out of commission the Buccaneers lost six of their next seven games. A string of postponements probably averted further woe. Since he got back on the job the club has won six out of nine and is only two games removed from the first division. Convincing figures.

Earl Grace

The pitching situation was rendered more encouraging yesterday by the improvement displayed by Glenn Spencer in holding the Reds runless and allowing only three hits in the last nine innings of the 12-inning struggle which Pie Traynor decided with his first triple of the season. Spencer was off stride in the early games, but in his last two appearances has appeared to be back in form. It means a lot to the Rovers to have him clicking. He has more stuff than the average pitcher when going smoothly.

BIG LEAGUE CLUB owners are adopting various plans to attract women to their ball parks in a year when attendance is not up to normal. Detroit is the latest to put in a "Ladies' Day." It will be introduced Friday, when 4,000 women will be admitted free to seats in the upper deck of the grandstand. The tickets were distributed from the box offices at Navin Field on a first-come-first-served basis.

The Boston National League club will admit women to its games at half price and the St. Louis Nationals have decided to put on something new in the form of a Girls' Day. Boys of the Knothole Gang are admitted free two days a week to the Cardinals' games during the summer months, and now the system will be extended to provide for the free admission of girls between 9 and 15 at all Saturday games.

THE MANAGER OF one of the Coast League clubs is reported to have adopted drastic measures. It is said that a club rule imposes a $25 fine on a pitcher who walks a man if the recipient of the pass eventually scores. It is suggested that with two and two on the batter, thoughts of that fine might make the average pitcher hesitate about trying to fool the man at the plate.

The same pilot, the players say, has threatened his second baseman with a fine any time, with a runner on first, he breaks from his position to cover second before the pitch has passed the batter. Evidently, somebody once hit a ball through the position after the player had left it.

A TERM ON the bench, with the prospect that a job is slipping away, sometimes works wonders. A few weeks ago it was said Tony Lazzeri and Earl Combs had lost out as Yankees and would go on the market. Jack Saltzgaver and Sam Byrd had taken their jobs. Recently Joe McCarthy put the two old regulars back in the lineup and they immediately became standouts, playing a dazzling game afield and socking the ball so hard as to outhit Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Lazzeri has been forced out by a leg injury, but is expected back on the job in a day or two.

Gene Venzke

IT IS HARD to see any good ground for the fears being expressed in some quarters that Gene Venzke is going to be a disappointment in the Olympic Games just because he could finish no better than third in that 1,000-yard run in New York recently.

The fact must be borne in mind that the one-mile champion was making his first outdoor start of the year. Toward the end of the indoor season he refused to strain himself, and said he was going to rest. Evidently he did so, and in consequence was not at his peak last week.

ON THE OTHER hand, the runners in the field opposing Venzke had been doing considerable outdoor work and therefore were in better shape. Gene is merely following a set course to put himself in condition gradually. These early races mean nothing to him. They are only conditioners, and his real running will not be done until midsummer.

Anyhow, 1,000 yards is not Venzke's distance. The Olympic event at which he is aiming is the 1,500-meter race. Probably, when the time arrives, there will be no occasion to worry about America's chances in that particular number. Venzke, in form, should have it at his mercy.

IT ISN'T ONLY at New York tracks, where the absence of pari-mutuel betting is held to be a drawback, that horseracing is having a tough season. Even at some tracks where the mutuels operate, the promoters have been hard hit. A loss is reported at the Pimlico spring meeting for the first time in many years. This in spite of a record attendance of 36,000 at the Preakness and the fact that $903,000 passed through the mutuel machines on that day.

THE BIG INTAKE failed to balance the shortage on the other afternoons of the meeting. As a result, a slash in purse values and added moneys for future Pimlico meetings is said to be certain, with the biggest cut being made in the Preakness, which will be sliced from $50,000 to $40,000 or possibly $35,000.

New York tracks, under even a greater strain because they have no revenue from the betting, are expected to follow suit in reducing purses unless there is a big increase in gate receipts. The attendance at Belmont Park so far has been below that of 1931, and last season's figures were the poorest in 15 years.

PROMINENT HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHTERS would be much better off if they fought six or eight times a year, instead of only once or twice, according to Jack Sharkey. This will hardly be disputed, but as an experienced boxing man suggests, "just try to induce any of the big shots, Sharkey included, to box six to eight times a year and see how far you get."

Jack Sharkey

The heavyweight fighting that number of times would be able to beat all the rest with ease, the former sailor contends, because the others couldn't do their real stuff. To make clear his point as to how a long loafing spell affects a fighter, Sharkey calls attention to what would happen to a big league baseball player if he took part in only one or two games a season.

"IN THE FIRST place, the big league player would get something like palsy," Sharkey adds. "He would have gone as long without playing in a real game that most of his confidence would be lost. He wouldn't be sure that he still could do his stuff. The moment he faced real pitching he would be licked. It's the same for fighters who are in the championship class or very close to it. I face real pitching, as you might call it, just once or twice a year, and the only reason I get by is because the other fellow always is in the same boat. You don't see baseball, football or hockey players appearing in real games only once or twice a year. Sometimes I'm idle so long that I'm afraid my arms will wither from lack of use, like a kangaroo's front legs."

ONE AMERICAN REMAINS IN TOURNEY

BULLETIN.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 25.—Charles Sweeney, Oxford student, was the lone American remaining in the British amateur golf tournament as third round matches were played here today. David Martin, California amateur champion, lost to H. Shaw, of Timperley, 2 up, in the third round this afternoon, and Robert Sweeney, brother of Charles, was eliminated by A. J. Peech, of England, 1 up.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 25. (INS.)—David Martin, amateur champion of California, entered the third round of the British amateur golf championship today by defeating Bernard Darwin, veteran British golfing writer, 2 and 1.

Martin won the second and third hole and was always in front after the fifth, finishing the first nine in 37 strokes, one under par, with a one-hole lead.

The Californian also won the tenth, but Darwin rallied to take the twelfth and fourteenth. Martin won the fifteenth with a birdie 3 to go 2 up and then halved the next two to take the match. Their cards:

Out—
Martin	4	4	4	4	5	4	3	4	5—37
Darwin	4	5	5	3	4	4	3	4	4—40
In—
Martin	4	5	3	3	6	3	3	5
Darwin	5	5	4	5	5	4	3	5

SHAW NEXT OPPONENT

Martin's opponent in the third round will be H. Shaw, 25-year-old Manchester amateur, considered an easy mark for the California star.

Charles Sweeney, Oxford student, defeated W. W. Sharpe, of England, 3 and 1, to make it three Americans in the third round. His brother, Robert, advanced to the third round yesterday. The cards of the Sweeney-Sharpe match:

Out—
Sweeney	4	5	5	3	5	4	3	5	5—39
Sharpe	4	4	4	4	6	5	4	5	5—41
In—
Sweeney	5	5	4	3	5	4	3	5
Sharpe	6	4	4	4	4	4	3	5

SWEENEY OFF GAME

Sweeney played a somewhat ragged game and owed his victory largely to fairway lapses by his Scottish opponent, who putted smoothly and accurately.

In third round matches T. A. Torrance, England, defeated R. A. McKinna, England, 4 and 3; Robert Harris, England, defeated P. D. Miller, England, 3 and 2; Raymond Oppenheimer, England, defeated Scott Graham, England, 6 and 4.

COLTS DIVIDE TWIN BILL

Clarksburg and Cumberland divided a double-header in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday at Clarksburg. The Colts hit hard and timely in the first game to record a 7-to-4 victory, but in the second were nosed out, 4 to 3. Spencer and Samuels staged a pitchers' duel in the second engagement.

Beckley's Black Knights staged a three-run rally in the ninth inning at Beckley to defeat Johnstown, 6 to 5. Harris' home run was the feature of the rally.

A passed ball in the seventh inning by Catcher Mackey, of Charleston, enabled the Huntington Boosters to defeat the Senators, 5 to 3, at Charleston. The Boosters scored three runs in the seventh frame after Mackey's error.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A TRIVIAL CAUSE AND A TREMENDOUS EFFECT—My recent trip to Manchuria followed the Japanese invasion and the establishment of the puppet government headed by the former boy-emperor of China. The immediate pretext for the Japanese military steps was a slightly damaged end of a rail, a broken pair of connecting fishplates, and a railroad tie, caused by an explosion on the South Manchurian Railway near Mukden, September 18, 1931. This trivial damage was sufficient, however, to cause Japan to wage war against three provinces of China and to bombard one of the world's greatest cities. My drawing was made when I visited the scene of the explosion and viewed the pile of evidence in April of this year. THE SENTENCE OF CHINESE "BINGS"—An oft heard remark is that it is difficult to see how one Chinese can understand another. As a matter of fact, they seldom are understood even by their own neighbors. But the reasons are many, and the peculiarities of their language never could be catalogued. While I was lunching with Mr. Peck, vice consul of the U. S. A., in Nanking, China, who has been a student of the language since childhood, he told me of the six "bings" that make a sentence, at the same time explaining that the intonation given to each word gives it an entirely different meaning. This same rule applies to countless other Chinese words, but few of them to such a great extent.

TOMORROW: THE 8-YEAR-OLD MOTHER.

U. S. NET ACES ADVANCE

AUTEUIL, France, May 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., today advanced to the quarter-finals of mixed doubles in the French tennis championships in a straight-set victory over Cecile Durand Mercier and Francois Terrier. The scores were 6-3, 6-1.

Both members of the ranking American combination were in fine form, in contrast to their shaky start yesterday when they dropped the first set to Frau Dros Canters and Franz Matejka and had to work hard to win the match. They played easily and confidently today.

They will meet the French combination of Ida Adamoff and Christian Boussus in the quarter-finals, the latter today defeating the English team of Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree and G. P. Hughes, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Heydler Spikes Lively Ball Rumor

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, has said there is "nothing to" reports current in Cincinnati that the National League ball had turned out this season to be livelier than the one the specifications call for.

EAGLES BOOKING

The fast stepping Carrick Eagles, of the West Penn League, are anxious to book any semi-pro team in the district for a doubleheader on Decoration Day. Teams wishing to obtain this attraction call Carrick 9761 after 6 p. m. and ask for Cyril. Last night the Eagles defeated the Soho McKnights, 4 to 3, in a league fray.

SERIES UNDER WAY

The post-season series for the city high school junior baseball championship gets under way this afternoon at Glenshaw, where Gladstone, Section 1 winner, meets Morgan Hill, Section II champ.

Legion Baseball Topic on Seals' Broadcast

Junior baseball, football, boxing and wrestling will be discussed in the weekly program of the Trained Seals of the sports staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE at 6:55 o'clock this evening.

Ben H. Giffen, local attorney, chairman of the state athletic department of the American Legion, will talk on the forthcoming annual Legion national tournament for junior players, outlining the details of the competition and reviewing its history.

Dr. W. D. McClelland, former Central High School and Pitt football star and also former member of the State Athletic Commission, will be the other guest speaker, being interviewed by Harry Keck, sports editor. Miss Marian Salmon, pianist, and Julius Levin, of the sports department, also will participate in the program.

P. WANER TAKES BATTING LEAD

Paul Waner, of the Pirates, took the National League batting lead from Chick Hafey with his three hits in six times at bat in the 12-inning victory of the locals over the Cincinnati Reds at Cincinnati yesterday. Hafey failed to connect safely in four official times at bat.

Waner now is hitting at a .392 clip, with 49 hits in 125 times at bat in 31 games.

Hafey's mark is .387.

TECH TRACKMEN SET FOR FINAL

By JESS CARVER

Pittsburgh's intercollegiate track and field campaign, which has been a fairly interesting one, will pack its grips tomorrow and whisper bye-bye for another season. The swan song will be sung by Carnegie Tech and Grove City, clashing in a dual meet in the Tartan Bowl.

Tech rules a strong, well nigh prohibitive favorite to overwhelm the Grovers; not only to wallop them by a large score, but to sweep all first places, or almost all. Grove City victories are expected to be very few and very very far between.

Eastern colleges, by the way, will be permitted to shoot a total of 209 athletes at other members of the I. C. A. A. A. A. at the annual championship meet at Berkeley, Cal., July 1 and 2, partially at the association's expense.

The I. C. 4-A. will pay the expenses of eastern track and field stars beyond the number which would have been required had the meet been held, as always has been the case, here in the east. The association has set a limit to the number of men each school may send at the expense of the organization, and has topped the list by limiting Yale to 22 men. Pitt is included in the list and while the Panther limit has not been set, it is expected to total no more than six.

Southern California, defending champion of the N. C. A. A., will not be on hand to defend its laurels in the annual meet at Chicago June 10 and 11. The Trojans are feeling the effects of the depression and cannot spare the dough to send a strong enough team east.

JUNIOR HORSE SHOW CARDED

The program for the Hartarun Junior Hunt horse show, which will be held Saturday afternoon at Hartwood Farm, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lawrence, will provide competition in 10 classes. Forty-nine children have filed entries. The show will be staged for the benefit of the unemployed of Allegheny County, the proceeds to be disbursed by the Allegheny County Emergency Association.

One of the features of the first show to be conducted in this state entirely by children, is the fact that the participants will be judged mainly for horsemanship.

O'Malley Defeats Reilly at Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 25.—(AP.)—Steve O'Malley, hard-hitting Bellaire, O., lightweight, punched out an easy decision over Frankie Reilly, of Fairmont, in eight rounds last night. O'Malley weighed 136, Reilly 138.

Paul Oger, 152, of Fairmont, and Young Saylor, 149, of Charleroi, Pa., drew in eight vicious rounds.

BUCS VICTORS OVER REDLEGS IN TWELFTH

CINCINNATI, May 25.—Now that Capt. Pie Traynor is beginning to look like himself at the plate, the Pirates may go places and do things. The field leader of the Buccos had been in a batting slump before the team took off on its present jaunt, but the spirited thirdsacker has snapped out of the basehit depression and perhaps the Freebooters have said a happy farewell to the cellar.

Remy Kremer

The fact that Traynor weighed in with a twelfth-inning three-bagger to win yesterday's scrap was not the only cause for Pirate rejoicing today. The whole Gibson crew was happy as Boss Gibby announced that Remy Kremer would make his first start of the season on the mound when the Buccos and Reds tangle this afternoon in the second game of the series.

VETERAN READY

The veteran of the Pittsburgh sharpshooting staff has been on the hospital list since the early days of the spring training season. Kremer was the first hurler to reach form at Paso Robles, but later he went down with influenza and still later he was found to be suffering with infected teeth, which apparently affected his pitching arm. Several of the troublesome molars were pulled, but the healing process of his arm has been slow.

The Frenchman was showing so much general improvement when the Pirates embarked for the West that Manager Gibson took him along. He told Gibby yesterday he was ready to pitch and the pilot is ready to use him today. He is likely to be opposed by Owen Carroll, former American League hurler.

Winning three of their four tough engagements in St. Louis and Cincinnati, and with the pitching department improved something like 100 per cent things in general may be said to be looking up for the Pirates. Heinie Meine says he will be ready for mound action in a week and the Buccos are confident Kremer will be his old self after he gets a game or two under his belt.

SPENCER HURLS WELL

The slab exhibition given by Glenn Spencer was a distinctive feature of the Pirates' 5-to-3 success over the Reds yesterday. Binghamton Glenn went to the rescue of Larry French at the beginning of the fourth and Glenn was still firing the ball like a master when the last Redleg was snuffed out in the twelfth. Spencer yielded only three hits in the nine frames.

French and Silas Johnson mixed at the outset. The Pirates reached Johnson for three runs in the first round, but the young right-hander remained on the slab until the ninth, when he made way for a pinch hitter, Benny Frey finished.

The Waner boys, as usual, were deep in the Pittsburgh victory. The two stars were on the sacks in the twelfth by virtue of singles when Capt. Pie blazed his two-out three-bagger to provide the winning markers. The brothers made six hits and Paul was robbed of another by Babe Herman. Floyd Vaughan and Dave Barbee also were timely swatsmiths in the triumph over the Howley Clan.

GOMEZ CONTINUES SENSATIONAL PITCHING

CARDS DEFEAT CUBS; PHILLIES BEAT N. Y.

Associated Press

Bridgework of the long and lasting variety comes high, but the Yankees stand ready to purchase another $1,200 worth of dental engineering and Lefty Gomez can be assured another pitcher like the canny Castilian Vernon Gomez.

The slim southpaw who blossomed into one of the game's greatest hurlers a season after the Yankee treasury had staked him to the expensive reinforcements in paying Col. Jake Ruppert plenty of dividends.

Gomez gave his latest brilliant exhibition yesterday when he struck out 15 batters, a new record for the season, and was touched for only three hits in beating the Athletics 3 to 1.

ERROR COSTS SHUTOUT

But for Chapman's muff of Simmons' fly in the seventh, Gomez' seventh triumph of the year would have been a shutout. Babe Ruth's eleventh home run in the first inning gave the league leaders an advantage they never relinquished.

Wes Ferrell couldn't protect a 6-to-1 lead and the Chicago White Sox came from the rear to score nine runs in the fifth and seventh frames and defeat Cleveland, 11 to 7.

Izzy Goldstein, Detroit rookie, rang up a 6-to-5 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Boston Braves dropped a 5-to-3 game to Brooklyn, but clung to their narrow hold on the National League top when the runner-up Chicago Cubs bowed to St. Louis 8 to 6. The Cubs lost largely because four of their pitchers could not check Jimmy Collins, who smacked two home runs and a single.

BUCS BEAT REDS

The last place Pittsburgh nine took a scorcher from Cincinnati 6 to 3.

Five Giant hurlers were plastered for 21 hits as the Phillies squared their series 11 to 8.

Governor's Veto Denies Risko $5,000

BOSTON, May 25.—(AP.)—A legislative resolution under which Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, would receive a $5,000 purse forfeited to the state when his bout with Dick Daniels, of Minneapolis, was declared no contest on October 23, 1930, has been vetoed by Gov. Joseph B. Ely.

The Governor returned the unsigned resolution to the Senate yesterday with the admonition that the legislature should not act as a super boxing referee. The chief executive said the laws of the commonwealth provided that it should rest with the discretion of the referee to declare a purse forfeited.

Gov. Ely said that should the resolution become a law, every dissatisfied contestant under similar circumstances might well seek a remedy by legislative enactment.

Manchuria Seeks Bid to Olympics

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(AP.)—Manchuria, newly organized nation of Asia, has cabled the Los Angeles organizing committee of the Olympic games if has two athletes it would like to enter in the international meet here this summer.

President Chengaichau, of the Manchurian Athletic Association, Moukden, said he has a sprinter and middle distance star of high caliber. Under the rules administered by the International Olympic Committee, a nation first must be recognized by that body.

Busy Card Mapped For Burgoo King

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP.)—Col. E. R. Bradley's Burgoo King may boost his earnings to the $300,000 mark before the season is ended.

Already winner of $102,725 as a result of his triumphs in the Derby and Preakness, the son of Bubbling Over will be sent to the post in the Withers mile at Belmont Park Saturday and then, if all goes well, will be sent after four other big stakes before he ends his 3-year-old career.

JOEY GOODMAN WINS

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—(INS.)—In a knockdown fight, Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, won a decision from Celerino Garcia, hard-hitting Filipino champion, in 10 rounds here last night but fans today said the decision was unjust and demanded a rematch. Jeers greeted the referee's decision.

Goodman knocked down Garcia for a seven count in the second round. Garcia knocked down Goodman for a nine count in the fourth round.

EAST-WEST LEAGUE

Newark (a homestead Grays, Greenlee Field, 6:15 p. m. and Forbes Field, 8:45 p. m.

With the J. J. Thomas nine traveling to Dormont to meet the champions in the City League, and the Carrick Eagles scheduled to clash with Jack Fertig's Homestead Aces at West Field in the West Penn, fans in the district have a pair of good sandlot games on for this evening.

The Aces are stepping fast to keep ahead of the field in the West Penn League. There is more than a chance that Carrick may beat the Fertig aggregation.

The Homestead Grays have a twilight and a night game on their hands. The twilight game, starting at 6:15 o'clock, will take place at Greenlee Field and will be an East-West League affair with Newark. This is the second of a two-game series, the first of which was played last evening.

TWO GAMES FOR GRAYS

After the game at Greenlee Field, the Grays will hurry to Forbes Field where they will participate in a night game with the Original House of David club, starting at 8:45 o'clock. This is the first time a game of this kind has been attempted by a Pittsburgh nine.

The nocturnal contest will take place under the portable lighting system of the visitors.

In the County League, the Scott Morgans, league leaders, will entertain the Pitcairn Cubs, and Frick Park makes the long trip to Carnegie to meet the entry of that town.

Only one game will be played in the Greater Pittsburgh League, and this will find Whitaker meeting Iroquois at Frick Park.

In sandlot tussles of importance last evening, the Grays defeated the Newark Bears in their East-West League game, 9-0, with Salmon hurling a four-hit win.

BOOKS, HOMEWOOD WIN

In the City League, Books defeated Reliance Life, 8-3, and Homewood walloped the North Siders, 12 to 4. Murs downed Edgewood, 6-4, and Immaculate Heart won over Swissvale, 11-5, in Greater Pittsburgh circuit tussles and in the city section, McGraths nosed out West View, 5-4. Civics defeated Pineview, 3-2, and the Jena nine took over the Lineys, 4-2.

The Carrick Eagles defeated the McKnights in the West Penn League.

The Crawfords were defeated by the Chicago Giants, in Chicago, 6 to 4. California took the lead in the Monon Valley League, defeating Gibson, 5 to 3. Belle Vernon downed Richeyville, 5-4, and Fairhope defeated Fayette City, 5 to 2 in the same circuit.

Hoosier Boxers Try Co-operative Plan

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Twenty Indianapolis boxers tried boxing on a co-operative basis here last night and got $7.80 apiece for the batterings they took or gave.

The boys divided 60 per cent of the gate receipts, or $156. Each of the 10 bouts was scheduled for four rounds.

Fight Results

At Fairmont Place, O'Malley defeated Frankie Reilly, 8 rounds. Paul Oper and Young Savior drew, 8 rounds. Young Biffle won by a technical knockout over Harry Miller, 2 rounds. Mike Ketchel defeated Jack Pierce, 4 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Joey Goodman defeated Celerino Garcia, 10 rounds.

BOWL SOCKER TO RETURN

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Benny Bass vs. Harry Dublinsky and Tony Falco vs. Pat Ige, 10 rounds each, and Tommy Kon vs. Billy Ketchel, 6 rounds, Arena, Philadelphia.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

We'll be seeing Jack "One Punch" Kilbourne again in the near future. The lanky Chicago middleweight, who tapped out Harry Harris of Bellaire, O., with a single right hand rap on the whiskers in the Meyers Bowl special bout Monday night, was the talk of the town yesterday, even in the wake of the fuzzy finish of the Gizzy-Canzoneri windup battle on the same card.

Matchmaker Lew Raymond, of the Bowl, said today he plans to bring back Kilbourne within a couple of weeks against an opponent of reputation along the lines of Angel Chville, the Porto Rico Negro, who recently knocked out Tiger Joe West here. It won't be a windup, but will go to bolster another card. Raymond figures he can afford to take his time and build up Kilbourne here and ultimately bring on some big figure to draw a jammed bowl with him.

DRAW LARGE GATE

Incidentally, the gate for the Canzoneri-Gizzy opener was just a little short of $9,000, a big draw in these times, and it would have been possibly $1,000 more if the arena had been differently scaled. Because of the fact that Canzoneri was getting a stiff guarantee, which, by the way, his percentage exceeded, the $1 seats had been pared down from 3,500 to approximately 2,000, and when these were gone a lot of fans who couldn't afford to pay any more went away disappointed. Others scaled the high fences and got in free and few went for the higher priced pasteboards. For next week's Ted Yarosz-Jackie Fields show, the full 3,500 seats at $1.65 will be available and this will be the rule during the remainder of the season.

Between Rounds

Tony Marino and Young Rudy will appear in one of the bouts on the Bruce McTavish-Tommy Freeman card at Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night of next week. Jimmy Hall, the Pittsburgh welterweight, will box Davey Grove on the same bill.

Herman Fellins has been working out daily in the Pittsburgh Lyceum gymnasium for his 10-round windup with Johnny Jadick, the junior welterweight champion, at Hickey Park, Millvale, tomorrow night, and is reported in fine fettle for the contest.

Jadick arrived in town today and went to Homestead to work out at the First Ward Athletic Club, over which Jim Mosley, trainer of Tom Clark's boxers, presides. He is to box with Alexis Arguello and Steve Hamas. Mosley, a former Philadelphian, is a friend of Joe Ferguson, who trains Jadick.

Joey Spargal, of Uniontown, is not on the trail of Mario Garrica for a match. They were rivals as amateurs, Spargal receiving the decision. Garrica, in turn, was knocked out by Carnera, and Spargal realizes he can restore his prestige somewhat by beating the man who beat him (and all other men).

Mose Butch, local southpaw bantamweight, will box Babe Collins, Mexican, in the eight-round semi-final to the Jackie Fields-Ted Yarosz bout at the Meyers Bowl next Tuesday night. Billy Flanagan and George Dixon will be in the third six-rounder and Fritzie Zivic and Steve Kovich in the second bout. Max Elling and Parky McFarland meet in the opener to round out the bill.

Kid Chocolate meets Lew Feldman in a 10-round bout in New York one week from tonight.

Tuffy Griffiths and King Levinsky may meet in a return bout during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Levinsky already is matched for a 10-rounder with Max Baer at Reno, Nev., July 4, under the promotion of Jack Dempsey.

Jules Beck, who recently returned from a scouting trip to Chicago, now is in New York trying to land an opening attraction for Greenlee Field's boxing arena, now set back to June 8.

VINES ORDERED TO REST

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(INS.)—Ellsworth Vines, national singles tennis champion, will play no more tennis until the Davis Cup matches. Believed to be over-tennised, Vines was ordered to take a rest by Capt. Fitz Eugene Dixon, of the U. S. Cup team.

ANNUAL BATTLE FOR GROGAN CUP OPENS

By TOM BIRKS

With the first half of the annual Grogan cup match between the members of the Shannopin and Highland Country clubs scheduled for decision this afternoon over the Highland layout, the annual tourney of the South Hills Dental Association at South Hills and a women's kickers handicap event to be disposed of at the Country Club, a well-filled card faces district golfers today.

The South Hills dentists evidently are going to have a lot of fun at Walter Loeffler's layout. A committee composed of Bill McClelland, Ward Eskey, Bill Rihanek, Fish Fitch and Alex Stilley is in charge and they should be competent enough to put the affair over in fine style.

OAKMONT DEFEATED

Much surprise was manifested in the women's team matches when Allegheny defeated Oakmont in the feature match. Betty Abernathy and Anieannette Hunter, the leading Oakmont pair, came through, but the home team won out when Mrs. Harvey Childs and Mrs. Standish netted two points. Nancy Byers was missing from the Allegheny team. Oakmont will be much more formidable with Emilie Rosebrugh and Mrs. Wadsworth back in the lineup.

Fox Chapel gave Stanton Heights a trimming and Edgewood sprang somewhat of a surprise by beating Butler, 5 to 1.

The Longue Vue and Westmoreland teams of Section II will be at St. Clair today to play off their curtailed match of two weeks ago. A thunderstorm stranded the players around the fifteenth hole.

CUP PLAY CARDED

Saturday at the Allegheny Country Club the annual spring medal competition will be played. The low net winner will have his name inscribed on the historic Cresson Cup. The Cresson Cup is the first medal play challenge trophy to be competed for in Western Pennsylvania. Monday, an 18-hole medal play handicap for the Eben M. Byers memorial trophy will be staged. This trophy is to be perpetual and has been donated by J. Frederic Byers, to perpetuate the memory of the late former national amateur champion. The winner of the tourney will receive a replica of the cup.

Shady Side, Wilkinsburg, Carrick and Kiski turned in triumphs in the Interscholastic Conference competition yesterday.

At Shannopin, Kiski won its eighth consecutive victory, defeating Oliver, 13 to 5. Jim Marks, Jr., turned in the best medal score of the day, a fine 40-37-77.

Wilkinsburg defeated Allderdice at Edgewood, 12 to 6; Shady Side blanked Arnold School, 18-0, and Carrick beat Bellevue, 15 to 3.

The McKeesport-Peabody match was climaxed by an argument, with both sides filing a protest. McKeesport claimed a Peabody player used one of the smaller balls not officially recognized in tournament play, while Peabody countered with a claim that a McKeesport player failed to hole out. It is likely that the Conference will order the match replayed.

Entries Received For Three Meets

Entries are coming in rapidly for the A. M. A. men's junior track and field championships that will take place at Reeves Field, Beaver Falls, Saturday of next week along with an open interscholastic meet. The event is open to all registered amateurs in the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. eligible for junior competition. Miss Marie Vensel, of Wilkinsburg, has sent in her entry for the 50-yard, 100-yard and the 220-yard dashes of the A. M. A. senior women's track and field championships at Kennywood Park Memorial Day afternoon. Helen Booth, of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College, has entered the 220-yard dash, the running broad jump and the 440-yards relay race.

Entry blanks may be obtained at A. A. U. headquarters, Vandergrift Building.

STYLES DROPPED

DALLAS, Tex., May 25.—(AP.)—William (Lefty) Styles, veteran catcher who was bought by Dallas from the Cincinnati Reds last winter, has been handed his outright release.

TENNIS TITLE CAPTURED BY ALLDERDICE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The brand new Pittsburgh Tennis Association three-year cup—sterling silver, 14 inches high and symbolic of the city high school team net championship—goes to the racquet warriors of Taylor Allderdice High School for possession till the spring of 1933 and as long thereafter as they can successfully defend it.

The Squirrel Hill institution swept clean its Interscholastic Tennis Conference City intersectional titular fray with Langley High School 5-0, on the Allderdice lot yesterday afternoon and thereby captured not only initial leg on the P. T. A. flagon, but also a place in the conference elimination play-offs beginning on the University of Pittsburgh rectangles tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

VICTORY DECISIVE

There really is little of moment to record of the individual tussles composing the Allderdice-Langley affair. The victors dropped nary a set and in no singles frame was a visiting performer able to glean more than one game. Hyman Fleishman and Jim Thompson reeled off man-to-man victories for the Shady Avenue contingent. Hyman copping in love sets and his mates turning in 6-1, 6-1 verdicts.

Following the tussle, President J. Phillips Davis, on behalf of the P. T. A. formally turned over the trophy to C. Lawrence Walsh, director of athletics in Pittsburgh schools. The latter then presented it to Coach Irvin, of the champions. Walsh and P. G. Sullivan, conference delegates at large, later made the elimination draw with the assistance of Davis. Luck of the lottery pairs Allderdice with Wilkinsburg, County Section II winner, in tomorrow's milling.

LEBANON MEETS CRAFTON

Mt. Lebanon, Section I survivor, encounters Crafton of Section III. Successful participants in the Thursday contesting will clash in final combat on the Panther courts next Tuesday for Conference honors and inaugural leg on the handsome Pitt cup.

Yesterday's summary:

Singles—Hyman, Allderdice, defeated Herbert, Langley, 6-0, 6-0; Fleishman, Allderdice, defeated Fellman, Langley, 6-1, 6-1; Thompson, Allderdice, defeated Carr, Langley, 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles—Hyman and Greenberg, Allderdice, defeated Hermann and Fisher, Langley, 6-1, 6-4; Sauer and Fleishman, Allderdice, defeated [illegible], Langley, 6-1, time set by agreement.

WESTINGHOUSE WINS SEC. I GONFALON

Westinghouse High School's baseball team stowed away the Section I championship of the City League yesterday afternoon by defeating Schenley, 7 to 4. The Bellefielders were defending section and league champions Del-Savio. Westinghouse hurler, tightened after a poor start and held Schenley at his mercy.

In Section II, Oliver made it five in a row by beating Allegheny, 5 to 4 and Carrick defeated South Hills, 8 to 2.

McKeesport, defending champion in the W. P. I. A. L., lost its first game in two years, bowing to Edgewood, 6 to 3. Carnegie nosed out Stowe, 10 to 9, in another league tussle and in non-league affairs, Langley defeated Crafton, 9 to 0, and Shady Side trimmed Wilkinsburg, 5 to 3.

Cubs to Change Holiday Program

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP.)—Instead of playing morning and afternoon games Memorial Day, the Cubs will play a double-header in the afternoon.

The change was ordered by President William L. Veeck so that the fans might see two games for the price of one instead of paying twice.

NOTICE, JIMMY BRADLEY

The sports department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has a letter for Pitcher Jimmy Bradley of the South Side.

Nick Altrock
Baseball's Humorist
Says:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25.—The way things are going lately, you can be sure only of three things—death, plenty of taxes and the Red Sox in last place. Those Sox have been in the cellar so long a bungalow would look like a sky-scraper to them.

Nick Altrock

But, say, those Boston Braves aren't bad this year. For a team the experts picked for seventh or eighth place, they certainly look odd up in the higher brackets.

I can't explain 'em having so much fight and confidence unless Art Shires got his teammates to memorize that monologue of his and now they actually believe it.

FRAME PASSES SPEED TEST

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—(AP.)—Fred Frame, of Los Angeles, and Gus Schrader, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., were the only drivers to qualify their cars yesterday for the 500-mile automobile race which will be run here next Monday.

Frame, driving an eight cylinder front-drive car, passed the 10-mile qualifying test at an average speed of 113.836 miles per hour. Schrader, piloting a four-wheel drive eight, showed a speed of 112.003 miles per hour.

Twenty-eight cars have qualified to date for the speed classic.

STRONG RELEASED

DETROIT, May 25.—(AP.)—The Detroit American League Club has released Kenneth Strong, outfielder to the Toronto International. Due to an injury to his hand last year Strong has been unable to play so far this season. He probably will be able to play with Toronto later this season and may return to Detroit next spring.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

List Reflects Pressure — Local Stocks Lower

STOCK SELLING DRIVES PRICES LOWER

Market Fails to Display Any Strong Resistance; Foods, Rails Sink Easily

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The enfeebled share market again failed to make any notable show of resistance to the stubborn flow of selling today.

A few of the leading industrials held up well, but such groups as the utilities, food shares, tobaccos and rails gave ground easily. Selling was in considerable volume for a time in the morning, but prices still continued to slip, as the market grew quieter.

Losses of 1 to 2 points carried the American Tobacco issues, Liggett & Myers B and Lorillard into new low ground. American Telephone dropped more than 1 points to the lowest since 1907. General Foods was a soft spot in its group, losing 2 points. National Biscuit, National Dairy, Borden, Drug, Du Pont, Lambert, Public Service of New Jersey and Consolidated Gas were among issues losing a point or so. In the rails, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western and Santa Fe lost about 2. The New York tractions were conspicuously weak. A firm spot was provided by the Electric Power and Light preferred issues, which rose 3 and 4 points in expectation of payment of regular dividends.

United States Steel, American Can, Standard of New Jersey and some other leaders held up fairly well.

Continued selling of the so-called "depression proof" issues such as the electric power, tobacco and food issues presumably reflected necessitous selling out of accounts which had been stubbornly retained for some time on the theory that the depression would touch these lines but lightly. As a matter of fact, earnings of companies in these groups have held up relatively well, but the persistent decline in the general market has undoubtedly weakened marginal holdings, and brokers also explain that investors are having to sell to raise cash.

Also, evidence of the eventual impairment of earning power of companies of this character was again provided by the figures on electric power consumption for last week, showing a drop of 12.7 per cent from the like week of last year, a slight improvement over the drop of 13.1 per cent shown in the previous week, but too slight to offer much encouragement.

The dollar was again weak in the foreign exchange markets, shipments of $3,912,200 in gold to England attracted attention, and was interpreted in some quarters as indicating a shift in the outflow of metal from this country. News that the Bank of England had also earmarked about $12,000,000 in gold at the Bank of France led to some expectations that Great Britain may be preparing to embrace the gold standard once more.

N. Y. Curb Exchange Member Suspended

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The New York Curb Exchange today suspended from regular membership Samuel S. Campbell after he had announced his failure to meet engagements. Campbell, a private trader, was admitted to the Exchange in 1919.

Mills and Meyer Meet Bankers In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, and Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, arrived here today and conferred with leading Chicago bankers and businessmen intent upon forming a Seventh Federal Reserve District organization to utilize reserve bank credit and speed business recovery.

Their purpose was to create such a committee as was organized in New York last week to co-operate with the Federal Reserve System and make use of its vast credit.

Banks Should Try to Regain Public Favor

—By B. C. FORBES—

Here's a funny one.

Arranging a bank loan, I included among the collateral the shares of a very prosperous, old-established, highly-regarded insurance company. The banker, after remarking that he knew the stock was of the highest grade, would not give it normal rating because he explained:

Mr. Forbes

"It is not listed on the New York Stock Exchange."

Now, the joke is that the shares of this banker's institution used to be traded in on the New York Stock Exchange, but were taken off by the bank.

In other words, the bank considered it detrimental to have its own shares listed, but discriminated against the insurance company's shares because they were not listed!

From all parts of the country pour in complaints concerning refusals by banks to make loans, regardless of the security offer. One reader declares that he was refused a loan on Liberty Bonds. Institutions customarily lending on real estate have apparently in many instances shut down on all applicants for accommodation.

It is extremely unfortunate that banks and bankers have fallen into such widespread disfavor. Surely many of them are now in a position to do something tangible to regain part of their lost popularity. An abnormal degree of liquidity has been attained. Unparalleled facilities have been provided by governmental agencies to make it easy for banks to obtain lendable funds. Very effective safeguards against runs on solvent banks have been furnished. Banks, as a whole, are underloaned.

Deflation having already gone to absurd lengths, loans based on current market values of securities, materials, commodities, etc., manifestly cannot involve unusual risk.

A READER attributes this to Ed Wynn:

"I asked a friend 'How's business?' He replied, 'Terrible. I'm cutting and saving wherever I can. I'm even taking long steps to save my $6 shoes.' He showed me how he did it—and split his $8 pants."

Aren't too many concerns acting parsimoniously and equally shortsightedly?

H. W. MAXSON, of B. F. Goodrich company, tells me:

"A large co-operative garden, where part-time workers and former Goodrich employes are now raising their own vegetables, is assisting in solving some of the problems imposed by curtailed incomes. A 275-acre plot of excellent soil, near Akron, has been put into cultivation, and the workers participating will share the produce in proportion to the time each gives to raising the crops."

Sounds sensible, doesn't it?

I HAVE NOTED for some time a distinctly more cheerful tone in letters received from British friends and relatives in moderate circumstances. They state that work has become appreciably more plentiful and that retail trade has picked up noticeably. The cost of living has not risen as sharply as was feared when the gold standard was suspended.

PRESIDENT E. S. GORRELL, of Stutz, sends the cheerful news that new orders have come in so encouragingly that a six-day weekly schedule is being put into immediate operations, with many departments operating seven days.

BY THIS time next month will Congress have done its job and gone home? If so, is it reasonable to hope that uncertainty will have been replaced by tranquility, instability by some measure of stability?

Committee Approves Cut in Tin Output

LONDON, May 25.—The international tin committee has approved a new output scheme, providing further drastic cut in production to 54,056 tons yearly, or about one-third of the 1929 output, and accepted the proposal for complete suspension of exports for three months. The scheme is subject to acceptance by participating governments.

Notices 1-A

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who gave their kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father.
Caroline Dubal Kyrimes, Peter Kyrimes and Regina Kyrimes.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving memory of my dear husband, Samuel S. Eyre, who passed away one year ago today, May 25, 1931.
A year has passed since that sad day.
When I loved was called away
God took him home, it was His will;
But in my heart he liveth still.
Radio missed by wife and family.

MURDER OF THE NIGHT CLUB LADY :-: :-: By ANTHONY ABBOT

Commissioner Visits Carewe Home Determined to Solve Mystery

CHAPTER XLII

Silence fell upon the room. The brother of Christine Quires drew a cigar from his pocket and abstractedly lit it. He did not realize how plausible his theory was beginning to appear. To us who had waded through so much mystification in the last 24 hours his accusation seemed something more than mere guess play. In my own mind, as I reviewed our past findings, the links began to appear.

Yet how did Everett manage to kill both Lola and Christine? Granted that he had ample motive when was he given opportunity? True, we did not know his movements between certain highly critical and important hours. But Lola had died practically before our eyes. Christine's body had been smuggled into the apartment against our police guard. Where was Everett then? Till these riddles were answered we were no better off than when we started.

"May I see the body of my sister?" asked Edgar Quires, rising as if he understood that his interrogation was ended.

PAIR IS FOLLOWED

Colt rose with him.

"You will be notified when you may claim her," the chief answered. "You see the medical examiner has not yet brought in his complete report. But that is only a formality. You will hear from us tomorrow—if you will leave your address."

"I shall be stopping at the McAlpin. Old-fashioned, but we always go there. Good-night, Mr. Colt. I want you to know that I shall not rest until the murderers of my sister go to the electric chair."

"Thank you, Mr. Quires. I would like you to be at the pent-house of Lola Carewe when I call you. You will be notified."

And thus it was that two plainclothesmen were set on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quires, while Colt and Dougherty once more put their heads together for new plans and fresh devices.

Dougherty took the lead in the discussion.

"I do not see," he began, "where your Paris background, what we might call the Basil Boucher motif, fits in with the newest developments. Vincent Rowland had a good motive for killing these three people. If he has been involved in crooked dealings his high position, coupled with the known force and resourcefulness of the man, make the theory quite attractive. What a job it would be to try Vincent Rowland for two murders!"

"You would try them only one at a time," Colt corrected the District Attorney with a smile.

"Need we be technical?" chuckled Dougherty, running a thick hand through his mop of red curls. "On the other hand, Guy Everett seems to be an emotionally unstable person who might have done it through some insane motive of revenge. I believe the case has narrowed down to these two."

SOLUTION EXPECTED

Colt nodded philosophically. "Perhaps," he commented. "But there remain certain obstacles to both theories. As a matter of fact, there remain other obstacles to any theory until we break through one physical barrier. Where was Christine Quires between the time she got out of the elevator and the time we found her dead? Until we get over that hurdle everything else stands still."

"That's a tough one," agreed the District Attorney.

"I have been racking my brains ever since last night, and I confess that for hours on end I couldn't get within an inch of the problem," went on Colt. "But tonight I expect to solve it."

"Tonight?"

"Yes, Dougherty. In a little while you, Tony and I are going back to that pent-house. And we are not coming out of it until this mystery is solved."

"Great!" approved Dougherty. "But in the meantime there are a few questions—"

Synopsis

Lola Carewe and Christine Quires are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scorpions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett, an actor. Lola had blackmailed him. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt learns that a young Paris bank clerk named Basil Boucher, loved Lola. Edward Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead—from a scorpion bite. In Baldwin's desk Colt finds a statement in which the doctor says he accidentally poisoned Gaylord Gifford, Lola's husband. Lola's knowledge of this placed Baldwin in her power. She forced him to supply narcotics which she used to victimize her friends and later blackmail them. The statement says Vincent Rowland, aged attorney, was behind Lola's activities. Because of the lack of evidence against Rowland, Colt objects to his immediate arrest. A report from France says that Basil Boucher drowned himself after stealing money to buy Lola a ruby. Christine's brother, Edgar Quires, unaware of her death, is indignant when taken before Colt. After learning of the tragedy he accuses Everett.

Now Go On

Two plainclothesmen were set on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Quires.

The telephone rang. Inspector Flynn was speaking from his office downstairs. A few reports had come in which were of interest in the Carewe-Quires murders. The clerk who had been on duty in the lobby of the apartment house had at last been located. He had been on a beach-house party in Deal, New Jersey, but was now being questioned by the police. He did remember the letter which Lola had found in her box—the letter of warning which had drawn us into the case. When asked how the letter had been delivered to the desk he replied that he did not know. He had been called to the telephone for a moment. When he returned the letter was lying on the desk blotter. There was no one in sight. He had not thought this very significant and had merely put the letter back into the box.

Further Flynn went on to report, the autopsies were completed and Dr. Multooler had signed documents releasing the remains to the family. Told about Edgar Quires, he promised to arrange with the brother for the claiming of Christine.

From these details Flynn passed to a recital of the work on various trails. Vincent Rowland had been under complete observation all day. Nothing suspicious had developed. Late in the afternoon he had called at the pent house and inquired as to the health of Mrs. Carewe. The old man looked haggard and shaken at the events in which he had been entangled. From there he had gone to the Union League Club where he remained up to the last report. Guy Everett had gone to bed and was still in bed in his room at the Axton Club. He had left word not to be disturbed. Colt thanked and dismissed Inspector Flynn.

"Don't you think we ought to get Rowland and Everett down here and have it out?" again urged Dougherty.

But Colt remained adamant.

"Not here," he insisted. "But I am hoping that I will have a simpler plan. Let's be going."

And 30 minutes later we found ourselves back in the apartment that had been the home of Lola Carewe.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Stands Firm on Her Decision

What would be Philip Veritzen's reaction to my remark that if he returned my play back to me, as he had threatened, I would have no recourse but to give it to a theatrical agent and hope for the impossible to happen? I knew his pride and prejudices sufficiently to realize that it was what Dicky would call "a thousand to one shot" against his yielding to my dictum.

Were it not for the impossibility of my going into the city before the time I had named, I might not have had the courage to make so flat a refusal to his request. But it was something more than that knowledge which had led me to add to my refusal the threat of submitting my play to some other producer. From Lillian had come the theory that Philip Veritzen had been so impressed by my play that he did not wish to chance its going to anyone else and that, therefore, he was prepared to yield a point to me which ordinarily he never would have considered ceding! To my mind it was the slenderest of chances, the most intangible of possibilities, but when he remained seated instead of rising majestically to his feet, as I had expected him to do, and when a smile of tolerant amusement curved his lips instead of the sardonic twist which I had expected to see upon them, there came into my heart a tiny thrill of hope and I fairly held my breath to hear what he would say.

HOPE RETURNS

"You are a bad, troublesome child," he said, in a tone of a fond father reproving his daughter for some boarding school prank. "But it is my own fault. I have spoiled you in that delightful time of our literary and dramatic companionship."

He did not mean the word "dramatic"—I was quite sure he meant me to understand the word "romantic" instead, and to infer that he did not dare use the latter word.

Of course, the discreet and proper procedure for me at this remark was to have kept silence. But I think that little glimmer of hope had gone to my head.

"I am afraid you did spoil me, and you know that it is the hardest thing in the world to unspoil and bring back under discipline anyone who has tasted the sweets of having one's own way."

His smile was broader now. His voice more unctuous, and my hope become more sentient.

"I think I shall have to try an experiment with you," he said. "In my experience with women I have almost invariably found that the iron hand with the velvet glove is the only way of keeping them in line, and procuring for me the very best that is in them, whether in acting, in writing, or in anything else."

I could not help the resentful flush at his little diatribe, for there is nothing which fatigues me quite so greatly as the notion that caveman tactics are necessary in the treatment of women, and that other equally fallacious idea that women love to be harshly treated.

MADGE VICTORIOUS

"Wait until I finish before you ruffle your feathers," Mr. Veritzen said, his eyes now dancing with mischief. "I was going to say that once in a blue moon I meet a woman who cannot be treated in that way, who must be given her head on things of which she happens to make a fetich. You are my third blue moon. You evidently are making your fetich of this matter, so I am going to humor you on it. You need not come to New York until you are ready, but when you get there you shall make your own hours. Does that satisfy you, or do you still wish to take your dolls and go home? Or, in other words, threaten me with turning over to somebody else the play I commissioned you to write?"

There was a subtle reproach behind the raillery in his voice and eyes. But I was not concerned. All my faculties were fused into the one triumphant paean.

I had won. I had beaten the great Philip Veritzen at his own game.

But even as I thrilled to the knowledge, the headiest any creative worker, whether of head or hands, can have, that of knowing his work is so valuable that he can dictate his own terms concerning it, there came the anticlimax which so often follows one of life's great moments.

"And now," said Philip Veritzen, "that I have humored you about this play, I want you to humor me a bit about something very important to me."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Boys and girls meet Miss Mary Margaret Lavery, 255 Edmond street, 6-year-old Grand Jester of the Plaza Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. Mary Margaret is a pupil at the Ursuline Academy where she is in the first grade.

Mary Margaret Lavery

Mary Margaret has filed her application for a try-out this Friday night for Warner Brothers "Pittsburgh On Parade," and the youngsters of her club are "betting" she'll walk away with the juvenile honors of the Plaza Theater.

Another of the youngsters who has proven a great favorite with the members of the Junior Komic Club is Evelyn Highs, discovered first by William C. Pearce, of the Harris Theater, and is now appearing at the Enright Theater's regular Komic Club meeting. Evelyn also has filled out her application and she will appear in the juvenile tryout section of "Pittsburgh On Parade" at the Enright.

Here's good news for the boys and girls of the Davis Downtown Chapter of the Junior Komic Club. Tom Mix, who quit the movies for the circus, now has quit the circus for the movies, and his first picture, "Destry Rides Again," will be shown members of the Davis Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club Saturday.

J. A. McDonald, manager of the Davis Theater, expects every seat in this large theater to be filled long before the regular meeting is called to order. So be on time, because you'll enjoy the hard riding and the straight shooting of Tom Mix.

SURPRISE IN STORE

Remember boys of the East End section. William Zeilor, manager of the Enright Chapter of the Junior Komic Club, has a surprise in store for you when you attend the meeting Saturday. We know what it is, but we promised "Bill" that we wouldn't tell, but every boy who attends the regular meeting of the Enright Chapter Saturday will see what it is for himself.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, school you attend, date and year of your birth, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed you. Or, you can join at any of these Warner Theaters: Ambridge, Arsenal, Belmar, Cameraphone, Enright, Etna-Harris, Davis, Grand (Greensburg), Kenyon, Manor, Mt. Oliver-Harris, Memorial (McKeesport), Plaza, Rowland (Wilkinsburg), Schenley, South Hills, State (Washington).

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Congratulations to the following boys and girls, all members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

Belmar—James Haunty, Louis Mulinary.

Davis (downtown)—Ruth Turner, Richard Bielicki, Frank Kingerski.

Manor—Rosella Bass, Ruth Surloff, Evelyn Saltz, May Lenehnor.

Mt. Oliver-Harris—Joe Trainter, Audry Amchein.

Plaza—Elizabeth Desabota, Sylvia Change, Elis Desabota, Joseph Saccane.

Grand (Greensburg)—Robert Stough.

Ambridge—Sophia Marlinga, Edgar Poland.

Professional wrestlers will be engaged to instruct prohibition agents if a plan of training now under consideration is adopted.

News of future raids may read something like this—

"Officer Chiropodist approached the speakeasy, snorting and shouting. He gave the doorknob a vicious slap, then fainted and stood on his head. After dancing around the sidewalk for 21 minutes and 41 seconds, the officer gave an enormous shout, and busted the door with his head. Receiving no answer, he returned to headquarters turning somersaults all the way."

ALSO, THE RUSSIANS

I'd like to be an Englishman
—the English are, you know,
Immune from ever doubting their presumptuous status quo;
They never look ahead, indeed, nor look to left or right,
And thus they never are disturbed, and all is top hole, quite.
An Englishman can never feel embarrassed, for, you see,
Something else than what he is he wouldn't deign to be;
He's pleased with everything he does—with what he eats and drinks,
And most of all he's charmed, intrigued, by all the thoughts he thinks.
And thus the English are quite like the French, the Swedes, the Dutch, Americans and Germans, Lithuanians and such.

He Does Not Appreciate, Perhaps, the Force of the Demand for the $5,000,000,000 Prosperity Loan

As unemployment increases, as the pinch of poverty becomes sharper, as it becomes clear that the plans thus far tried to restore prosperity are ineffective, the demand becomes stronger that the Nation engage in the construction of useful public works, to be financed with a $5,000,000,000 Federal bond issue.

The people of the Pittsburgh District are quite generally "sold" on the project. Among the organizations which have indorsed the plan and asked Congress to adopt it are the following:

The State Federation of Labor.
The State Veterans of Foreign Wars.
The County Veterans of Foreign Wars.
The Builders Exchange of Allegheny County.
The Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women.
The Variety Club.
The Congress of Women's Clubs.
The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association.
The Master Builders' Association of Allegheny County.
The National Association of Sheet Metal Contractors.
The Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association.
The Urban League.
The Women's Club of Wilkinsburg.
The Student Senate of Duquesne University.
The Board of County Commissioners.
The Automobile Dealers' Association.
Greater Pittsburgh Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.
The Electrical Contractors' Association of Pittsburgh.

The prosperity loan plan has also been indorsed by many individuals, among them Gov. Gifford Pinchot, President P. T. Fagan of District No. 5, United Mine Workers; Judge M. A. Musmanno; Dr. Charles G. Northrup, secretary of Labor and Industry; Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, Department of Welfare; Dr. Edward N. Clopper, executive secretary, Federation of Social Agencies; City Councilman M. A. Muldowney; Sidney A. Teller, director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement; Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, district president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, and Mrs. T. M. Stahlman, president of the Congress of Women's Clubs.

Allegheny County's representatives in the House and United States Senator J. J. Davis share the feeling of the people of Pennsylvania that the $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan, to be spent on public works, is "the one way out" of the depression.

United States Senator David A. Reed has as yet shown no enthusiasm for the plan. Perhaps he does not understand the need for Federal relief. Perhaps he fails to appreciate the force of the demand for the prosperity loan plan.

Pennsylvanians should write to Senator Reed and let him know. Write to the Hon. David A. Reed, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Pershing on Prohibition

The General Speaks as One With Authority in Condemning the Dry Law as a Crime Breeder

A word from General Pershing carries great weight.

His position in the life of the nation is unique. He is regarded with universal respect and affection. He speaks rarely and never at length. Since the close of the World War he has been careful to refrain from participation in political or partisan activity of any kind.

Just as in the war he represented the nation's united purpose and composite strength, his occasional utterances since the war seem not the expression of an individual viewpoint, but rather that of a broad and comprehensive national opinion.

In an article in the current issue of the "American Magazine," General Pershing discusses the prevalence of crime and the spread of corruption, which he regards as a grave menace to our well-being and the perpetuity of our institutions.

He stresses the duty which rests upon the individual citizen to make his influence felt on the side of law and order, and to that end he suggests the organization of local committees, vigilantly to supervise the maintenance of the law, bringing support to faithful officials, and discipline or replacement wherever they fail in their duty.

General Pershing admits that he has in mind the vigilance committees of olden times in our frontier communities which, by simple and straightforward measures, preserved respect for law, when violent crime seemed gaining the upper hand.

He does not hesitate to connect the VAIN ATTEMPT TO ENFORCE PROHIBITION WITH THE GREAT GROWTH OF THE BOOTLEGGING BUSINESS.

"I am convinced," says he, "that prohibition has largely financed the new post-war underworld of ours. Vast profits have drawn multitudes into the bootlegging business, and once outside the pale of the law, they do not hesitate to turn to racketeering and other forms of crime. Thus a criminal army has been built up which defies the very government itself."

THESE ARE PREGNANT WORDS, UTTERED BY ONE OF THE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS OF AMERICANS—a man whose love of country cannot be questioned and who has served it with a patriot's zeal.

IT IS THE TRUE VOICE OF AMERICA.

GENERAL PERSHING SPEAKS NOT AS THE SCRIBES AND PHARISEES, BUT AS ONE WITH AUTHORITY.

More Rate Reductions

But the Duquesne Light Company Continues Its Selfish Policy of Exorbitant Charges

The West Penn Power Company has notified the Public Service Commission of new rate reductions. It has reduced its charges for electric service in Center, Clinton, Elk, Potter, McKean and Cameron counties. The cuts, effective June 15, will lower the rates in those counties to approximately the same level that the company has in effect in the Washington, Greensburg and Kittanning districts.

The West Penn Power Company deserves credit for the reductions. It has been cited by Public Service Commissioner George W. Woodruff as the company whose rates compared most favorably with the tariff for household electric service that he recently proposed.

The West Penn's reductions present the Duquesne Light Company's selfish adherence to its exorbitant rates in an unpleasant light.

When will the Duquesne Light Company give the public a square deal?

It Cannot Go On Forever

(Copyright, 1932.)

Under the benign system of government peculiar to the United States the public purse is looted yearly of hundreds of thousands of millions of dollars. The figures are not exaggerated.

Fifteen thousand millions go annually to support the government, Federal, State and local; this means that every business day the United States system costs forty-six million dollars, that every business day every man, woman and child in the country pays ONE HUNDRED TEN DOLLARS for taxes.

The toll of the stock flimflammer is staggering. In New York State alone for one year the losses of the investing public reached the huge total of forty-eight million dollars.

Under Prohibition, Bootlegging and Racketeering have reached new pinnacles in the ranks of Big Business, for which they pay NO taxes, while the depredations of the international bankers reach astounding totals. Nearly ONE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS of foregn bonds now in the hands of American investors are in default.

Waste, graft, extravagance and corruption stalk hand in hand—through the land, and the PUBLIC, AS USUAL, PAYS.

But there is a bottom to every pocket, and that bottom is about to be reached, unless the orgy of waste and extravagance ends.

The President's Plan a Dud; Now Action!

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The President's hastily concocted plan to divert Congress from its intention to vote a prosperity loan to put men to work on needed public improvements has fallen flat outside the administration circles. In his radio address Gov. Smith has fairly reduced it to powder in a keen analysis. Does the President sternly assert that he is against issuing bonds? His former opponent replies that this "does not mean anything," since his own "plan" to increase the capital of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would mean the selling of securities "backed by the credit of the United States government to the people."

Does the President take a stand against doing anything for the relief of the unemployed that does not bring in a revenue in dollars and cents? The answer is that he has made a virtue of the measures for the construction of postoffices and public buildings.

And Smith adds:

"Of course, if the aid to be extended by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is limited to revenue-producing improvements, then all such projects as highway and practically all state and municipal improvements will be excluded. Many of these improvements are truly productive even if they do not produce revenue. It is absurd to measure the productiveness of an improvement by the amount of revenue it brings in directly."

Which is the difference between statesmanship with vision and that which cannot see over the ticker tape.

* * *

A Bit Too Dangerous to Try

The presidential plan to use unemployment as an excuse of extending the scope of loans to private business out of the people's Treasury, is not only ineffective, but dangerous in its possibilities. Smith says what every one who has thought upon the subject has been thinking:

"It will lead to all kinds of logrolling and favoritism, and there are plenty of worth-while public improvements ready to go ahead which should receive federal aid before private business is subsidized."

And he might have added that "logrolling and favoritism" over more than a billion dollars of the people's money during the course of a campaign in which the agency in real charge of the distribution is involved, is a bit too dangerous to try.

* * *

The "Wise and Good" Pounced Upon the Plan

Meanwhile, with the presidential plan a dud, Senator Wagner, who has been fighting for a prosperity loan for public improvements to put men to work, is urging his bond issue of two billions for that purpose. We are convinced that the amount is inadequate, and that an issue of five billion, making possible a great highway improvement program, would be much better.

But the same principle underlies both amounts, and it is a sound principle.

When it was first proposed by Mr. Hearst, more than a year ago, is was pounced upon by the "wise and the good" as impractical and unsound in principle. With the procession of the unemployed lengthening, with its resulting disaster to business, the conservatives of a year ago have come around to it—or, in other words, caught up, or caught on. Now business men as conservative as Owen D. Young propose it, and Baruch favors it, and Wagner, who always moves only after careful study and investigation, has the approval for the plan from many leading economists of the country.

If the Democrats in the Senate measure up to the crisis, which means existence to vast numbers of Americans denied their right to work, they will get behind a prosperity loan, as a party, and meet the President on that issue if it appeals to him.

If the President refuses to cooperate on a loan that will restore a vast army to the purchasing class the American people will conclude that his conception of governmental obligations to humanity does not fit in with the crisis, which is more serious today than it was two months ago.

* * *

Only Way Out of The Vicious Circle

If the President can think only in terms of private business and money made in cash on any plan there is just one way to help private business—and that is to do something to revive trade by restoring purchasing power to the millions whose loss of purchasing power has wrought the ruin. It is sheer nonsense to assume that business can revive until something is done in this direction. If the millions who have lost purchasing power must wait for jobs, on which their lives depend, until there is a revival of business without a program of public works, they will get no jobs.

Business is not reviving because these millions have no money with which to buy.

They have no money because they have no jobs.

They cannot get jobs from private industry so long as they have no purchasing power.

And this means that some such extraordinary measure as a prosperity loan to give them jobs on public works is the only way out of the vicious circle.

When through such a loan and such public works, they get jobs, and have money with which to buy the comforts and necessities of which they are now deprived, there will be a revival of business for the merchants; and the increase in the merchants' business will make demands on the factories and the increased demand on the factories will create more jobs in private business.

There is no better way for government to co-operate with business than for government just now to do what private business cannot possibly do—put an army of jobless men to work.

* * *

Congress Must Act

In the case of war, we do all sorts of extraordinary things—because necessity exacts them; and yet America has never known a war in which our institutions have been so deeply involved as in this greatest of all wars against human misery and business collapse.

And something must be done before this session of Congress is adjourned. With more than 8,000,000 out of jobs, with from 30 to 40 millions consequently in distress, the representatives of the people dare not leave their posts and ignore their obligation to the nation and humanity, no matter how long they have to stay in session to do their work.

If Congress adjourns without taking any steps for the relief of the distressed millions it will be a scandalous performance. It will be no excuse to satisfy men growing more and more desperate because denied their inalienable right to work, to say that the exigencies of politics required that Congress adjourn before the conventions; or that the call of the campaign was more persuasive than the call of humanity.

If nothing is done this spring or summer, nothing can or will be done for the unemployed next winter—and we dare not enter a fourth consecutive winter of human misery with nothing done or even attempted.

And if anything is done at all, it will be done on the initiative of Congress and not of the President, who seems unable to understand the ominous nature of the crisis.

Matrimonial Kill-Joys

Most marital love does not die suddenly. It is just slowly bored to death!

* * *

There are some happy marriages and more unhappy ones; but most marriages are merely UNCOMFORTABLE.

* * *

The matrimonial problem would be far easier to solve, if the world were made up of saints and sinners, instead of just half-sinners—killjoys, human headaches, domestic reformers, hearthside critics and gadflies.

* * *

It is easy to decide what to do with a husband or wife who is guilty of some big besetting sin—hard drinking, unfaithfulness, cruelty, wife-beating or husband-shooting. Sins that are against the law and the Ten Commandments are things that you don't feel morally or legally bound to put up with.

But what CAN you do with the perfectly virtuous half-sinner who just succeeds in making life one long, drab, irritating bore—one long endurance test, like the dull ache in a grumbling tooth or a bad ear?

* * *

The man who acts as though home were a deaf and dumb asylum, and never opens his mouth except to ask when dinner will be ready or to say, "Pass the muffins."

* * *

The woman who appoints herself an investigating committee of one, digs out her husband's most sacred secrets, probes his tenderest feelings and never permits him a private thought or opinion. The human questionnaire.

* * *

The gentleman detective, who snoops in the icebox, keeps tab on the number of eggs the cook uses, and wants to know what became of last night's left-over potatoes.

The lady sleuth, who reads her husband's letters, sniffs his breath and regards a pink peppermint lozenge in his pocket as an evidence of crime.

* * *

The human fire alarm, who keeps his wife on the jump from the moment the alarm clock goes off until the last radio goes to sleep.

* * *

The sartorial judge, who insists on selecting his wife's hats, censoring her evening gowns and limiting her lip-rouge.

* * *

The domestic wit, who turns everything his wife says or does into a "joke;" and the "prompter" who always interrupts her husband's best stories with "But, it doesn't go that way, dear."

* * *

The prowler who patters around the house all night; the sleepy-head who yawns through all her evenings; the bathroom hog, the "I-told-you-so" wife; the talking machine; the reformer and the critic!

* * *

These are the half-sinners who turn marriage from a life-partnership into a life-sentence!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 25.—Manhattan's indifference to the past was distressingly illustrated by the removal of the famous gilt Diana, poised so daringly above the old Madison Square Garden, to a public park in Philadelphia. Not a voice was heard in protest.

Diana, shedding the naked mystic twinkle of the sun, was as much a symbol of metropolitan consciousness as Times Square. It developed that since the Garden moved uptown the graceful goddess had been in storage in a musty, forgotten warehouse along the water front.

To many real and transplanted New Yorkers, Diana represented a cycle of the city's culture. She saw Peacock Alley flourish and wither, was glorified by the gifted story-teller, O. Henry, stood in tip-toed expectancy as a hundred heroes passed in parade, etc., etc.

Diano looked down that fateful summer night when the wild-eyed Harry K. Thaw, with impassioned horror, pistoled the world-famous architect, Stanford White, into a crumpled heap, amid popping champaigne corks and a list of the town's distinguished first-nighters.

She knew New York when life was not the complex thing of today, in the days of "the carriage and a pair"—before communists came with terrible eloquence to sneer at the flag. For 40 brilliant years she stood in the wind and the rain to review the millions of upturned heads.

At night, silhouetted in the soft hush, she inspired many newcomers to an intoxicating hope. For Diana is a legendary huntress associated with the moon. Even derelicts, sprawling on park benches, looked upon her as the last link with slipping ideals.

She was especially appealing to hand-holding honeymooners who drifted by in the ecstasy of love. Diana's bow seemed always tightened to fling a dart of happiness to all. Forgotten Diana! A great little lady who might have been given a hand as big as that for a Tex Guinan gal.

* * *

Another splendorous edifice in early New York days was the Flatiron, suggesting the dull gray prow of an enormous liner plowing up Broadway. In that period it hived many out-of-town newspaper correspondents, including Herbert Corey, who wrote more engagingly about the city's charms and personalities than any of his successors, save perhaps Lucius Beebe.

* * *

They were discussing pleasant exits from the highly publicized vale of tears. Until I can think up a better way I would prefer to doll up in a drum major's uniform and while two bands alternated with Vincent Youmans's "I Love a Parade" and Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band," just march myself to death.

* * *

I should also like to aid Melville Gillett in his unceasing warfare against menus listing cole-slaw instead of cold-slaw, which he stoutly maintains is correct. I prefer cold-slaw but three of my dictionaries list it as cole. Whatever the name, I could go for a hatful in the cool of this very young evening.

* * *

There is a study of unattained yearning in the voice culture the beloved minstrel, Eddie Leonard, provided for his 23-year-old son, Eddie, Jr. The elder Leonard carries on in black-face, singing the waw-waw tunes that made him famous. But his boy is now of concert caliber, a lyric tenor, having studied in the finest conservatories in the world, warbling in German, English, French, Yiddish, Russian and Italian.

* * *

All things once "gorgeous" with the New York flapper are now "terrific." And Benny Rubin greets audiences as "My nice stylish pipple."

* * *

I dropped into one of those salons moderne along as asphaltine reach of Madison avenue this afternoon to inspect a silvered epergne on view in the window. Waving my hand in general direction of the window I inquired: "How much is that?" Lifting it up, he replied: "You mean this aye-purn?"—which was all I wanted to know. All my life I've been pronouncing it: "Ee-purnay."

* * *

Indeed there are few more gifted mispronouncers. I got off to an early start in grammar school days when at the class exercises I thinly piped of something being "a-prope-ose." It was my version of apropos, the squeak of lingual importance.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Pride! You're doubtful about that word. You're not sure that pride is a good thing. You've been warned against it. You distrust it when you meet it.

But that's wrong; for pride is both natural and necessary.

Every living creature needs to think well of itself; needs to reach out and assert itself, and find its place in the sun. It wouldn't grow if it didn't.

Pride is just the voice of Life, telling of its hunger, boasting of its power, crying out for more room.

All good and brave and beautiful work is based on price—based on some humans' faith in himself and desire to do a good job for himself. We would have had no civilization if men had not been proud of themselves.

PRIDE LIES BACK OF EVERY BAD DEED, AS WELL AS GOOD DEED. EVERY FORM OF CUSSEDNESS AND CRIME IS BASED ON PRIDE.

That statement startles you, doesn't it? You don't believe it. But think about it.

Think of the murderer. He was not born a murderer. He was born just as you were born, with the same natural desire for a happy, healthy life. There was no vicious cruelty in his heart. He wanted to love people. He wanted people to love him. He wanted people to admire him. He wanted to get ahead in life, to win love, admiration, wealth and power.

And then something got in his way. Something seemed to loom before him and bar his way to happiness. You've had the same thing happen to you. You've known the same sick rage—the same desire to batter obstacles down.

But his desire drove him into a frenzy which you haven't known—and he killed. He didn't kill to destroy life. He killed to assert and protect his pride.

It is so with the murderer, and so with the thief, the forger, the gambler, the gangster. Every crime is based on pride.

We see criminals as deliberate and dangerous brutes, but the criminal sees himself as a man fighting for his rights—protecting his own pride and position.

That fact shouldn't make us softy with criminals, but it should make us wise about them; for we'll never be able to prevent crime, or protect ourselves against it, until we understand why the criminal gets that way.

Nor is crime the only outlet for sick pride. There are other forms of expression not quite as lawless but equally pesty.

The Gloom and the Grouch—
The Bigot and the Nut—
The Supersensitive Soul—
The Family Martyr—
The Jealous Guy or Girlie—
The Cry Baby and the Spit Fire—

They're all suffering from thwarted pride. They all have a normal desire to get ahead, and they all feel that they're not getting the breaks. Sometimes their peevishness is the moan of a hurt soul, and sometimes it's a racket to get attention; but always there is a sick pride behind it.

Try to remember that, as you meet your fellow man. It will change life amazingly if you can. It will clear up countless mysteries, take the sting out of countless irritations. It will help you understand the queerest and most vicious people. It may even help you to understand some of your own shenannigans!!!!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Why do so many dentists try to carry a conversation with the patient in the chair while operating on him?

This question will be not generally answered truthfully, by the profession.

Possibly they work on the theory that by keeping up a flow of talk there won't be so much chance to concentrate on the pain.

This psychology may be worth something but not to the degree which is believed by some dentists.

Most persons visiting a dentist wish to have the work done as quickly as possible.

Having nerved themselves for the ordeal, they resent the time spent in chatter.

It is difficult to believe that the one doing the work can do really good work and keep up an incessant patter of talk.

Such a thought is disturbing and makes the patient feel uncertain about the success of the treatment and work done.

Dentists are paid well for their time and should give all their attention to doing a good job.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Outer Ledge

The end is here, the outer ledge of rock,
The final bulwark raised against the sea;
And there the giant waves with mighty shock
Dash roaring up; fall, shattered utterly.
We see it spring, the hungry element
That like a lion leaps upon its prey
And then draws crouching back, its forces spent;
Sore-wounded, broken, snarling, slinks away.

Small pools lie green in every hollowed place
And down the cliff the foaming torrent falls;
Unto the calling sea the waters race
Along the ledge's ever-streaming walls.
This is the end. The land's last outpost stands
And mocks awhile at ocean's clutching hands.
